PRESIDENT SUGGESTS PANAMA CANAL COURT

Would Provide Appeal for Foreign Ship Owners Aggrieved by No-Toll Ruling.

ASKS CONGRESS TO AID HIM

Hopes to Preserve Hay-Pauncefote Treaty—House Frowns Upon Recommendation—Text of Message.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—In a formal message to Congress, President Taft this afternoon asked that a joint resolution be passed fixing the meaning of the Panama Canal bill so as to settle the international questions at issue.

The President's suggestion, as set forth in these dispatches last night, is that the resolution provides for an appeal to American courts by foreign shipowners who feel aggrieved at the discrimination against them in the matter of tolls in favor of American ships passing through the canal.

The President reiterated his belief in the right of this country under the treaty to make this discrimination. But the informal protest of Great Britain and the argument of distinguished members of the House and Senate have convinced him that the question was still open to doubt. The preservation of out international relations, he said, was peculiarly the duty of the Executive, and that was his chief reason for asking the amendment.

The President spent much time considering the matter both yesterday and today. Every Cabinet officer in the city has been in consultation with him, and the British Chargé d'Affaires, A. Mitchell Innes, has directly communicated with him. It is believed that it was on the advice of his Cabinet officers that Mr. Taft did not refer in his message to the Root-Bourne amendment prohibiting passage through the canal to railroad-owned ships. Great Britain objects to that section also. But the President felt that it was hopeless to expect Congress to meet that objection, and at the same time the political effect to his own fortunes in the coming campaign would be disastrous should he seem to champion the cause of the railroads.

Delay May Be Only Result.

The one recommendation the President did make in regard to the tolls was not favorably received at either end of the Capitol. In the House, particularly, the talk to-night is that if the President really intends to veto the bill unless the resolution is adopted, the whole subject will go over without any provision until the next session. This is simply a return to the plan considered many weeks ago in the Senate, and it really seems to be the easiest way out of the trouble. In both chambers the message was referred to the committees in charge of the bill, and on the House side the talk was that the message would stay there indefinitely without action. The President in his message did not directly threaten the veto, and there is still considerable expectation that in the end he will sign it, whether he gets his resolution or not.

From an international point of view the President's suggestion has already encountered considerable criticism. It is considered an admission of the weakness of American faith without providing any remedy for it. The President's message, it is pointed out, concedes beyond all question the treaty rights involved and allows countries to sue for damages under the treaty. But instead of having those rights settled once and for all by The Hague tribunal, recourse is suggested only to an American district court, with appeal either by the alien or by this Government to the Supreme Court of the United States.

Under this suggestion the American courts would undoubtedly have to construe our treaty with Great Britain. But our arbitration treaty with that nation provides for the adjudication of the treaties by an international tribunal. The President's suggestions re-enacts the Hay-Pauncefote treaty and specifically declares its provisions still in force. How its terms can be definitely settled without appeal to an international court does not appear. The message is as follows:

> That nothing contained in the act entitled "An act to provide for the opening, maintenance, protection, and operation of the Panama Canal and the sanitation and government of the canal zone" shall be deemed to repeal any provision of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, or to affect the judicial construction thereof, or in any wise to impair any rights or privileges which have been or may be acquired by any foreign nation under the treaties of the United States relative to tolls or other charges for the passage of vessels through the Panama Canal, and that when any alien, whether natural person, partnership company, or corporation, considers that the charging of tolls or the enforcement of any other regulation under and pursuant to the provisions of this act violates in any way any such treaty rights or priviliges, such alien shall have the right to bring an action against the United States for a redress of the injury which he considers himself to have suffered, and the district courts of the United States are hereby given jurisdiction to hear and determine such cases and to decree the appropriate relief, and from the decision of such district courts there shall be an appeal by either party to the action of the Supreme Court of the United States.

Chance for Redress to All.

This language negatives absolutely any desire on the part of Congress to repeal the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, or to violate its provisions by this legislation, and leaves open to any person who deems himself aggrieved by the provisions of the act an opportunity to appeal to our courts.

I think the importance of our standing before the world as anxious to give to the world an opportunity to test this question in the courts is an earnest of our good faith in attempting to keep within our treaty obligations.

After full examination of the treaty and of the treaty which preceded it, I feel confident that the exemption of the coastwise vessels of the United States from tolls and the imposition of tolls on vessels of all nations engaged in the foreign trade is not a violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. But distinguished lawyers in the House and Senate differ from this construction, and the Secretary of State has received an informal protest from the British Government that the contemplated legislation is a violation of her treaty rights.

I am sure that it is not the intention of Congress to violate the Hay-Pauncefote treaty or to enact anything inconsistent with its provisions, and that it certainly is not its purpose to repeal by subsequent enactment the treaty, in so far as it represents the law of the land. It is of the highest importance, however, that this attitude should be made clearly known to the nations of the world, and that we should avoid any apparent justification for criticism.

The message, after being read in the House, was referred to the Inter-State Commerce Committee on motion of Democratic Leader Underwood. That committee has adjourned for the session, and Chairman Underwood sought to have the bill left on the Speaker's table, but the House immediately voted otherwise.

"It's gone to bed so far as the House is concerned," was Mr. Adamson's remark. He added that he had not been able

FOR $15,000,000 BATTLESHIP.

Senate Agrees to Naval-Conference Report—Waits House Approval.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The naval conference report, which was agreed to to-day by the Senate, but awaits approval by the House, compromised on one battleship "carrying as heavy armor and as powerful armament as any vessel of its class, to have the highest practical speed and great radius of action" and to cost $7,425,000, exclusive of armor and armament. This is $1,425,000 more than the limit of cost imposed on the battleships Oklahoma and Nevada, authorized last Spring. The proposed battleships, when completed, will cost $15,000,000, as compared with $12,000,000 each for the two authorized in the last Republican Congress.

The naval programme authorized by the conference agreement, in addition to the battleship, is as follows:

Two fuel ships, costing $1,140,000 each, exclusive of armor and armament.

Six torpedo boat destroyers, costing $940,000 each, exclusive of armor and armament.

One tender for destroyers, costing $1,315,000, exclusive of guns and armor.

Eight submarines, to cost in the aggregate $4,480,000.

One submarine tender, to cost $1,000,000.

The aggregate cost of this naval increase will be $22,140,000, exclusive of guns and armor, as compared with a naval increase programme last year valued at $24,245,000.

SAVES TWO GIRL BATHERS.

Both Were Drowning When Ross Brown Swam to Their Rescue.

HASTINGS-ON-HUDSON, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Ross Brown, the seventeen-year-old son of Henry C. Brown, an author, was repairing a yacht this afternoon in the clubhouse of the Tower Ridge Yacht Club, which his father founded, when he heard the screams of girls coming in off the waters of the Hudson. Without waiting to strip, the boy dived in and was soon moving straight for two bathers who had gone beyond their depth. The bathers were Emma Hoyt, daughter of Henry Hoyt, a local hardware merchant, and Lillie Delancy, whose father, Charles C. Delancy, is a buyer for the National Conduit and Cable Company.

Miss Hoyt had gone down twice when Brown reached her, but he swam with her to the club float and then he turned back and held the other girl above water till help came with a boat from shore.

This was the third life he had saved from drowning within a week. Last Tuesday Brown was one of five who were tumbled into the Hudson from a tipping yacht, and knowing that his friend, William Chambers, could not swim, he held him above water till the craft was righted and both could be taken on board.

WEDS AT 80; ENGAGED IN 1885

John McCrellis Marries Mrs. Jane Davis, His Fiancee 27 Years Ago.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Aug. 19.—After a courtship that began twenty-seven years ago there was solemnized yesterday the marriage of John McCrellis, a local blacksmith, and Mrs. Jane Davis of 25 Grand Street, Rahway.

Far back in 1885 she plighted her troth to him, and he slipped a diamond ring upon her finger. Although she subsequently married Charles Davis and lived with him until he died, she still kept the old ring. And so it happened that when she and McCrellis met once more, they spoke together for a while, and came to such an understanding that the ring was taken out of her little treasure-drawer and once more he slipped it on her finger.

This second time the courtship was undisturbed, and when yesterday came around, although he had reached the venerable age of 80, they stood up and were married in the Davis home, in Rahway, by the Rev. Mr. Elliott of the Rahway Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Mary Frank of Rahway was matron of honor, and the bridegroom's brother, Street Commissioner Cornelius McCrellis of this city, was best man.

McCrellis came to this city in 1849, and for many years he and his brother have run a prosperous blacksmith's shop.

STOLE NAHAN FRANKO'S PINS.

Negro Porter Sentenced to 18 Months for $1,125 Robbery.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 19.—Nahan Franko, leader of the orchestra at the Hotel Plaza, New York, who came to Boston this morning to direct the orchestra at the opening of the Copley Plaza Hotel, lost two stickpins worth $1,125, which were stolen from him during his trip from New York.

Upon discovering the loss he notified the management of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad and detectives found the stickpins in the icebox of the buffet car.

Charles P. Harris, 47, a negro porter in charge of the car, was arrested. He was arraigned and sentenced to eighteen months in the Charles Street Jail.

Kansas Republicans Choose Electors by Overwhelming Plurality.

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 19.—Roosevelt Presidential Electors were chosen by the Republicans in the recent primary in Kansas by a plurality of 34,000 over the Taft Electors, according to official figures given out by the Secretary of State today.

Although Gov. W. R. Stubbs won the Republican nomination for United States Senator, Charles Curtis, the present Senator received a popular majority of 1,216 over him. The nomination is decided by legislative districts, and while the district count has not been officially compiled, the Curtis forces concede Stubbs's nomination.

Hugh Farrelly of Chanute, Democrat, for United States Senator, has a popular majority of 1,690 over W. H. Thompson, his nearest competitor, but Thompson has the Democratic nomination with several legislative districts to spare.

The following are the Congressional nominees of both parties:

WICKERSHAM COMES UNDER THE BIG STICK

Penrose Also — Side-Swat at Stanley, Who Absurdly Planned to Control Trusts.

PENROSE IN ANANIAS CLUB

Colonel Didn't Seek Standard Oil Money in 1904—Didn't Know Penrose Got It, Even Against Orders.

Special to The New York Times.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Col. Roosevelt turned his guns on Attorney General Wickersham and Senator Boise Penrose of Pennsylvania to-day. Replying to statements they made in the newspapers he intimated that both had stretched the truth.

Col. Roosevelt visited his displeasure on Mr. Wickersham because the Attorney General said that the Colonel had concluded only four important cases against big corporations during his terms in office and had approved of the methods now employed under the provisions of the anti-trust law in prosecuting the Northern Securities case. Mr. Wickersham knew in making the statement, Roosevelt declared, that there was no comparison between the Northern Securities case and the Standard Oil and Tobacco Trust prosecutions. In the latter cases the Sherman law, Roosevelt said, proved a make-believe strangle. There could be no more absurd method devised, Roosevelt said, excepting the method approved by the Stanley committee. Then he added:

"Mr. Wickersham and Mr. Stanley can now hold a debate with one another to decide which prefers the comparison."

Here is his reply to Wickersham:

"The more suits against trusts that are brought to a conclusion the way Mr. Wickersham brought to a conclusion the Standard Oil and Tobacco Trust cases the better it will be for the trusts. If Mr. Wickersham will conduct to a similar conclusion a few more suits of the same kind he will confer benefits upon the trusts such as all of them put together cannot confer on themselves. The worst blow the anti-trust law has ever received has been given by the decisions rendered under Mr. Wickersham's guidance in the closing action taken against the Standard Oil and Tobacco Trusts, and any man who defends those decisions, or who, having those decisions in view, justifies the present position in connection with the trusts or thinks it satisfactory, is not warranted in receiving any further attention from any man who is sincerely desirous of solving the trust problem.

Credits Wickersham With Nothing.

"In the Northern Securities case we broke up the railroad combination. It has no parallel of any kind or sort to these cases, and Mr. Wickersham knew that perfectly. Moreover, in my messages to Congress and in my speeches immediately after we got the decision in the Northern Securities case I pointed out that even in that case, (although we actually accomplished a great deal, whereas in the Tobacco Trust and Standard Oil cases Mr. Wickersham accomplished considerably less than nothing,) the result showed that the Anti-Trust law by itself was wholly incapable of giving adequate solution of the difficulty, and that the problem of controlling the great corporations can only be met by strengthening the Inter-State Commerce Law and by providing for the same kind of Administrative control over the great industrial concerns engaged in inter-State business as the Inter-State Commerce Commission exercises over the railways. Far-seeing men who really desire to accomplish results then saw that this position was correct, and it is this position that has been taken in the Progressive National platform.

"This policy, which received its highest expression in the final action taken with Mr. Wickersham's approval in the Tobacco and Oil Trust cases, is one of make-believe strangle, and is preposterous from every standpoint. It benefits the big, crooked business concerns, it keeps honest business men puzzled and anxious, and shows the utter futility of attempting to settle this problem by a mere succession of lawsuits.

"There could probably be no more absurd method devised excepting the method recommended by the Stanley Committee. In their essence the Wickersham-Stanley methods are alike, and adequately represent the effort to apply the machine Republican and machine Democratic platforms on this subjct, and prove beyond possibility of contradiction that neither of the old parties offers the slightest hope of so much as a serious attempt to settle the trust problem.

"To carry out either of their policies in this matter means merely harm to the average citizen, whether wageworker, consumer, or small rival, and benefit to the great combinations against which it is pretended that the policies are aimed."

Didn't Know of Oil Trust Money.

What Senator Penrose said about paying over to the National Republican Committee to be used for Roosevelt in the 1904 campaign in New York most of the $25,000 that Penrose had received from John D. Archbold of Standard Oil somewhat exercised Col. Roosevelt to-day. He dictated a statement in reply, in which he said he knew nothing about such a contribution to his campaign, but, on the contrary, he had expressly stipulated that nothing should be received from Standard Oil. He confesses that the corporations contributed to his campaign, just as they had contributed to Parker's campaign and McKinley's and Cleveland's. He denies that his denial of Judge Parker's charge of 1904 that the trusts were contributing heavily to the Roosevelt campaign was a denial of that fact, the point being, he contends, that Judge Parker implied that the contributions were being made through some understanding with Roosevelt. This is the charge, he says, that was covered by his denial at the time. This is the Colonel's statement:

"As regards Senator Penrose's statement I have only to say that I have not and never have had the slightest knowledge whether he or any one else during the campaign of 1904 raised any money to be used in carrying the State of New York.

"But as a matter of fact it happens that in the campaign of 1904 I wrote to Mr. Cortelyou stating that I wished no money received from the Standard Oil Company.

"If any money was received from the Standard Oil Company it was not only without my knowledge but in spite of my written prohibition. As for the funds used or raised in Pennsylvania I have no more knowledge of them than of the funds used or raised in Ohio or Illinois. In 1904 Senator Penrose was not the Pennsylvania leader, and, as far as I know, he was supporting me simply as all other Republican Senators—Senators from New York, Ohio, Illinois, Massachusetts, and California—were likewise supporting me."

Col. Roosevelt took up a statement charging that he had flown into a rage in 1904 when Judge Parker had declared [illegible] the Republican National Committee was receiving large contributions from the trusts. He answered:

This, He Says, Not the Charge at All.

"Mr. Parker's charge was not that contributions had been made to the Republican campaign fund by the trusts, for it was openly and repeatedly an-

AMERICAN POACHER SLAIN IN AFRICA

James W. Rogers, Rich Elephant Hunter and Illicit Ivory Dealer, Killed by British Troops.

WAS A KING TO THE NATIVES

Dramatic Death After Expedition Cornered Him Related by Officer Who Ran Him Down.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—Hunted down by British soldiers in the depths of the jungles of Central Africa, where for years, in defiance of all authority, he had pursued the career of an elephant poacher and illicit ivory trader, James Ward Rogers, an American, is dead. He was shot down by a little force of troops which had been sent into the wilderness in pursuit of him, with orders not to return without the outlaw, dead or alive.

News of Rogers's death came officially to-day to the Colonial Office from Capt. C. V. Fox, Inspector of Mongalla Province, who commanded the expedition. Although told in an official report, the story is one of the most dramatic in Colonial annals.

For years Rogers had carried on his lawless trade, and popular opinion credited him with having netted a fortune. The remote regions along the Lado Enclave and Congo boundaries were the scenes of his operations. Time after time British officials of the Soudan had tried in vain to trap him. It was this defiance of years which determined the Government to crush the old man.

Capt. Fox's report shows that in his long operations Rogers had done even more than had been dreamed of by the Colonial Office. He had established an organized administration over the wild, trackless country, and among the natives was a virtual, if uncrowned, king.

The success of the outlaw in handling his "subjects" and in the pursuit of his trade drew from Capt. Fox in his report the tribute that Rogers's work was worthy of a better cause.

Not since Stanley pierced the jungles in 1871 and found Dr. Livingstone has such a tale of hardship, trials, and dangers come out of Africa. Capt. Fox's report in this respect resembles most nearly, perhaps, the tale of Gen. Funston's dogged pursuit of Aguinaldo in the Philippines.

For the purpose of tracking the outlaw, the English commander had the aid of a non-commissioned subordinate and six Sudanese soldiers. Carriers and mules for the transportation of supplies were part of his equipment. His instructions were plain—not to return until the outlaw was captured.

With a soldier's disregard for red tape, Capt. Fox in his report fails to mention dates in describing the man hunt. Apparently the denouement of the jungle drama came three months ago.

The pursuers then had spent weeks in plunging through a jungle that almost defied passage, Rogers cunningly leading them through the densest of swamps and forests and across deep streams. Before the outlaw was overtaken he had crossed the Nile into the Belgian Congo.

Creeping up the Uganda bank of the Nile, the expedition pushed forward for six weeks before the quarry was located. Capt. Fox and his men then had worn their clothes to tatters, and their supplies were exhausted, leaving them facing starvation in the wilderness.

The last twelve hours of the pursuit were particularly trying. The chase led over a mountain, with Rogers's men only a short distance in advance. As they fled the ape-like natives of the outlaw sent back taunts and jeers at their pursuers.

Dramatic in the extreme is Capt. Fox's description of the death of Rogers. In the jungle into which they had descended from the mountain his party came suddenly upon a camp. A native approached the English officer and said:

"The commander wants you to come in. He is sick and cannot come out."

Entering the hut, Capt. Fox found himself in a room dimly lighted by a candle. A white man was lying on a couch, and beside him sat a companion, also white. For a time there was dead silence, Capt. Fox believing that he had been led into a trap. Then he asked:

"Which is Mr. Rogers?"

"Mr. Rogers has been shot," replied the outlaw's companion.

"Yes," interrupted Rogers, "and by your men."

"Come, stand right here so I can look at you," Rogers continued. His eyes were blazing, and from beneath a blanket he drew a revolver and pointed it at the officer.

"I am a dying man, I guess," he said. "I didn't think they could kill Old Rogers, but they got him this time. Still, you are in Belgian territory, and you stand more chance for arrest than I do."

Fearing that the revolver which menaced him might be discharged at any moment, Capt. Fox argued with the outlaw in order to gain time. Finally the outlaw turned to his companion, whom he addressed as "Doctor," and said:

"I want you to witness what I say, Doctor. Capt. Fox, I am a dying man, so I would not lie about anything. This was my show and all my work. I am afraid I have brought you into trouble, Doctor.

"Well, I had my good times as well as bad. I can't stand religious people. If you have religions, just live up to them."

A noise in his throat interrupted the old man's words.

"Say, did you hear that?" he exclaimed. "That's the death rattle. I've heard that too many times to make any mistake."

This prediction proved correct, for these were his last words.

Throughout his talk with Capt. Fox Rogers shielded his white companion and did not reveal his identity. Capt. Fox's report also is singularly silent on this point, as he says he did not know the doctor. It is thought likely, however, that this was done to protect the man.

OAKLAND, Cal., Aug. 19.—Mrs. W. H. Rardon of this city was formerly the wife of James Ward Rogers. She has been apprised of his death from London and will receive several articles of souvenir value found among his effects.

Rogers was at different times a resident of various cities in California, and was known as a soldier of fortune. He joined in the rush to the Klondike in the late nineties, and after returning from the North he disappeared.

After waiting for years for news of her husband, Mrs. Rogers, believing him dead, married W. H. Rardon.

FOSDICK TOLD MAYOR OF BAD MEAT TRAFFIC

CITY INSPECTORS VERY LAX

One Admitted Knowing Nothing of Diseases of Cattle—But Little Meat Condemned.

Further evidence to support the facts of the sale of spoiled and diseased meat by the half dozen slaughter houses in Brooklyn which are under city inspection was found yesterday in a report to Mayor Gaynor from Commissioner of Accounts Fosdick. This report has never been made public. It covered inspections of ten days in January, 1911, and was made under the direction of an expert loaned to the Commissioner of Accounts by the Bureau of Animal Industry of the Department of Agriculture at Washington. The reason that the findings of these investigators were never given out by Mr. Fosdick was that the report contained the names and addresses of retail butchers and grocers in whose shops unfit meat and fish had been found, and it was the opinion of Mr. Fosdick that as in some cases there might have been plausible excuse for the presence of the bad food in the shops, it might work harm to some dealers who did not deserve the severe condemnation.

What the investigators found in 1911 is parallel with what THE TIMES found a few days ago. After the report had been sent to the Mayor, Mr. Fosdick had a conference with the Health Department, in which the former agreed to make certain changes, and no formal charges were brought against the department. At that time the investigation into the "rots and spots" scandal was uppermost, and this led to the resignation of Bayard C. Fuller, Chief of the Division of Food Inspection in the Health Department, and a shifting of a number of Inspectors. Mr. Fosdick has not made any inquiry into food inspection since January, 1911, nor has his attention been called to any serious lack of inspection since the shake-up. His comment on the conditions as revealed by THE TIMES was that, judging from the conditions discovered in the past, a slackness in inspections was wholely probable.

Charges of graft in connection with the Brooklyn slaughter house inspection were brought before him, Mr. Fosdick said, about the time of the bakery scandal in 1910. These charges came from a small organization in Brooklyn, but they could not offer any practical evidence of wrongdoing, and the Commissioner himself never found a clearly marked trail. Suspicions have not been absent from the Commissioner of Accounts' office, however.

What the Inspectors Found.

This is what Commissioner Fosdick reported to the Mayor concerning one of the largest of the city-inspected slaughter houses on Jan. 31, 1911:

> The Inspectors found hanging in the cooler two dressed cow carcasses which had been passed as wholesome, but which, because of the fact that the costal plura had been stripped from the forequarter and tubercular lesions were observed around the borders of the split areas, must have come from cattle in an advanced stage of tuberculosis. An expert in diseases of cattle assisted the three or four mentioned Inspectors in this particular examination and gave it as his opinion that a close inspection would probably disclose more cases of the same kind in the above establishment.
>
> This is one of the five or six slaughter houses in Brooklyn which do not have Federal inspection, due to the fact that the meat does not enter into Inter-State trade. On Johnson Avenue, Brooklyn, are four of these city inspected slaughter houses, which are looked after by one Health Department Inspector. The absence of Federal Inspectors and the apparent laxity of city inspections bring to these slaughter houses a class of cattle that cannot be profitably handled through Federal inspected abattoirs.
>
> Health Department Inspector Frederick Bohnet, who had the assignment covering these houses for the greater part of two years, testified as follows: That he had no special qualification for the work except such as he had gained as a retail butcher some years ago; that he had never studied diseases of cattle, and could not tell a cancer when he saw it; that he never inspected the cattle before killing, and could not have told a diseased one if he had; that sores, tumors, &c., were merely cut out and the rest of the carcass passed; that no methods were used by him which would prevent an unscrupulous dealer from even disposing of the condemned portions for food purposes.
>
> These conditions have been generally confirmed by the observations of our own Inspectors, who have spent some days in watching the work of the Health Department Inspectors in the above slaughter houses.
>
> The whole work of the Board of Health Food Inspectors appears to indicate a lack of inspection at centres of supply.

They Cared More for Good Records.

The report further declares that a study of methods of the food inspectors showed that they paid more attention to making out a good record than to efficient inspection. It is shown that in 1908 the city inspectors took credit for 3,458,827 pounds of condemned meat, whereas about 2,000,000 pounds were actually condemned by Federal Inspectors in the houses which the city Inspectors visited for sanitary inspections of the rooms and not for inspection of the meats. This practice has now been stopped, and the city Inspectors enter only the meat they themselves condemn. For 1911 this was a little more than 343,000 pounds. The meat prepared for the market in that year the Department of Health has estimated at more than 21,000,000 pounds, making a very low record for condemnations (about 1½ per cent.) and the smallest net weight condemned for many years. This shows that out of every 100 pounds of meat that these slaughter houses prepare one and a half pounds were seized by the city, or that out of every 200 cows that came there from up-State farmers who sold off to them the very worst of their herds, three were marked unfit for the food of this city.

THE TIMES has shown that the diseased, broken, worn-out cows of this State come here through the Jersey City commission yards, which have neither State nor Federal Inspectors. It has shown that the up-State farmers openly sell their cows at a price a little above what the State would pay them if they were killed as diseased. It has shown that these cows are bought by the city-inspected houses in Brooklyn. The Health Department shows that it is condemning a pound and a half of every 100 pounds of this meat when it is dressed. Now Commissioner Fosdick shows that when he made his inspection a year and a half ago, conditions were proved extremely bad by a Government expert. Dr. Bensel, Sanitary Superintendent, replies that the city has not enough inspectors, and that he is doing all he can with his present force, but as far as can be learned nothing has been done to put a firm and effective check on the traffic in bad meat.

WHITNEY'S COSTLY SHOOTING

New Yorker Again Pays $75,000 for Rent of Moors for Few Days' Sport.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—Harry Payne Whitney, who this year has again leased the Holwick grouse moors from the Earl of Strathmore, left London to-day for the shooting with the friends whom he brought from America on board the liner La France.

Despite the fact that Mr. Whitney annually pays about $75,000 for the Holwick shooting, and this year has engaged over 100 beaters, his sport will be restricted to a few days' shooting, as he has planned to attend various race meetings.

The present intention of the party is to leave Liverpool for New York next Saturday week.

ROCKEFELLER FIGHTS FLIES.

Gives $250 to Cleveland "Swat" Fund Started by Health Office.

Special to The New York Times.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 19.—"Swat the fly; I'll send the $250," was the letter John D. Rockefeller sent to Dr. C. E. Ford of the Health Office, in charge of the fly campaign. Some time ago Mr. Rockefeller said that if the fly campaigners would collect $1,750 he would raise the sum to $2,000. To-day the necessary total was reached, and H. D. Sims, Mr. Rockefeller's secretary, was notified. The letter was the result.

Early in the campaign against the fly Mr. Rockefeller evinced an interest unusual for him. He seems more interested in killing the flies than in the movement in Cleveland to cut down infant mortality. A check for $5 was his contribution to the latter cause.

POLICE FOR ROCKEFELLER.

Oil King May Pay for a Permanent Force at Pocantico Hills.

Special to The New York Times.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 19.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., returned to Pocantico Hills to-night from Seal Harbor, Maine. To-morrow, it is said, he will take up the case of the Italian workmen and arrange for the proper protection of the Rockefeller estate. Special deputies from Sheriff Doyle's office are still guarding Pocantico Hills. Trouble arose with the workmen because of the discharge of several. Threats have been made by the men to "get" the foreman and Fred. Briggs, the superintendent. The situation became so acute that Briggs wired to John D. Rockefeller and to John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

Mr. Rockefeller wants to arrange for a permanent police force for Pocantico Hills and it was at his request that the deputy sheriffs remain on guard. Even if the town authorities are unwilling to appropriate the money for such a police force. Mr. Rockefeller, it is understood, is willing to pay the expense for the protection.

There has been no outbreak, though it is said that two women who are believed to have aided Mr. Rockefeller's cause have received threats.

Two of the children of J. D. Rockefeller, Jr., have been suffering from whooping cough at Pocantico Hills, but they are said to be getting along well.

MAYOR DENOUNCES JUDGES.

Cincinnati Executive Calls Them Creatures of Boss George Cox.

Special to The New York Times.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Aug. 19.—In an interview to-day, Mayor Hunt arraigns the Common Pleas Court, following decisions handed down by Judge Warner freeing a number of workhouse prisoners on writs of habeas corpus, based on the ground that they had not signed documents waiving the right of trial by jury.

The Mayor and Director of Public Safety Cash both declared that the decisions were without warrant of law and contrary to a recent decision of the United States Supreme Court. Both officials denounced the rulings as an attempt to nullify the work of the present administration and "to intimidate police officers from doing their duty for fear of lawsuits."

Mayor Hunt attacks Judge Dickson's record and fitness as a Judge, and adds: "Judge Dickson is violently prejudiced and has criticised this administration at times severely.

"The Cox Judges have let fellows go who are a menace to the community. It is a part of the Cox gang's campaign to take care of the criminal element. George B. Cox and Rud Hynicka put all those Judges on the bench."

DANCE FOR DIVORCEES.

Mrs. Fuller Entertains Mrs. Hutt and Others in Lone Schoolhouse.

Special to The New York Times.

RENO, Nev., Aug. 19.—Huffaker's schoolhouse, ten miles south of Reno, was the scene this evening of one of the most exclusive dances ever given in the divorce colony. Philip T. Dodge, President of the Mergenthaler Linotype Company of New York, was the guest of honor, the hostess being Mrs. Mary Fuller of Boston, who is here to obtain a residence so as to sue for divorce. The party has been kept secret among the twenty guests who had been invited.

Among them were Mrs. Henry Hutt, wife of the artist, who made fame and fortune using his beautiful wife as a model for his creations; Mrs. A. M. Silver, also of New York, who has obtained her divorce; Mrs. Christina Mechling, wife of a New York lawyer, whose complaint is on record; Mrs. Jessica Coffey, also of that city, awaiting a weary six months to pass; Ray Baker, a Nevada miner, unmarried, the only one of the party enjoying this distinction; Reginald W. Rives, a New York horseman, and cousin of Amelie Rives, the novelist, and Dr. Hartzell, who came here from Philadelphia, but whose wife obtained a divorce in the East before he could file his complaint.

Dinner was served at a Reno café. Afterward the party motored to the lonely dance hall in the vacant schoolhouse.

Two attempts were made by the police yesterday to wrest away from District Attorney Whitman Sam Schepps, who proved himself to Mr. Whitman's satisfaction the most important witness, aside from those accused of complicity in the crime, who has yet been produced in the investigation of the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the "squealing gambler."

It was lucky for the police emissaries that Schepps was so obviously in the company of District Attorney Whitman and the escort from Hot Springs, for otherwise they never would have been able to recognize him. Certainly they would have had to possess more knowledge of Schepps's appearance than was betrayed by the police in their circular calling upon the world at large to arrest Schepps and hold him against the arrival of New York detectives, for as the photographs taken yesterday showed, the Sam Schepps pictured in the circular under the caption "Wanted for Murder" bore not the remotest resemblance to the Sam Schepps wanted as an important witness who was brought to this city.

The attempts to take the prisoner away from Mr. Whitman were made, first on the train which was bearing Schepps to this city from Albany on the last stage of his journey from Hot Springs, Ark., and again at the Grand Central Station, when Schepps was rushed into a taxicab and hustled to the West Side Court, where he now occupies a cell under the technical charge of vagrancy.

Mr. Whitman, who conducted Schepps into the city, was elated over the success of his efforts. Failure stared him in the face when the police made their first direct demand for the custody of Schepps, but the District Attorney forced them to back down and to withdraw when he threatened:

"I will order the instant arrest of the man who tries to take Schepps from me and conduct him to Police Headquarters."

The District Attorney's threat, made only when it seemed the last resource to prevent the actual kidnapping of Schepps, was addressed to Detective Haggerty of Second Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty's staff, and Mr. Whitman followed it with the advice:

"You can so report, with my compliments, to your Commissioner."

Later in the day denials were sent out from Police Headquarters that any attempt had been made to take charge of Schepps, and it was added that had such an attempt been made it would have succeeded.

Waldo's Orders, Says Dougherty.

Persons who were aboard the train which bore Schepps into this city realized that nothing but Mr. Whitman's firmness had saved Schepps from kidnapping at the hands of the police, and in a telephone conversation with the District Attorney later in the day Mr. Dougherty apologized for the actions of his men, explaining that he had given them instructions under orders from Police Commissioner Waldo and that Mr. Waldo must have acted under a misunderstanding of the facts.

Under the law a people's witness may be submitted to examination only by the District Attorney and his own lawyer. The police are legally prevented from interfering in the matter, and Mr. Whitman could and would have put his threat into execution had his hand been forced.

Commissioner Waldo laughed when he was asked if an attempt had been made to seize Schepps. He did not explain why he had issued such orders as Dougherty attributed to him.

His day's work is considered by Mr. Whitman, so his friends say, to be one of the best which he has put in on the case. He had a long conversation with Schepps on the train coming from Albany, where Mr. Whitman joined the Schepps party and thus was enabled to question him before the former associate of "Billiard Ball" Jack Rose, "Bridgey" Webber, and Harry Vallon had the opportunity to converse with his friends.

It is known that the information which

As Police Circular Showed Him.

Schepps gave to Mr. Whitman in this time fully realized the District Attorney's expectations, and that Schepps corroborated to the fullest extent the story told to Mr. Whitman by Jack Rose. In no detail, it was said, did Schepps's tale vary from the recollections of the bald-headed gambler's, following it so closely, in fact, that had Schepps and Rose met before the former's examination by Mr. Whitman the suspicion must have been aroused that they had collaborated.

Schepps Faces Grand Jury To-day.

An indication of Mr. Whitman's complete satisfaction with the attitude of Schepps and the story which he told was seen in his willingness to have Schepps arraigned in the West Side Court on a charge no more serious than that of vagrancy. It is known that the last thing Schepps wants to do is to leave prison, and he will be content to stay there as long as Mr. Whitman wants him to.

Schepps will be a witness before the Grand Jury to-day. By his revelations he is known to have removed the last possibility of finding himself named in the blanket indictment for murder, and henceforth in the case must be looked on as a voluntary and valuable witness for the people in the trials which shall arise out of Mr. Whitman's investigation. Not only against the gunmen, but against Lieut. Charles Becker, on whom Mr. Whitman hopes to pin the responsibility of having instigated Rosenthal's killing, will Schepps be of value, for until his advent into the case the District Attorney had little more than the unsupported testimony of men charged with complicity in the crime, and without other corroboration their testimony would have been insufficient to bring about convictions.

Witnesses have been found to the actual shooting in the persons of spectators who had no other connection with the conspiracy or the murder. But of events prior to and immediately after the slaying, there was no corroboration for the stories of Rose, Webber, and Vallon. Schepps, it is understood, can supply this in very essential particulars, and, furthermore, he is willing to do so.

May Indict Seven To-day.

In addition to Schepps, four officials of as many banks in which deposits accredited to Lieut. Becker have been found will go before the Grand Jury to-day, and by nightfall it is expected that the blanket indictment now so long expected will be handed down. With Schepps assured of not being named in this document, there remain these names as the ones probably to be mentioned: Lieut. Becker, the four gunmen, two of whom are still at liberty, Jack Sullivan, Becker's newsboy friend, and William Shapiro, driver of the murder car. Shapiro had his last chance yesterday to confess, and did not take advantage of it.

A separate investigation probably will be undertaken to-day into Becker's Wall Street connections, and it is understood that several brokers will be summoned to tell what they know of Becker's operations in the market. The name mentioned most prominently in this list is that of Col. Sternberger, whose automobile Becker used as his own, and in which he rode uptown past the Hotel Metropole just a few minutes before Rosenthal's murder.

Schepps has ridden in this car, too, and his recollections of trips with Becker and what took place on such journeys are believed to have formed part of what he confided to Mr. Whitman yesterday. The District Attorney was thoroughly exhausted when he finally landed Schepps safely behind bars in the West Side Prison, for to do so he had gone without his full night's rest and throughout the day had been subjected to constant worry about the efforts that might be made by the police to thwart his object.

The District Attorney joined the Schepps party at Albany, partly in accordance with a plan which he originated as long ago as the day he sent Assistant District Attorney Rubin to Hot Springs and partly because later developments in the case had given him added reason to believe that he might encounter interference by the police.

Telegrams which had passed between Dougherty and Detective Albert H. Thomas, a member of Dougherty's staff assigned to the District Attorney's office, had much to do with persuading Mr. Whitman to the course he finally adopted. He was apprised of these telegrams in the course of a long-distance telephone conversation with Mr. Rubin on Sunday afternoon, the latter discovering his chief at his Summer quarters in Manchester, Vt.

The first of the messages was dispatched by Mr. Dougherty to Thomas on Aug. 15, last Thursday, and it was addressed to him, "En route New York on St. Louis & Iron Mountain Train, St. Louis, Mo." It read:

"Advise when and what route you take with Schepps and when due here."

Detective Ignored Dougherty.

The message was signed with Mr. Dougherty's full title, as were all of his messages, and this one bore the urgent request, "Extra, rush." Just the same, Thomas did not reply to it when he received it at the hands of a trainman at St. Louis. Thomas's assignment to the District Attorney's office makes him the District Attorney's man first and a regular policeman second. Though subject to orders from the Police Department, he is under the immediate direction of Mr. Whitman, and owes first allegiance to him. Therefore he wanted to consult with the District Attorney before sending a reply to Mr. Dougherty.

His failure to answer, though, apparently inspired Mr. Dougherty to send a telegram, which was addressed to Thomas, the next day, in care of "Conductor Train No. 4, Big Four Railroad, Cleveland, Ohio." It read:

"Report at Police Headquarters with prisoner when you arrive New York. Answer that you X understand."

The X is understood to be a code word for O. K., and the message might have read "that you understand correctly."

Thomas had no doubt as to the meaning of the message, but again he refrained from answering, and on Saturday Mr. Dougherty sent this message to the Hotel Statler in Buffalo, N. Y.:

"When you arrive in New York City report at Police Headquarters with prisoner. Advise date and what time and route you will depart on."

And then Thomas replied. The telephone communication with the District Attorney had been established, and in the shape of a night letter Thomas, finally understanding just what course to pursue, sent this message:

"Leave Buffalo 12:05 A. M., Aug. 19, due 9:25 A. M. via New York Central. At Hot Springs Schepps consented to waive extradition provided he be taken direct to Whitman. This agreement entered into with Schepps by Whitman and Rubin. Schepps now accompanied by his own counsel, B. Sandler. Under these conditions what will I do? Please answer."

The message seemed to present the case to Mr. Dougherty in such a way as left him in doubt what to reply, for he sent no message to Thomas.

The time of departure was changed, and when Thomas got no reply to his telegram he dispatched the following just before his train left Buffalo:

"Wired you night letter at Headquarters on 17th explaining situation. Waiting answer. Leave Buffalo 9:45 this P. M by N. Y. Central."

It was no part of Mr. Whitman's plan, however, to have Schepps conducted direct to New York. On Saturday evening Mr. Whitman himself left Manchester, Vt., and went by train to Troy, whence he trolleyed to Albany and went to bed in the Stanwix Hall Hotel, only a block from the railroad station. He left a call for 6 o'clock, and gave instructions that he was not to be disturbed before.

It was all in accordance with the arrangement he and Mr. Rubin had made over the long-distance telephone, and when the train bearing the Schepps party reached Albany the sleeping car they occupied was switched off into the yards, and the entire party, in which were included several newspaper men, stayed in their berths until well after 5 o'clock.

Schepps the Coolest in Party.

Then Mr. Rubin, the first one up, hurried into his clothes, scaled an eight-foot wall which shut off the yards from the street outside, and hustled to Stanwix Hall. Mr. Whitman's young assistant was clearly relieved at the successful termination of his task. He admitted that it had been an arduous and a nerve-trying one ever since he left Hot Springs.

At about 6:30 o'clock Detectives Thomas and Stewart arrived at the hotel escorting Schepps and accompanied by Sandler. Schepps was attired in a freshly pressed suit of dark gray, wore a straw hat, and sported a handsome pin in his cravat. He wore low patent leather shoes, above which showed white socks. He looked like a prosperous traveling man, and of the entire party seemed perhaps the coolest, as though he alone of all of them had no care whether he reached New York by one train or another.

He took a seat in the lobby and immediately rolled himself a cigarette. Schepps has been said to be addicted to drugs. It is certain that he had none on his trip from Hot Springs, and he certainly did not give the appearance of a man whose nerves were wasted by deprivation of a favorite stimulant. He smokes cigarettes incessantly, however, rolling a new one as soon as he casts one from his lips.

The lobby of the Stanwix filled quickly, and before the crowd Schepps at last betrayed a trace of nervousness by rising and pacing the floor. The elevator descended, and Mr. Whitman, preceded by his stenographer carrying a grip, stepped out.

He hurried through the staring crowd to greet Mr. Rubin, who stepped forward to meet him. The Assistant District Attorney's eye was bright with happiness and satisfaction as he wrung Mr. Whitman's hand, and then, turning toward Schepps, said with a touch of pride:

Whitman Greets Schepps.

"Chief, let me introduce our guest."

"How do you do?" was Mr. Whitman's reply to Schepps's easy greeting, and then Mr. Rubin and Mr. Whitman drew off to one side. There was an instant's whispered conversation in which Mr. Rubin obviously suggested that there remained seven minutes to catch the 6:50 train, and proposed that they make a try for it. Mr. Whitman hesitated a second, and then gave the word.

Instantly there was a rush for the train, and an instant or so before it started Mr. Whitman and the Schepps party stepped aboard a Pullman car. The District Attorney pushed ahead into the drawing room at the end of the car and called in Mr. Rubin, Schepps, Mr. Sandler, Schepps's lawyer, and the detectives. Then the door was closed.

A group of newspaper men waited outside for the first word from Schepps, and there was a laugh when it was learned what this was. It was a demand for breakfast before he began his long story to the District Attorney. There was a diner aboard the train, but because it was being dead-headed for the convenience of the railroad, and because two of the Pullman cars had kitchenettes attached, nothing could be had from the diner, and the party had to be contented with eggs, rolls, and coffee. Mr. Whitman breakfasted with Mr. Rubin, while Schepps, Sandler, and the detectives had a room together.

Such a breakfast proved a short meal, and before the train had got far out of Albany the little group had gathered again in the drawing room. From then almost until New York was reached Schepps talked and the District Attorney listened, interrupting now and then to put leading questions.

The tale was told by the time 125th Street was reached, and Schepps had stepped out of the drawing room for a breath of air. He had passed from his own car into the one behind, and was busy rolling a cigarette when the train stopped.

On the platform were Detective Haggerty and several companions from Mr. Dougherty's staff, and they ran excitedly up and down beside the train to make sure that the District Attorney and his party did not alight.

Schepps somehow caught on that the detectives were on the platform, for he suddenly stepped hurriedly out of the smoking compartment, exclaiming:

"I guess I'll go back into my own car. I'll be safer there."

And forthwith he almost ran back to the protection of Mr. Whitman.

Meantime the train had begun to roll out of the station, leaving Haggerty and the others still standing expectantly on the platform.

"Take a chance and hop it," shouted one of the detectives, and Haggerty and the others adopted the suggestion. They came piling up the steps and crowded into the narrow lobby outside the door of Mr. Whitman's room.

Dougherty's Men Demand Schepps.

Schepps was already safely inside, and big Al Thomas, bigger than any of the detectives who had boarded the train, though they seemed to have been selected for their impressive size, barred the door.

"Hello, Al," was Haggerty's greeting. "We've come for Schepps."

Then he explained that he was acting under orders from Mr. Dougherty, to receive Schepps from Thomas and conduct him to Police Headquarters. The burly guardian of the District Attorney's door laughed and shook his head. Then, telling Haggerty to wait, he rapped on the panels and being admitted stepped inside the drawing room and closed the door behind him.

Inside he explained to Mr. Whitman that the expected interference of the police had begun and that five men stood outside with orders to take Schepps to Police Headquarters.

"Show Haggerty in," Mr. Whitman ordered, and Thomas opened the door to admit the leader of Mr. Dougherty's forces.

"Have you a warrant for the arrest and detention of Mr. Schepps?" was the District Attorney's first question.

It took Haggerty somewhat by surprise, and he had to admit that he had no such instrument. Then Mr. Whitman continued:

"The District Attorney of this county is thoroughly familiar with the evidence in this case. It is not sufficient to warrant the arrest of Schepps on a charge of murder."

When he had allowed this statement to sink in, Mr. Whitman went on to tell Haggerty that even if he obeyed orders and arrested Schepps it would be illegal for him to conduct his prisoner to Headquarters. To obey Mr. Dougherty's order, the District Attorney pointed out, involved the violation of law by Haggerty himself.

Under the statute a person accused of a felony and arrested for it must be taken instantly before a Magistrate in the district where the felony was committed. The arraignment cannot be delayed. In the case of Schepps, the law gave Mr. Whitman a strong advantage, for it was to the West Side Court that he desired Schepps to be taken, and it was to the West Side Court that Haggerty, under the law, must have taken Schepps even had he arrested him. The West Side Court is the court for the district in which Rosenthal was killed.

But Haggerty seemed hesitant about arresting Schepps on such terms, and Mr. Whitman, growing more and more severe, declared that Schepps occupied the status of a voluntary witness in a murder investigation, and that he had come within the jurisdiction of this State voluntarily.

Whitman Scares Detective Off.

"But he came here on my pledge that he should be protected," continued Mr. Whitman, "and I shall instantly order the arrest of any officer who attempts to arrest Schepps and take him to Police Headquarters. You can so report with my compliments to your Commissioner."

The threat of arrest for himself was too much for the troubled Haggerty. He explained that he had acted only on orders from Mr. Dougherty and then withdrew from the stateroom as gracefully as he could. Mr. Whitman had won the first encounter, and to gain victory in the second he immediately planned with Mr. Rubin and Mr. Sandler to hurry Schepps from the Grand Central Station, apparently in charge of his own lawyer, with only Detective Stewart as a bodyguard. Mr. Whitman counted on the moral effect of his first victory to achieve the second for him.

At the Grand Central Mr. Whitman was one of the first off the train. He rushed through the crowd, declining to greet the throng of newspaper men. He hurried into a taxicab and started at full speed for the West Side Court. It was believed that he meant to complete arrangements with Magistrate House for the carrying out of his threat of instant arrest if another attempt to seize Schepps proved successful.

In the station, meanwhile, Schepps, with Mr. Rubin, Sandler, Thomas, and Stewart, left their car and started up the long train platform toward the station. There was the usual throng waiting for friends and relatives outside the gates, but inside them were also Detectives Dietsch, McMahon, and Hauser of Mr. Dougherty's staff, and also Capt. Gillen and Detective Gallagher of the East Fifty-first Street Police Station.

Of the Schepps party, Mr. Rubin was in the lead. Schepps clung tightly to the Assistant District Attorney's right arm, and Rubin, who is stocky and well built, pushed his way firmly ahead, declining to stop for the detectives or to allow them to question him. Sandler, also of heavy build, grasped Schepps's right arm with his left hand, and, bringing his left shoulder to bear against the right shoulderblade of Schepps, pushed him along after Mr. Rubin, in a sort of guards-back football formation.

Thousands of Mothers and Babies in the Tenement Districts
Must Get Relief from the STIFLING HEAT
Many appeals for fresh air relief are received by us every day.
If you have returned from your summer rest, you appreciate the benefits of a vacation. If you have not, you still realize its necessity for the over-worked and under-rested.
WILL YOU NOT HELP THEM?
Think of the suffering in the tenements these hot days. It will make you happy to know that some poor family is enjoying the ocean or country breezes, or is receiving relief through you.
Here are a few possibilities:
$2.50 will keep a teething baby as your guest at the seashore or in the country for a week. Twice that amount will give the baby's wornout mother a rest, too.
$5.00 will pay a week's board on a farm for a boy or girl who cannot continue work without a rest and change of air.
$10.00 will pay a week's board for a tired mother and delicate baby on a desirable farm, or it will make a family of four happy for a week at Sea Breeze, and strong for many months, possibly years.
$20.00 will keep a mother and three children, or two "cash girls" (sisters) at Sea Breeze for two weeks of fun and unaccustomed joy.
$100.00 will send fifteen hard-working girls to the country, or ten mothers and thirty children to Sea Breeze for a week.

R. FULTON CUTTING, President.

The three walked at top speed, while behind them, and about them on both sides, pressed a throng of detectives and newspaper men. In front of them photographers leveled their cameras, almost tumbling over themselves in their efforts to get good positions.

Detectives Thomas and Stewart formed a rear guard behind Schepps and about them clustered the Central Office men, seeking a word with Thomas, and uncertain, now that they were left to their own initiative, what course to pursue.

Second Police Plan Foiled.

Thomas was bent on finding a telephone where he could get in touch with Mr. Dougherty, and he hurried away. Mr. Rubin wanted a telephone also, but he stuck to Schepps until he had passed through the station, and then he, too, left, Stewart stepping up to take his place.

So rapidly was every one moving that the crowd was almost running when Sandler halted at the door of a sort of opera 'bus and pushed his client into a seat. Stewart and he hopped in afterward and slammed the door. The windows were down, however, and through them Detective Dietsch shouted:

"Wait a minute. Don't start that cab."

"Go on, driver. Don't wait," countered Mr. Sandler.

The detective clearly was uncertain what to do. About him were grouped half a dozen of the biggest men in the Police Department, and for an instant it looked as though they intended to rush the cab and take Schepps by force. Their opportunity was lost, however, when Dietsch wavered and called to Sandler:

"Can't you wait a moment for Thomas?"

"I'll wait for nobody," replied the lawyer angrily, and his assurance carried the day. Dietsch took a step forward, wavered, and the cab was off to the West Side Court.

Mr. Whitman had already reached the court, as had Mr. Rubin. Mr. Whitman conversed with Magistrate House for many minutes.

After two trivial cases had been disposed of the District Attorney with a nod and a smile to the Magistrate looked about and gave a jerk of his head, and Schepps was brought out, walking calmly before the Magistrate, with his lawyer on one side of him and Detective Thomas on the other.

There was a commotion in the seats, a rustling, and a moving about which instantly changed into complete silence as the Magistrate looked up from a short affidavit which had been handed to him, and, looking at Mr. Rubin, asked:

"Do you swear to this?"

Mr. Rubin raised his right hand and took the necessary oath. The charge was vagrancy. Then he stepped back and Mr. Sandler addressed the Magistrate.

"I would ask for an adjournment of forty-eight hours," he said.

"I would ask for an adjournment of a week," Mr. Whitman broke in, "but this cannot be granted without the consent of counsel for the defense."

"Counsel for the defense consents," said Mr. Sandler, bowing to Mr. Whitman, and Magistrate House made the ruling, announcing that the Schepps case would come before him on Aug. 26 at 11 o'clock in the morning.

Mr. Whitman was about to turn away when a thought struck him and he faced the Court again.

"In this court, of course," he suggested to Magistrate House.

"Oh, of course, in this court," the Magistrate assented immediately.

Then Schepps was led away. He looked at the floor as he passed the crowded benches, but he did not seem embarrassed, rather that he was wearied of so much observation. He was perfectly cool and collected.

Schepps had told the District Attorney that there was nothing he feared more than falling into the hands of the police. He made it clear that what he suspected was that he would be taken into the Commissioner's office and there questioned in the presence of four or five witnesses. He told Mr. Whitman yesterday that he was afraid he would find the witnesses ready to swear that he had said anything which it pleased them to make him say.

Dougherty's Explanation.

Mr. Whitman evidently was somewhat of the same opinion, for at his request Commissioner of Correction Whitney visited the court, and in the presence of the District Attorney made an order forbidding any member of the New York Police Department from seeing or interviewing Schepps while he remained in the West Side Prison.

With Schepps safe in a cell, Mr. Whitman turned his attention to a message which Mr. Dougherty had sent to him by Thomas. The Deputy Police Commissioner asked that Mr. Whitman telephone to him, and when he found the opportunity Mr. Whitman did so. Mr. Dougherty at once began an apology for the actions of the police and explained:

"I was acting absolutely on Commissioner Waldo's orders, and I can only believe that Mr. Waldo must have been laboring under a misunderstanding of the actual situation."

Mr. Dougherty then suggested that there might be something he could do for Mr. Whitman.

"We want to work with you, you know," he told the District Attorney. "Under the situation as it has developed, would you like us to arrest Jack Zelig?"

Mr. Whitman thanked Mr. Dougherty, but told him that he didn't want Zelig arrested, and that when he did he could get him himself. The District Attorney got considerable quiet fun out of Mr. Dougherty's offer, for it is known that he doesn't believe the Police Department knows where Zelig is, while Mr. Whitman learned yesterday that while he and the Schepps party had been coming down from Albany Zelig had been arrested in Providence as a suspicious person by the police there, who thought he had been trying to pick pockets. He was held in $2,000 bail.

Then Mr. Whitman left the prison, leaving behind him, however, one of his own men to see that Commissioner Whitney's order was obeyed in regard to Schepps, and hurried to his office with Mr. Rubin. There he gave William Shapiro, driver of the gray murder car, his last chance to avoid danger of mention in the blanket indictment. He sent for Shapiro and had him brought over from the Tombs, but Shapiro failed to show appreciation of the opportunity that was being offered to him. At last Mr. Whitman gave him up and Shapiro was returned to his cell. When he leaves it again it probably will be to plead to an indictment for murder in the first degree.

Schepps Verifies Rose's Story.

But if he failed with Shapiro, he realized his fondest expectations in his conversation with Schepps. Schepps verified every point brought up by Jack Rose, and did it in such certain fashion that it is known his testimony will provide exactly the corroboration for which Mr. Whitman has been searching ever since Jack Rose told his story.

Schepps's name has been mentioned in all sorts of connections with the Rosenthal case. For a time he was called the "murder paymaster," but he has denied this, and it has become known that Rose never accused him of it. Schepps, however, was present when Rose, who it now appears handled the money, passed it over to the gunmen, and it seems apparent now that this was when Rose and Schepps were on their way to the home of Harry Pollok, where Rose hid for the two days after the murder.

Schepps's first connection with the case, in so far as he or others have told of it, came the Monday night before the murder, when Lieut. Becker telephoned to the Lafayette Baths to Rose that some newspaper men were coming to get the Dora Gilbert affidavit. Schepps, with Charles Plitt, Becker's friend, and Webber went to the home of Dora Gilbert and got the affidavit. They telephoned for Rose, who came in an automobile. Rose took Schepps to Sharkey's in the red automobile.

Schepps then rode uptown in the gray murder car with Rose and three of the gunmen. They went to the home of Rose's brother-in-law to borrow some money, and then to Webber. While they were there the word was brought, it has been said by Jack Sullivan, that Rosenthal was at the Metropole. All left except Schepps, who remained with Rose at the latter's insistence.

Schepps next appeared in Rose's story as being found by him in bed in the house of Harry Signal in Fourteenth Street when Rose went there some hours after the murder. He dressed and came out and talked with Rose, and then Rose went to the Lafayette Baths and afterward to his home. Schepps telephoned him there to come to the Garden Restaurant. Schepps told him Webber had the money to give him for the murderers, and Rose visited the Garden.

Schepps Acted as Messenger.

Schepps, Webber, and two of the gunmen were on the corner of Fiftieth Street and Seventh Avenue and Webber handed Rose the money and he passed it over to the gunmen. Then Schepps went with Rose to Pollok's house. How he acted as messenger then between Rose and Becker has been told. Schepps also went in search of Aaron J. Levy at Rose's direction when Lieut. Becker had advised that he be retained as lawyer for Louis Libby and William Shapiro, owner and driver of the murder car.

Schepps continued to act as messenger until Wednesday morning, when Becker advised Rose to give himself up, and then Schepps accompanied Rose part way to Headquarters. Schepps also was in Pollok's home when Becker brought John W. Hart there to get from Rose the false affidavit concerning the real lender of $1,500 for which Rosenthal gave a chattel mortgage on the contents of his gambling house. Then Schepps, his work done, hustled out of town.

These are the points in Rose's confession where Schepps has been mentioned. It is known, however, that he was well acquainted with Rose before the murder and must have known considerable of the relations of the bald-headed gambler with the Lieutenant of police. All of this he told to Mr. Whitman yesterday, and to-day he will tell it to the Grand Jury.

Becker Arraigned for Pleading.

Lieut. Becker was arraigned before Judge Crain in General Sessions yesterday for pleading. After his counsel, John W. Hart, had stated that he wished to make a subsequent motion for inspection of the Grand Jury minutes Judge Crain put the hearing over until to-morrow for pleading, and referred the motion to inspect the minutes to Judge Mulqueen.

At 10:40 Becker, the second in a line of ten prisoners, was brought into the pen. He was smiling and nodding to friends. His case was called within five minutes after he had been brought into the room.

With Mr. Hart was John F. McIntyre, George Whiteside, and Lloyd P. Stryker, all of counsel for Becker. Becker's lawyers left the court immediately after the case had been disposed of, and the prisoner was taken back to the Tombs. He was still smiling.

Mr. McIntyre, after Becker's arraignment, followed his client to the Tombs Prison. After a stay of half an hour, Mr. McIntyre came out and said that he wished to deny the reports that Becker was breaking down under his imprisonment. He said that Becker is in fine physical and mental condition, and pointed to the latter's appearance in the courtroom as proof.

HAYES TO CITE ORDER.

Will Try to Show That Arrests Could Not Bring Convictions.

Former Inspector Hayes, who was demoted by Commissioner Waldo on a charge of "having made a false statement" concerning departmental regulations, has now made it evident that he will persist in maintaining at his trial next Thursday that he was acting under orders from Commissioner Waldo in refraining from making raids on disorderly resorts in his district. He will base this assertion upon a copy of a letter written by Mayor Gaynor which was sent out by Waldo to all of the Inspectors on Jan. 9 last year, and also upon verbal directions which he alleges that he received from the Police Commissioner two months ago.

The order upon which Hayes expects to establish the fact that the Police Inspectors were enjoined from raiding activities is as follows:

Jan. 9, 1911.

The following letter from his Honor the Mayor is for your information and guidance:

"So that there may be a record of the matter, let it be ordered now that no policeman be ordered or permitted to take a woman into a hotel or other house to get evidence to be used in making a criminal complaint against her or the hotel or house.

"If a house harbors women, and men are seen going in or out of the house in considerable numbers, that alone proves it to be a house of ill-fame. Let all the Inspectors, Captains, and the whole force be properly instructed and directed in this matter.

"W. J. GAYNOR."

This document will be used by the demoted Inspector before the trial Judge of the Police Department, Deputy Commissioner Dillon, to prove that he was obeying orders when he refrained from securing evidence in the customary way, and was therefore unable to make raids.

Hayes will also show, he asserts, that he attempted in numerous instances to obtain evidence in the manner directed, and that it was in every instance insufficient to obtain convictions.

Assistant District Attorney James E. Smith, whose raids last week led to Hayes's demotion and suspension, stated yesterday that, so far as his knowledge of the case was concerned, Inspector Hayes was right in declaring that evidence secured by the police in the manner directed by Mayor Gaynor was worthless. Mr. Smith prosecuted most of the cases brought up in this manner, and he was frank yesterday in declaring that in his opinion no leeway had been left to the police to obtain sufficient evidence to get convictions.

"I remember very well," said Mr. Smith, "the experience which Inspector Hayes had when he made arrests in various places in West Forty-eighth and West Forty-ninth Streets as the result of seeing many men go in and out of suspected places. It was ridiculous to bring these cases to trial. There was no evidence at all. It was all suspicion, conjecture, and guesswork."

The Spread of Vice.

A responsible officer of the Society for the Prevention of Crime, who has been active in directing the investigators who got evidence in relation to resorts for District Attorney Whitman, stated last night that there were between 350 and 500 disorderly resorts included in the old and new Tenderloin districts.

"I am speaking of the district included between Fourteenth Street and Seventy-second Street and bounded by Fifth and Eighth Avenues," said this investigator. "The town has never been more wide open so far as vice is concerned than it is to-day. I am not in touch with the situation in Harlem, but I am assured that there are hundreds of resorts there in the very midst of residential sections."

The position of Police Commissioner Waldo in the Hayes case was made clear yesterday by a man close to him in the department. This official was emphatic in denying that the order alluded to by Inspector Hayes in defending his course could in any sense be interpreted as a prohibition of raids whenever such a course was necessary.

"As a matter of fact," said this official, "more convictions have been obtained against resorts since this order went into effect than ever before in the same period of time."

The speaker was asked to give comparative figures, but declined. Then he continued:

"This order referred to Raines law hotels, primarily, and could not be construed to include disorderly resorts. It is because Inspector Hayes insisted that he had been given to understand that it did include such resorts that he stands accused of making a false statement."

Hayes's Case as a Lesson.

"Will Commissioner Waldo take any action against Inspector Lahey, in whose district the raids of last week were made?" demanded a reporter.

"No steps will be taken against Inspector Lahey or any Inspector in the department unless some evidence is forthcoming to show that they were derelict in the performance of their duty," was the reply. "So far as Inspector Lahey is concerned, there is as yet no evidence that outward decency in his district was not preserved or that these resorts were running in such a way as to admit all comers. So long as precautions were observed by the keepers not to admit all comers indiscriminately, it will be considered prima facie evidence that the police were not aware of the existence of these places. If evidence comes before the Commissioner which will show conclusively that such resorts were maintained in any district with the cognizance of the Inspector and without any interference from him, that Inspector will be subjected to instant dismissal.

"The reason for the action in the case of Inspector Hayes," continued the speaker, "was that he had been under suspicion for some time, and the Commissioner was convinced that he knew of the existence of such resorts in his district. When he had the audacity to announce that this suspicion was correct and that the Commissioner was responsible for his policy of non-interference he was suspended in order to show to the other Inspectors that no such interpretation could be placed upon any act or order of the Commissioner."

It was learned yesterday at the Criminal Court Building that three keepers of disorderly resorts who were convicted several months ago had visited Assistant District Attorney Moss during the afternoon. It was learned, further, that the object of their visit was to furnish the District Attorney's office with the names of police officials who have been levying graft upon the keepers of disorderly resorts and the names of the collectors who have handled the money paid for protection.

DIDN'T TAKE GRAFT, BECKER DECLARES

Most of the Money in Bank His Wife's and Reports Multiply It, He Says.

HOPE TO EVICT RESORT MEN

District Attorney Believes Expatriated American's Realty Agent Isn't Trying to Do This.

When Lieut. Becker was interviewed in the Tombs yesterday by a TIMES reporter he declined to discuss his case for publication except in relation to the charges of graft which had been laid at his door. He was especially indignant when asked about the report that Rosa Klein had paid him, through Jack Rose, the sum of $1,500 for protection in the maintenance of a disorderly resort.

"Any person, whether he is District Attorney or one of his subordinates, who says that I received graft from disorderly resorts through Rose is a liar," declared Becker. "It is also a malicious fabrication to say that Jack Sullivan acted for me as a collector from disorderly resorts. These wild stories make me laugh. If this woman in question had paid so much money for protection and had not received it nothing in the world would have prevented her from squealing.

"She was already convicted, wasn't she? Do you think that she would go to jail to save me? The whole thing is a joke. It is just like the wild reports that have been circulated about my bank accounts. Great Scott! Except in two instances those accounts belong to my wife and were entered in my name at her personal desire. Every one of them has been multiplied by four in order to make the amounts significant enough to command public interest. However, I am not going to discuss this phase of the affair or any other feature of the case at present.

"Let the District Attorney's office make all the startling revelations. I will have my day in court. The only injustice is that when my side of the story is presented it will not command the big headlines that the newspapers are giving to the charges being made against me. If the newspapers weighed carefully some of these wild allegations they would not dignify such stuff by publishing it."

The accused Lieutenant and the reporter then engaged in a conversation on matters not related to the case. Becker's laugh was hearty and unforced as he chatted about various topics. In appearance he is bearing his imprisonment well. His eyes are clear and his attitude is that of a man who is confident of his ultimate vindication. When he shakes hands he has the grip of a bear, and his only concern is for his wife, who visits him daily. At parting he was cheery and confident and predicted that he would be free sooner than was generally expected.

The examination of the District Attorney's office into the bank accounts of Lieut. Becker was continued yesterday, with the result that an account of $1,000 was discovered which had been deposited in the German Savings Bank, Fourteenth Street and Fourth Avenue, on April 24 last. It was withdrawn on Aug. 13 by Mrs. Becker, who had a draft made to her order by her husband.

More banks were also discovered yesterday, it is understood, in which Becker either has or had accounts, so that the search, which it was thought had been finished in this city, will have to be continued further. There are four of these banks which Mr. Whitman is anxious to have investigated, and in addition there will be begun immediately an investigation of Becker's Wall Street transactions.

MOVE FOR RESORT EVICTIONS.

Agents' Attempts in This Direction Laughable, Says Smith.

As the direct result of the activities of the District Attorney's office in raiding eighteen disorderly resorts in the Old Tenderloin in an effort to establish evidence of the connection between the police and the members of the "trust" which conducted these places, the agents of one of the largest realty operators in the city have been busy in the last three days in an attempt to get eviction notices which will be served not later than to-day upon the tenants of five houses in West Forty-sixth Street, near Broadway.

The real estate operator under whom the tenancy rights are held, it was learned yesterday, is the lessee of the property under the terms of a 100-year lease obtained from an expatriated American who is living in England. Every effort is being made to avoid, if possible, the necessity of basing the evictions on the grounds of undesirable tenancy. This has delayed the successful termination of the actions contemplated.

The District Attorney's office is aware of the activity of the lessee, and has already obtained evidence of the nature of the resorts maintained at the various addresses. Assistant District Attorney Smith said yesterday that the attempts at eviction were laughable, and were being made solely for the purpose of avoiding any possible invasion of the so-called "New Tenderloin" by the District Attorney's office.

"The word has gone forth that we are going to proceed against the property owners wherever we get evidence that houses have been let for the maintnance of resorts," he declared. "I fail to see how the tenants are going to be evicted unless action is taken on the avowed grounds that the places are being used for illegal purposes. If this is done it will simply be playing into our hands. None of these resorts are conducted by the "trust." They are all independents. We have not been so anxious to get these places as we were to show the existence of the cheaper and more degraded dives which were being maintained in the Old Tenderloin.

"An order of eviction can be obtained only on certain grounds. It is usually based upon non-payment of rent. This cannot be argued, for the keepers of such places not only pay exorbitant rents, but are unusually prompt."

Mr. Smith intimated that the raids of last Thursday night might be repeated within another district before the end of this week. He said that the evidence of wide-open conditions was not restricted to one police inspection district. The only reason why other districts had not been invaded, he said, was because the number of men at the disposal of Mr. Whitman was limited.

Mr. Smith was asked to comment upon a statement made in one of the morning papers to the effect that a woman named Rosa Klein, who had maintained a disorderly resort in West Forty-fifth Street and who is now serving a sentence of three months on Blackwell's Island, paid the sum of $1,500 to Lieut. Becker for protection. It was said that on conviction she had been offered a chance to escape with a suspended sentence, with the proviso that she give the District Attorney evidence of the relations existing between the police and the underworld. So great was her fear of the vengeance which would be exacted by the "system" in the event of her making disclosures, however, that she refused the opportunity and expressed a preference for a term on the Island.

"The address is wrong," said Mr. Smith. "It should be Thirty-fifth Street. The substance of the story is correct, according to our information."

SAW MISSING TWO GOING WEST.

Rochester Police Hear That "Gyp the Blood" Was Bound for Vancouver.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 19.—According to information given to the police by Bert Swor, a theatrical man, who says he is an intimate friend of "Lefty Louie" Rosenzweig and "Gyp the Blood," or Harry Horowitz, the two passed through Rochester last Sunday, westbound.

Swor says he spoke to Horowitz, and even took luncheon with him. Swor says Horowitz told him he was traveling with his wife and was bound for Vancouver. He said his expenses were being defrayed from a "killing" he had made in New York.

ZELIG CAUGHT AND LOST.

Arrested in Providence, Gives $2,000 Bail and Disappears.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 19.—A man who the police think may be Jack Zelig, who has been mentioned as a gang leader in the Rosenthal murder case, was arrested in Providence last Thursday, charged with stealing a pocketbook on a street car, but was released to-day when a man named Goldberg furnished $2,000 cash bail. The man, when arrested, gave the name of James Golden, but refused to give his address. When arraigned in court he said his name was Edward Golden.

He was held for a hearing on Aug. 27, and had been unable to furnish bail until to-day. To-night the police have no idea where he is.

MOVE LIBBY AND SULLIVAN.

Conversation with Informers Does Not Bring Them to Confess.

Jack Sullivan, whose real name is Jacob Reich, and Louis Libby were transferred yesterday from the West Side Prison to the Tombs. The change was made by order of Commissioner of Correction Whitney. The two men were originally placed in the Tombs, but were later taken to the West Side Prison, where it was hoped that, under the influence of Jack Rose, "Bridgey" Webber, and Harry Vallon, they would be brought to confess their part in the murder of Herman Rosenthal.

Neither Sullivan nor Libby gave any sign of weakening, however. On the contrary, it is said that their conversations with Rose, Vallon, and Webber gave them information as to the plans of the District Attorney, which Sullivan and Libby promptly transmitted to their counsel.

CARMODY WON'T TAKE PART.

Dix Puts Prosecuting Powers in Whitman's and Sandford's Hands.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 19.—The proceedings before the two extraordinary terms of the Supreme Court, ordered by Gov. Dix to be convened in Albany and New York in September, will be conducted by the District Attorneys of the two counties, according to a statement given out at the Executive Chamber to-day. This action was deemed advisable in view of the fact that the requests for the special terms were made by District Attorneys Whitman of New York and Sandford of Albany.

The Governor's statement points out that while he has the power to request Attorney General Carmody to participate in criminal proceedings, he "believes that the conduct of the proceedings before the two special terms should be conducted by the duly constituted local prosecuting officers," and for that reason he "will not request the State's Attorney General to act unless it shall seem to be required by the conditions that develop."

The New York term is to try indictments growing out of the murder of Herman Rosenthal. The Albany terms is to consider conditions in Albany City and County.

ENLIST MITCHEL FOR ALDERMEN'S INQUIRY

Buckner Gets Promise of President of Board to Aid His Work.

ATTACKED "SYSTEM" IN 1910

Curran Strongly Objects to Speer's Appointment—Watson Will Not Hold His Own Inquiry.

When the Aldermanic Committee gets down to the real work of investigating the Police Department it will have the steady and active assistance of John Purroy Mitchel, President of the Board of Aldermen. After the resolution authorizing the creation of the committee had been adopted by the Board of Aldermen, but before the committee had been named, it was generally suggested that Mr. Mitchel's presence on the committee would strengthen it. It was also said that his presence would encourage those citizens who were afraid that the committee would be controlled by Chairmen Barnes and Koenig of the State and County Republican organizations, and by Herbert Parsons and other influential local Republicans.

Then it was learned that Corporation Counsel Watson had himself suggested that Mr. Mitchel be chosen as the Chairman of the committee, or, if this was not expedient, that he ought surely to have a place on the committee. No attention was paid to any of these suggestions. But when Emory R. Buckner was selected by the committee as its counsel he determined to obtain Mr. Mitchel's aid if possible. There was some communication between them which ended on Friday by Mr. Mitchel sending this letter to Mr. Buckner:

City of New York,
Office of
The President of the Board of Aldermen.
Aug. 16, 1912.

My Dear Mr. Buckner: Indeed, I shall be most happy to co-operate with you to the fullest extent in your work for the Committee of the Board of Aldermen appointed to investigate the Police Department, and I assure you that whatever information or help I am able to give you, and whatever advice you may find of value, will be at your disposal at all times.

You have undertaken a work of vast importance and great responsibility, the results of which should be of utmost value to the city. Your past service eminently fits you for the task which you have undertaken, and your excellent record makes us all confident that your work in this investigation will be creditable alike to yourself and to the city.

JOHN PURROY MITCHEL.

Emory R. Buckner, Esq., Criminal Court Building, New York City.

Where Mitchel Stands.

When Mr. Mitchel was Acting Mayor in September, 1910, he ordered William F. Baker, who was then the Police Commissioner, to place on trial the Inspectors and Captains who were responsible for the "wide-open condition of the city." He sent a letter to Mr. Baker, in which he said:

> I need not mince words with you. A situation of this kind presents unquestionable evidence of irregularity and flagrant violation of official responsibility. The particular complaints have been investigated by Inspectors under my direct supervision, with the result that it is apparent to me that the police are grossly derelict in their failure to enforce the law in these respects.

Mr. Mitchel also said:

"I know perfectly well that if Inspectors and Captains want to, they can cope with the situation."

A month before Commissioner Baker was publicly taken to task for the condition of the city Mr. Mitchel sent him the addresses of about 100 illegal resorts that the police seemed to know nothing about. Mr. Mitchel said to Mr. Baker that he was convinced that the bad condition could not have existed without the connivance of the police. When Mayor Gaynor returned to his desk he said that the list of addresses had been made up from newspapers that were opposed to his administration. Mr. Mitchel hotly denied this, and declared that the list was made up by him from facts which he had gathered himself.

In the meantime Mr. Mitchel began a crusade on Coney Island, where the conditions were reported the very worst. He had scarcely got started on this work before the lawbreakers at Coney Island packed up their effects and marched out. They had no faith in the leniency of Mr. Mitchel. Before he could aim his gun "the coon came down."

Has No Place for Speer.

Chairman Curran of the Aldermanic Committee expressed his pleasure yesterday when he learned of the willingness of Mr. Mitchel to help Mr. Buckner. He said that Mr. Mitchel would be of the greatest value to the committee and would make the presence of William McMurtrie Speer, who was named as counsel to the committee by Corporation Counsel Watson, wholly unnecessary. Mr. Curran still refuses to admit that Mr. Watson was compelled by the city charter or by anybody or anything to inject another counsel into the proceedings. He also refuses to admit that the committee would gain any increase of power in or outside of any court by the official recognition of any appointee of the Mayor.

"Mr. Speer will have no standing before the committee," said Mr. Curran. "We will refuse to turn over to him any letters or information. Mr. Buckner will be solely in charge. If Inspector Hayes is telling the truth about being forced out of his rank because he obeyed the orders of the Mayor it would be absurd to have a representative of the Mayor question the Inspector about the matter. When the committee meets and begins the work of taking testimony the status of Mr. Speer will be fixed. That status will be the same as any one of the newspaper men assigned to the work. He will be permitted to hear everything that takes place in the open, but he will not know anything that occurs in executive session."

It was said that Mr. Mitchel had a good deal of information about the police that had never been used, and that this material would be turned over to the committee. It is known that Magistrate Corrigan will also give the committee a good deal of information that might lead to astonishing disclosures. Mr. Curran and Mr. Buckner are hard at work getting all the material possible in hand and arranging it so that it can be easily and quickly used.

Watson Not to Investigate.

In reference to the statement that Corporation Counsel Watson intends to conduct an independent inquiry, in case Mr. Speer is not permitted to take an active part in the inquiry, Mr. Watson said:

"I do not expect any clash or serious difference of opinion with the Chairman of the Aldermanic Investigating Committee, Mr. Buckner, or any member thereof. I have not even thought of an independent investigation. I prefer to believe, up to this time, that the Aldermanic Committee is sincere in its purpose to give the people of this city a thoroughgoing investigation in the open. As long as I am satisfied that this object is being sought with good faith I see no reason to expect any clash or controversy."

The Citizens' Committee met yesterday afternoon and elected these permanent officers: Allan Robinson, Chairman; Henry Moskowitz, Vice Chairman, and Jacob H. Schiff, Treasurer. George D. Pratt of Pratt Institute, Brooklyn; Fred Whitin of the Committee of Fourteen, and Samuel Lewisohn were added to the committee. These three, together with the officers, will be the Executive Committee.

It was said that while the committee would co-operate with the other agencies seeking to clean up the city, its intention was to remain independent and to conduct a separate and distinct inquiry into the police situation, but to avoid, as far as possible, duplicating the work done by any one else. The committee said:

"We need assistance from the public in order that we may give assistance to the public. Any one having knowledge of the conditions we are facing is invited to lay it before us; we shall treat such information as confidential. All communications should be addressed to the Chairman, Allan Robinson, 165 Broadway."

The Board of Estimate met yesterday and unanimously authorized the issue of bonds for $25,000 for the use of the Aldermanic Committee. There was no comment. Mayor Gaynor was not present. President Mitchel presided at the meeting.

DR. MAGNES ADVISES CAUTION.

Tells Jewish Community All the Investigators Should Be Watched.

The Rev. J. L. Magnes, President of the Jewish Community, (Kehillah,) aroused enthusiasm at a meeting of that organization last night when he declared that the agencies investigating the conditions revealed by the Rosenthal case would bear watching.

"Unfortunately," he said, "the magnificent mass meeting at Cooper Union last week seemed to be held to advance the political fortunes of the District Attorney. Let us watch the District Attorney, the Aldermanic Committee, and the Citizens' Committee, for none, unfortunately, is above suspicion."

The meeting of the Jewish Community was held in the rooms of the Educational Alliance in Rutgers Square. It was the first of a series of meetings to be held in the course of a movement to suppress vice and crime. The Jewish Community has opened offices at 356 Second Avenue, in charge of Alexander Kaminsky, for receiving confidential information that will be useful in a crusade by Jews against the bad element. Similar offices will be opened at the rooms of the Educational Alliance at 240 East 105th Street and at the offices of the Brownsville Educational Alliance.

The meeting last night was enthusiastic and largely attended. Dr. Magnes, who made a bitter attack on Mayor Gaynor at the last meeting of the Jewish Community, disclaimed last night any intention of condemning the District Attorney or the investigating committees in advance.

"I have the addresses of fifty stuss parlors below Fourteenth Street," said Dr. Magnes. "I know where there are poolrooms and hand books and crap joints and poker rooms, and I know of hangouts where there are from 100 to 200 gangsters a night. The police know as much as I, and more. We are going to break up this nefarious alliance between the police and gangs as far as the Jews are concerned in it."

ALDERMAN BECKER TO GAYNOR.

Demands a Special Meeting to Investigate Charges of Newsstand Graft.

Alderman Niles R. Becker wrote to Mayor Gaynor yesterday demanding that the Mayor issue a call for a special meeting of the Aldermen to investigate alleged newsstand graft, to which the Mayor referred in a speech last week. If the Mayor refuses to issue the call, Alderman Becker said he would try to get fifteen Aldermen to sign a petition for a special meeting of the board. This is the Alderman's letter:

Sir: The morning newspapers of New York City, printed Friday, Aug. 16, represent you as having stated the night before at a meeting of newspaper dealers in words or effect as follows:

"Two years ago it was brought to my attention that no one could get a license for a newsstand without the intervention of a middleman or an Alderman. I said I would do what I could to do away with the graft, but I have been baffled so far. There are 7,500 newsstands in this city. If each of these had to pay $100, the total amount of graft would amount to $750,000. But it has been brought to my attention that certain dealers have paid $500 and $200."

Following this statement, and after other statements of similar import, and after the statement that you "really believe that the graft"—in respect of newsstand licenses—"amounts to at least an average of $200, bringing the total up to $1,500,000 a year," you are quoted as saying, in words or effect: "There was a case of a woman at Ninety-third Street and Columbus Avenue. She had paid $200 every year. When the year was up she came to me. The wardman had come up and asked her for another $250. That's Alderman Becker's ward."

Entering here and now a positive denial that I, or any one in my behalf, then, or at any time, made any suggestion to this self-confessed bribe-giving woman, or any other person, to my benefit, or to any private or political benefit, in respect of money, and in view of the fact that your charges relate not only to me, or to my district, but are general and suggestive of a system of blackmail operated by the Board of Aldermen of this city, I demand that you call a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen, to be held as immediately as possible, under the powers conferred upon you by Section 37 of the Charter, which states that you may call a meeting at any time and that you shall do so upon the requirement of as many as fifteen members.

I do not know what difficulty I may encounter in obtaining the signatures of fifteen members to this call, but I do know that you have made the charges and that you can make the call. At such meeting I shall present a resolution for the appointment of a special committee to investigate these charges, and shall see to it that such resolution so provides that the committee so appointed should have your confidence and will certainly have the confidence of the public.

Yours truly,
NILES R. BECKER,
Alderman, Fifteenth District, Manhattan.

The Mayor was not at the City Hall yesterday, and he is expected to reply to the letter when he arrives there today.

LIEUT. CRAY MADE A CAPTAIN.

He Led Men Who Schepps Says Let Him Escape from Catskills.

Lieut. John J. Cray of the Detective Bureau, who has been in charge of detectives in the man hunt through the Catskills for Harry Horowitz, known as "Gyp the Blood," and "Lefty Louie" Rosenzweig, was promoted yesterday by Police Commissioner Waldo to the position of Captain and assigned to the 143d Precinct, the Fourth Avenue Station in Brooklyn. Capt. Cray succeeds Capt. Sylvester D. Baldwin, who retired on his own application.

Capt. Cray is a brother-in-law of Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall. He is a brother of Capt. Patrick J. Cray.

Lieut. Cray is one of the detectives who has been under a shadow since Sam Schepps made the statement that five headquarters detectives discovered him in his hiding place in the Catskills and let him go when he said that his name was Schmidt.

The explanation was given at Police Headquarters yesterday that Lieut. Cray headed the list of Police Lieutenants, and was promoted in regular order under the civil service regulations. A high police official said yesterday:

"If it is shown that Cray has at any time been guilty of negligence or misconduct it is as easy to try him as Captain as to try him as Lieutenant. There being nothing against his record at present, he is entitled to promotion in his turn."

Capt. Cray was appointed to the force in 1885, and assigned to the Detective Department in 1901. His specialty has been that of watching Western criminals. He is said to have a better knowledge of dangerous men from other cities than any Captain in the department.

An investigation of the charge that Sam Schepps was found in the Catskills by five detectives and assisted by them in making his escape to the West will be made by Deputy Commissioner Dougherty. If District Attorney Whitman allows Schepps to be used for that purpose, the detectives sent to the Catskills will be confronted by Schepps so that he may pick out the men who let him slip through their fingers. According to the plans of Deputy Commissioner Dougherty.

WALDO SEES NEW LIEUTENANTS

It Is Said That He Is Planning Changes Among Detectives.

Thirty-five Lieutenants were summoned to Police Headquarters yesterday by Police Commissioner Waldo. They were the men who had been promoted from the rank of Sergeant during his term of office. They were admitted to his office one at a time and interviewed separately. Each was dismissed with orders to reveal nothing of what had taken place during the interview. Commissioner Waldo said yesterday after seeing them:

"I simply wanted to look over the men whom I had appointed Lieutenants, and so I had them all down here to-day. My chief object was to get better acquainted with them. Their visit had no particular significance."

It was said on good authority that Commissioner Waldo was contemplating changes among Detective Lieutenants in charge of districts and was interviewing the newly appointed Lieutenants with the object of discovering their fitness to take the place of others who may be transferred to desk duty.

The Lieutenants who were interviewed yesterday said that Commissioner Waldo had given them no idea of his intentions. They said that his questions did not indicate that he was picking men for new positions.

WALDO'S BUDGET FOR 1913.

Asks $15,000 a Year for Commissioner and $5,000 for Secretary.

Police Commissioner Waldo, in his budget for the year 1913, recommends increases in salary all along the line in the Police Department, not forgetting himself. His budget was prepared in June last.

Mr. Waldo suggests that the Commissioner's salary be increased from $7,500 to $15,000. He also asks for an increase from $3,500 to $5,000 for his secretary, Winfield R. Sheehan, and an increase from $2,100 to $2,400 for his executive clerk, Robert J. Kennedy. He wants the salary of Max Schmittberger, the Chief Inspector, raised from $3,500 to $5,000, and to have Captains increased from $2,750 to $3,500. For patrolmen he asks increase of from $1,400 to $1,500, from $1,350 to $1,400, from $1,250 to $1,300, from $1,150 to $1,200, from $1,000 to $1,100, and from $900 to $1,000 in the respective grades. He also wants 1,000 new policemen at $1,000 a year.

It was explained at Police Headquarters yesterday that the request for an increase in the salaries of Inspectors from $3,500 to $5,000 was made for the purpose of putting a stop indirectly to grafting by Inspectors.

"If any of the Police Inspectors are convicted of grafting, the new men put in their places should receive a salary adequate to their position, and then they would be removed from temptation," said a police official yesterday. "The request for an increase of salary for the secretary to Commissioner Waldo is justified. The secretaries to the Fire and Water Commissioners now receive $5,000, and Sheehan should have as good a salary as they get."

Police Commissioner Waldo was asked yesterday if he thought the recommendations for salary increases were justified, in view of the conditions in the Police Department brought to light by the Rosenthal case. Commissioner Waldo refused to answer the question.

Bill Protecting Moving Pictures by That Law Passes Congress.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The Senate passed to-day the House bill putting moving pictures under the distinct protection of the copyright laws of the United States.

Instead of providing for a fine for each moving picture which infringes another, the bill provides that in case of an innocent infringement the total amount of damages shall not exceed $100.

REPUBLICANS LOSE A CLUB.

Bull Moosers Capture 12th Congressional District Organization.

On a test vote the Logan Club, an old Republican organization in the Twelfth Congressional District, Brooklyn, long dominated by Congressman William L. Calder, the Bull Moosers demonstrated that they still had the upper hand. The club declared for Foosevelt on June 25. Frank Brunner, its President, is a Taft follower.

Brunner called a special meeting of the club last night to entertain a resolution on the action of the Membership Committee which would have had the effect if passed of putting out twenty Bull Moosers who got into the club in June. The resolution was the subject of a bitter argument which lasted an hour. On a vote the Bull Moosers won, 56 to 36.

As the Taft men filed out of the clubhouse, at Garfield Place and Sixth Avenue, they exclaimed sadly that the vote meant the end of the Logan Club as a Republican organization. The Bull Moose element considered the vote as a demonstration that the Bull Moose Party can capture the Republican organization in Brooklyn by progressing from last night's success to similar victories in other districts.

PENROSE PROMISES EXPOSE.

Will Tell Senate About 1904 Campaign Contributions on Wednesday.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Senator Penrose returned from Atlantic City to-night and went promptly to bed. He declared that he would make a statement in the Senate on Wednesday relating to the contributions to the Republican campaign fund in 1904.

"The statement will be of such a character," he said, "that the Committee on Privileges and Elections cannot help but take notice of it."

The Senator would not go into details, but promised that his statement would be enlightening as to contributions to the fund which preceded the Presidential election of that year.

Members of the Senate Committee on Campaign Expenditures said to-day they had no facts bearing upon Mr. Penrose's explanation that the $25,000 which John D. Archbold supplied Mr. Penrose had been spent in the interests of Col. Roosevelt's campaign. Nothing of that sort has come out in the testimony before the committee so far, though corporate interests related to the Standard Oil Company were listed as contributors in 1904.

It is considered likely that the committee will either invite Mr. Penrose to testify as to this sum and others he may have received and to tell how he spent the money or to whom he turned it over. Col. Roosevelt's statement that he knows nothing of any such contribution is not considered important, as the campaign funds were handled by other officials without Mr. Roosevelt's knowledge.

The charges, even if established as showing improper activity on Mr. Penrose's part, would scarcely affect his seat in the Senate, as the transaction happened before his present term.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 19.—The statement from Senator Penrose as to the disposition of the $25,000 he received from John D. Archbold of the Standard Oil Company editorially stirs The Pittsburgh Leader, William Flinn's newspaper, to the following outburst:

> The confession of Boies Penrose that he received $25,000 from the Standard Oil Trust, and that he served the monopoly in his official capacity, helps to reveal the depths of political debauchery into which the State of Pennsylvania has been dragged. And it serves to call attention to the newspaper debauchry that makes such political debauchery possible. Not until Penrose wanted to get some publicity for his puerile defense has any reference to the scandal that surrounded him been printed in any Pittsburgh newspaper, with the notable exception of The Leader. Nothing so vital to the interests of the people of this community has so actually demanded publicity as those Archbold letters.
>
> There is no question of Penrose or Flinn or any other person getting the worst of it. Newspaper debauchery in Pittsburgh has reached high tide in this Penrose scandal. It has never been more shameful or shameless.
>
> Political debauchery is going to be eliminated, and the same fate must come to newspaper debauchery.

Two of the Pittsburgh papers are owned by United States Senator Oliver.

WOODRUFF'S BRIDGES BURNED

Quits Brooklyn Union League Club, His Last Old Party Connection.

Timothy L. Woodruff burned his last Republican bridge behind him last night by resigning from the Union League Club of Brooklyn.

This is the last of the Republican organizations to which Mr. Woodruff belonged and from which he has resigned since he became identified with the Bull Moose organization.

PRESIDENT SUGGESTS PANAMA CANAL COURT

to command a quorum of his committee for the last three weeks.

House Leaders Not Enthusiastic.

There is no disposition on the part of the House leaders, so far as they would indicate to-night, to attempt to press a resolution of the character of that recommended by the President. There was an informal conference between Representative Sherley of Kentucky, who talked with the President on the subject, and others who have taken a prominent part in Panama legislation in the House, and the sentiment expressed was that there would be no further legislation, and that if the President vetoed the bill the whole matter would go over to the December session of Congress.

The President's draft of the resolution was severely criticised to-night in various circles. It was pointed out that under its loosely worded text any provision in the bill could be objected to by an alien and suit could be brought by aliens to set it aside, while citizens of this country would have no such rights. Though the President does not mention the inhibition against railroad-owned ships, that, too, could be disputed by ships belonging to the Canadian Pacific as a discrimination against them, and suit at once could be brought for setting it aside.

It is certain that if the resolution ever gets before Congress for consideration it will be bitterly attacked on the score of its alleged purpose to favor the railroads. Even the whole scale of tolls fixed under the bill could be disputed by an alien on the ground that the Hay-Pauncefote treaty says they must be "fair." The more the President's draft is studied the less it is liked, and the feeling to-night is that no resolution will pass. But the President is expected to sign the bill.

One reason why President Taft is anxious for the passage of the bill, and why he is expected, therefore, not to veto it, is that any delay now throwing the matter into the next session would imperil his chances to organize the canal government. Undoubtedly, he is eager to appoint the Governor and his subordinates and to get things started there in his own way. If he waits until next session the Democrats will see that things are held up long enough to allow Mr. Wilson, if he is elected, the privilege of making the appointments and starting the new administration.

nounced in every newspaper that such contributions had been made to both the Republican and Democratic Campaign Committees precisely as they had been made to both committees, but especially in the case of the Republican committee, in the Presidential contest which resulted in the election of President Cleveland in 1892 and of President McKinley in 1896 and 1900. At that time there was no law against corporations contributing, and they did as a matter of fact contribute to Mr. Parker's campaign committee and to mine precisely as they had already contributed to Mr. Cleveland's and Mr. McKinley's campaign committees.

"As a matter of fact the contributions to the Republican Campaign Committee when I ran for President in 1904 were, as I was informed by Mr. Bliss and Mr. Cortelyou, only about one-third as great as those made to Mr. McKinley's campaign committee in 1896 and 1900, and were less than those made to Mr. Cleveland's committee in 1892. In my published statement issued in answer to Mr. Parker on Nov. 4, 1904, I made the point so clear that it is impossible for any paper or individual to misunderstand it unless wilfully.

"My statement, which has been published again and again since and is to be found on Page 97, Volume 8 of my addresses and State papers published by the Review of Reviews Company, runs in part as follows:

"That contributions have been made to the Republican committee as contributions have been made to the Democratic committee is not the question at issue. Mr. Parker's assertion is in effect that such contributions have been made from improper motives, either in consequence of threats or in consequence of improper promises direct or indirect upon the part of the recipient. The assertion that there has been made in my behalf or by my authority by Mr. Cortelyou or by any one else any pledge or promise, or that there has been any understanding of future immunities and benefits in recognition of any contribution from any source is a wicked falsehood. As Mr. Cortelyou said to me more than once during the campaign, if elected I should go into the Presidency unhampered by any pledge, promise, or understanding of any kind, sort, or description save my promise made openly to the American people that so far as in my power lies I shall see to it that every man has a square deal, no less and no more.

"No attempt has ever been made, or even can successfully be made, to show that this statement was not absolutely and literally true in every word.

"The point of Mr. Parker's charge was in effect that Mr. Cortelyou and I had gone into a conspiracy to blackmail these corporations into contributing, and that they had been promised certain immunities and favors in view of their contributing. This was the charge that was made. This was the charge that I denied. As for the Standard Oil Corporation, it happens, as I said explicitly and in writing informed the committee, that I wished no contributions to be received from the Standard Oil Corporation, and if any such contribution was received it was without my knowledge and against my prohibition.

"In 1904 in Pennsylvania, if my memory is correct, Senator Quay was in charge. My relations with him were always cordial and pleasant. He vigorously supported all the policies I advocated, and as far as I know he never asked and I never did anything of any kind, sort, or description for him that could not be blazoned in every newspaper throughout the country."

Col. Roosevelt will remain at Sagamore Hill until Wednesday, when he leaves for Wilkesbarre to attend the Golden Jubilee of Father Curran.

BULL MOOSERS GOING ALONE.

Up-State Chairmen Notified to Have No Alliances with Old Parties.

Provisional State Chairman William H. Hotchkiss of the Bull Moose Party sent out directions to his County Chairmen yesterday to see to it that straight tickets were placed in the field everywhere, both for judiciary, legislative, and county offices. The Bull Moosers throughout the State will hold their local conventions this week, and Mr. Hotchkiss asked the Chairmen to have the letter read at the opening of every convention. Many reports were reaching Bull Moose headquarters, in the Metropolitan Tower, of efforts by the two older parties to effect fusions, alliances, and indorsements.

"I would rather, for the sake of our cause, have a majority in both houses of the Legislature made up of straight Murphy Democrats than to have a divided allegiance in the men voted for under our emblem," said Chairman Hotchkiss last night. "We cannot expect the people to support us if our candidates are one-half Progressives and one-half standpat machine men."

Mr. Hotchkiss said he had asked the leaders up-State to have all the Bull Moose candidates pledged against accepting the indorsement of either of the old parties.

TO EXPEL BULL MOOSERS.

Queens Republican Committee Expects to Oust Twenty of Them.

Bull Moosers in Queens County who have joined in the organization of clubs and committees, and who still retain their membership in the Queens County Republican Committee, will get a jolt to-night at a special meeting which has been called by the County Chairman pursuant to the suggestion of President Taft to turn the Bull Moosers out. The committee will expel every member who has had anything to do with the third party organization.

It is understood that there are nearly twenty such members, and out of this number only three have thus far sent in their resignations. According to Chairman Losee, there will be substituted for those expelled men who will be certain to stand by the regular organization and President Taft.

$19,403 BULL MOOSE BILL.

What It Cost to Hold the Roosevelt Convention in Chicago.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—Progressive leaders were elated to-day when a detailed statement was issued showing that the Bull Moose convention in Chicago cost its managers $19,403 as compared with more than $100,000 expended by the Republican and Democratic National Committees, respectively.

The Bull Moosers say they have set a precedent of economy in National conventions and they suggest that the Republican and Democratic National Committees be requested to make public detailed statements of their expenditures.

The Bull Moosers received $5,350 in subscriptions for convention purposes, of which $3,350 was contributed by Chicago hotels. The sale of seats netted $13,262 and that of programmes $1,265. The committee received in $19,877 and expended $19,403 for rent, music etc., leaving a balance on hand of $474.

For the Republican Convention $125,000 is said to have been subscribed and a little more than $100,000 expended. Of this Fred. W. Upham assistant treasurer, is said to have reported that $20,000 was needed to settle the Roosevelt contests.

For the Democratic Convention in Baltimore $110,000 is said to have been subscribed and most of it used on account of the length of the session.

BULL MOOSERS FOR ASSEMBLY.

Candidates Named in Several Districts—Convention Delegates.

The Bull Moose Party in the city held several Assembly District Conventions last night and nominated candidates for the Assembly, as well as delegates and alternates to the Bull Moose State Convention at Syracuse on Sept. 5 and 6.

In the Twenty-third Assembly District Henry S. Mansfield of 561 West 157th Street, a lawyer and former Democrat, was nominated for the Assembly and Joseph E. Savage as a member of the State Committee.

In the Thity-first Assembly District Michael Schapp, a lawyer and former Democrat, was nominated for the Assembly and Jacob J. Lesser for the State Committee. Schapp is a member of the New York County Lawyers' Association and the State and American Bar Associations. In the Sixteenth Assembly District James J. Murray of 341 East Forty-third Street, a former Democrat and lawyer, was nominated for the Assembly. District organizations in each of the districts was completed.

INDIANA PROGRESSIVE SPLIT.

Dearth of Candidates for County Offices Alarms Campaign Managers.

Special to The New York Times.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 19.—The State Central Committee of the Bull Moose Party met here this afternoon and to-night, and received reports from a majority of the districts represented by committeemen. The reports were not as optimistic as those submitted at former meetings and some of them were actually discouraging to the leaders.

In some of the counties the Progressives have refused to nominate separate county tickets, but have fused with the regulars, and in others they have nominated Democrats for positions on their tickets because they could not get Progressives to take the places. This has caused division in their ranks and many of the most radical are refusing to take any part in the campaign.

In the counties where fusion has been effected there is also dissatisfaction among the radicals, and it is said that similar conditions obtain in so many places that the situation is causing much concern.

FOUR MURDERED BY EX-BRITISH OFFICER

Capt. Hicks Murray Kills Wife and Three Children, Then Commits Suicide.

ALSO WOUNDS WIFE'S SISTER

Posed at Eastbourne as an American and Used an Assumed Name—Suffered Sunstroke in India.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—After killing his three children and his wife, and wounding his wife's sister, Capt. Hicks Murray, formerly of the Gordon Highlanders, last night piled the bodies of his four victims on a bed, saturated them with coal oil, and ignited them. He then committed suicide. The prompt arrival of the fire brigade saved the bodies.

The tragedy occurred at Eastbourne. Capt. Murray, who after his retirement from the army was connected with the Territorials, occupied a house under the name of Richard Charles Mackie, and posed as an American. The London afternoon newspapers did not discover his identity at first, and the American colony here was horrified by the ascription of the crime to an American.

An investigation disclosed a sordid story leading up to the tragedy. About eight years ago Capt. Murray became associated with Florence Taylor, a woman of respectable family, who bore him two children. He later married her sister, Edith, who bore him one child.

In the Eastbourne house Capt. Murray lived with Florence Taylor as Mr. and Mrs. Mackie. Their two children were with them. Last night Mrs. Murray went to the house with the Captain's legitimate child. Florence Taylor and her two children had retired. There was an argument, which ended by Capt. Murray shooting his wife dead.

After this he hurried to the room where Miss Taylor and her children had been awakened, and shot them. Miss Taylor managed to escape from the house in her night dress. Her cries brought the police, who rushed in, to find Capt. Murray dead, with a revolver in one hand and a can of petroleum in the other. The house was already afire.

In a vase the police found this note, unsigned:

"I am hopelessly ruined, and for this reason have killed all dependent on me. I should like all of us to be buried in one grave. God forgive me!"

The vase containing the note was found just inside the front door. In the vase was also $160 in British gold and silver coin. That the Captain was not in immediate financial difficulties was also shown by the fact that he had contracted to rent the house, which was an expensive one, for another fortnight.

Miss Taylor is in a local hospital, seriously wounded. She was visited there this afternoon by a third sister, who gave the first explanation of the tragedy. According to her, the two sisters whom Capt. Murray shot had not been unfriendly. She declared that Capt. Murray had suffered from sunstroke in India, and had once been confined in an asylum for nervous disease.

SUFFRAGISTS HOLD UP GREY.

Waylay Foreign Secretary as He Leaves Church—He Escapes in Car.

EMBLETON, Northumberland, Aug. 19.—A party of enterprising suffragettes waylaid and held up Sir Edward Grey, the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, while he was leaving church yesterday and engaged him in a warm argument on the question of woman suffrage.

Sir Edward at first said: "I refuse to discuss the question with you here," but the women declared that an opportunity for discussion had been denied to them elsewhere.

Sir Edward refused to receive a delegation of the women, whereupon one of them exclaimed: "How dared you betray the women's cause by allowing the Reform bill to be drafted to include men only?"

The Secretary replied that he had put down an amendment to the bill giving women the suffrage also.

"You know that amendment was of no use," a woman shouted.

Sir Edward replied: "You know nothing about parliamentary procedure or you wouldn't say that."

After further argument Sir Edward succeeded in escaping to his motor car, in which he dashed away.

OLYMPIC TO BE DOCKED.

But Fitting of New Propeller Blade Will Delay Her Only One Day.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—The departure of the White Star liner Olympic, which was scheduled to sail on Wednesday, Aug. 28, has been postponed until Aug. 29, as it has been decided to send the vessel to Belfast dry dock to be fitted with a new propeller blade in place of the one she lost in her last outward trip.

It was at first determined to wait until the ship's annual overhauling in November, but special arrangements have now been made to carry out the work expeditiously on the arrival of the Olympic next Saturday. All the passengers will be landed at Plymouth, so as to allow the immediate departure of the liner for Belfast.

Already more than 700 first cabin passengers have been booked to sail in the Olympic, which, in order to make up time, will not call at Queenstown.

The Celtic will also sail on Thursday, Aug. 29, according to schedule, but she will call at Queenstown.

Mrs. Flake's Jewel Disappears While She Is on a Walking Excursion.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

GENEVA, Aug. 19.—Mrs. Albert Flake of New York, while on a walking excursion from St. Moritz to the village of Oberalpina, lost a brooch set with six large diamonds and pearls worth $8,000.

She discovered the loss on her return to her hotel and is offering a large reward for the recovery of the jewel.

SULTAN'S HEIR SEEKS PEACE.

Yussuf's Visit to Switzerland Connected with the Negotiations.

PARIS, Aug. 19.—The approaching trip to Switzerland of Yussuf-Izzeddin, the heir presumptive to the Ottoman throne, is considered in well-informed circles here to be connected with peace negotiations with Italy, which, it is stated, are undoubtedly afoot.

A categorical statement which has appeared in the Paris papers to the effect that Signor Tittoni, the Italian Ambassador here, has been negotiating peace conditions with Turkish delegates at Montreux is denied. Ambassador Tittoni has not been to Switzerland. He is now at Dinard, and intends to return to the Italian Embassy here on Wednesday.

Albanian insurgents to the number of 1,500 have, according to the correspondent at Constantinople of The Daily Telegraph, already entered Salonica.

The correspondent at Belgrade of The Daily Telegraph says that the Albanian insurgents now demand the dismissal of Ibraham Pasha's commission and the substitution therefor of direct negotiations with the Constantinople Government.

LONDON, Tuesday, Aug. 20.—The British Government has accepted the Austro-Hungarian invitation to the Powers to exchange views regarding the position of the Balkan provinces of the Turkish Empire, for which Count Berchthold, the Austrian Foreign Minister, has proposed to endeavor to obtain gradual autonomy.

BRITAIN MAY NOT EXHIBIT.

Final Reply to Fair Invitation May Depend on Canal Legislation.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—The American Embassy to-day received a reply from the British Foreign Office to President Taft's invitation to the British Government to participate in the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

The Foreign Office is disposed to accept the invitation on principle, but its final decision in the matter will, it is stated, be influenced partly by the question if it is possible to arrive at a satisfactory settlement with the exposition authorities in regard to the accommodation to be provided for British exhibitors.

No hint is given in the reply of other influences which may affect the British decision, but it is evident that a loophole has been left for a refusal of the invitation on account of possible unfavorable Panama Canal legislation.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 19.—It is reported that Montenegrin troops to-day surrounded and entered the Albanian district of Berana, on the Montenegrin frontier, where a massacre of Christians by Mohammedan Arnauts has been in progress.

The fort, it is said, remains in the hands of the Turks.

MAYFLOWER FOR MEYER.

Navy Secretary to Use Taft's Yacht, the Dolphin Being Out of Gear.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Secretary Meyer of the Navy will have to use the Presidential yacht Mayflower for off-shore cruises in the coming Fall, owing to the condition of the old dispatch boat Dolphin, which for a long time has been the Secretary's cruising craft.

The Dolphin is very much run down, and it is even hinted that she is not seaworthy. She has been ordered to be extensively repaired at the New York Navy Yard.

GEN. BOOTH IS NOW IN GRAVE CONDITION

Head of Salvation Army Very Weak and His Nervous System Is Much Impaired.

KNOWS END MAY BE NEAR

Telegrams from All Over the World Assure Him of Perseverance in the Work of the Army.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—The condition of Gen. William Booth, Commander in Chief of the Salvation Army, is gradually becoming more serious. The bulletin issued from the sick chamber to-night said:

> Gen. Booth's condition is less satisfactory. There is a further loss of nervous control, which is accompanied by some decline in strength.

The aged Salvationist was operated on in May for the removal of a cataract in his left eye, and since that time he has been suffering from insomnia and weakness. A bulletin given out this morning read:

> Gen. Booth has not passed a good night, but his condition is not worse than it was yesterday.

Bramwell Booth, son of the General and Chief of Staff of the army, in an interview to-night said:

"The General's condition is very serious. He still has some reserve strength, but it has become greatly reduced during the last forty-eight hours, and lack of nervous control is showing itself in a more marked manner than heretofore. There is less perception of surroundings, a failure of appetite, and an increase of physical weakness, but, though the doctors are very doubtful, we still hope and pray for his recovery."

Gen. Booth is 83 years old.

A cable message received at the Salvation Army headquarters in New York yesterday afternoon was made public, as follows:

"The General's condition has been very weak during the past week. Nervous system much debilitated. Although heart and lungs are in good condition, there is grave cause for apprehension. Insomnia has been relieved, but it is feared advantages of this improvement were too long delayed.

"In times of calmness the General realizes seriousness of his breakdown, and spoke yesterday in very impressive manner of the promises of God. The Chief of Staff, Mrs. Booth, and Commissioner Lucy Hellberg are with him, and everything possible is being done to comfort him. Telegrams from every quarter have been received assuring him of united sympathy and resolute perseverance in the army's work."

A PARIS-BERLIN FLIGHT.

Swiss Airman Audemars Successful—May Have Won $20,000 Prize.

BERLIN, Aug. 19.—Edmund Audemars, the Swiss airman, to-day completed the first aeroplane trip from Paris to Berlin.

He arrived at the Johannisthal Aerodrome at 6:50 this evening, having made three intermediate landings and having rested during the night at Bochum.

Audemars started on Sunday on his trip of 535 miles to the German capital from Issy, five miles to the southwest of Paris. He was competing for a prize offered for the longest distance covered by an aeroplane in one day.

It was stated that a group of sportsmen had posted a prize of $20,000 for the first aviator who flew from Paris to Berlin.

German Navy to Have an Airship.

POPE DIDN'T LEAVE VATICAN.

Story That He Went to See His Sick Sister Is Officially Denied.

ROME, Aug. 19.—A statement circulated in the press here that the Pope went out of the Vatican to visit his sister Rosa, who was said to have suffered a stroke of paralysis, is officially denied at the Vatican.

The officials declare that the stroke suffered by the Pope's sister occurred in June and was of such a slight nature that it never caused any serious anxiety, which is proved by the fact that another sister and a niece of the Pope, who were caring for his sister Rosa, have left Rome and that Rosa has almost entirely recovered.

Schoolship Ranger at Lisbon.

LISBON, Aug. 19.—The United States schoolship Ranger arrived here to-day. A variety of entertainments, including a bull fight, has been arranged for the boys during their stay here.

James D. Hallen Pleads Guilty.

James D. Hallen, soldier of fortune and adventurer, who dashed Zelaya's dream of empire by a cartridge swindle in 1907, added another chapter to his varied career yesterday when he pleaded guilty before Judge Crain in General Sessions to grand larceny in the second degree. He was remanded to the Tombs for sentence on Aug. 23, charged with having passed a worthless check for $50 on Brokaw Brothers last September, receiving $44 worth of clothing and $6 in change.

TAKES 50 TO SEE PLAY.

Brooks Engages Saloon Car to Carry Party to Witness "Milestones."

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—Joseph Brooks, on behalf of Klaw & Erlanger, has carried out a novel experiment in connection with the forthcoming American production of "Milestones." He gave a trial performance at Southampton to-night with the English company which will open the play at the Blackstone Theatre, Chicago, on Sept. 23.

Klaw & Erlanger ran a special saloon car from London, taking a party of fifty, including Arnold Bennett and Edward Knoblauch, the authors of the play; George Ade, W. H. Crane, and a number of English and American newspaper men. Dinner was served on the train.

The performance went without a hitch and roused the audience to enthusiasm, auguring well for the success of the American production.

ARGENTINE RAILWAY DEAL.

American Bankers in It—$15,000,000 Worth of Shares Changes Hands.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Tuesday, Aug. 20.—The Times says it understands that yesterday a powerful syndicate of European and American capitalists, including Speyer Brothers, the Société Générale of Paris, Kuhn, Loeb & Co. of New York, and others, paid £3,000,000 ($15,000,000) to Percival Farquhar for the purchase of $15,000,000 worth of 6 per cent. preference shares of the Argentine Railways Company, an undertaking registered in the State of Maine.

The operation, says The Times, represents a further stage in the arrangements now progressing for consolidating certain Argentine and other South American railways.

DR. NOBLE IN AN ASYLUM.

Prominent Philadelphia Physician Committed at Ottawa, Canada.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 19.—Dispatches stating that Dr. Charles P. Noble of this city was held in an asylum for the insane in Canada gave his friends here the first intimation of the affliction of the physician, who ranked as one of the leading gynecologists of the day.

Dr. Noble followed Dr. Howard A. Kelley of Baltimore and Dr. Richard C. Norris as physician in charge at the Kensington Hospital for Women. He is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and the author of standard textbooks.

Dr. Noble began acting queerly several months ago. It was believed that his condition was the effect of overwork, and that rest would restore his health. Dr. Noble's practice was attended to by Dr. William Crosby, and many of his patients had no knowledge that the physician was in a sanitarium. It is learned that Dr. Noble was committed to the Ottawa Asylum for the Insane, suffering from "circular insanity," and that, as in the case of his brother, who was similarly afflicted, little hope is entertained for his recovery.

Special to The New York Times.

OTTAWA, Ontario, Aug. 19.—A fight for freedom is being waged in the Montreal courts by Dr. Charles Noble of Philadelphia, confined at the Verdun Hospital for the Insane since June 24 last, where, it is alleged, he was sent upon the motion of his son, Charles P. Noble, Jr., of New York City. The doctor was said to be suffering at the time from depressive insanity with periodic lapses into a highly excited and exalted state.

Upon a writ of habeas corpus procured by his attorney, Louis Loranger, K. C., Dr. Noble appeared before Justice Beaudin on Saturday last and presented a petition for release. The writ was returned this morning before Justice Demers, and the case postponed until next Thursday in order that counsel representing Mr. Noble, Jr., could prepare his case. A motion was also made on behalf of Dr. Noble that a commission of three doctors be appointed to examine him in order to determine whether he was insane or otherwise.

In his petition asking for freedom Dr. Noble states he came to Montreal to consult with Dr. Adams regarding professional matters, and that he was summarily placed in the asylum at the instigation of a brother, who, he says, is involved in the Steel Trust investigation. He asserts that it is on account of his knowledge of his brother's affairs, as well as for other family reasons, that he is being confined, and also that on a previous occasion he had been confined in an asylum in the States, but had been released on showing that he was in full possession of all his faculties.

Bogus Lieutenant Sentenced.

Alfred Leonard Frost, who misrepresented himself as a Lieutenant in the English Artillery to members of the Young Men's Christian Association at 215 West Twenty-third Street, and who was arrested last week in the association rooms charged with larceny, was yesterday sentenced to six months in the Penitentiary by the Justices in Part I. of Special Sessions.

MURDER OF DR. SUN A CHINESE RUMOR

San Francisco Young China Association Said to Have Received Telegram Telling of Death.

YUAN IS ASKED TO EXPLAIN

National Assembly Wants to Know Why Gens. Chang and Feng-Wei Were Summarily Executed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—Rumors that Dr. Sun Yat-Sen, recently Provisional President of China, had been assassinated to-day by soldiers of President Yuan Shi-Kai caused great excitement in Chinatown to-night.

The rumors could be traced to no authentic source, although it was asserted that the Young China Association received the news. Varying accounts of the alleged assassination were posted on bulletin boards throughout the Chinese quarter.

At the offices of the Chinese Consul General and the two Chinese daily newspapers no news of an attack upon Dr. Sun had been received, and the report of his death received little credence. Cablegrams were dispatched to Peking, however, inquiring as to the safety of the revolutionary leader.

According to the reports placarded in Chinatown, Dr. Sun left Shanghai for Peking yesterday, in order to try to save the republic from a threatened renewal of hostilities as a result of the execution of two southern Generals.

LONDON, Tuesday, Aug. 20.—Referring to the action of the Chinese National Assembly yesterday in demanding that President Yuan Shi-Kai make known the Government's reasons for executing Gens. Chang and Feng-Wei, the correspondent at Peking of The Daily Telegraph says:

"It is believed by observers of the situation that Yuan Shi-Kai at last has managed astutely to ruin Li Yuen-Hung, the Vice-President of the Republic, who was his one possible rival."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—At the Chinese Legation here nothing is known of the reported assassination of Dr. Sun Yat-Sen.

PEKING, Aug. 19.—The Chinese National Assembly, at a stormy meeting, today resolved by 52 votes against 11 to present a petition to President Yuan Shi-Kai demanding a further explanation of the evidence on which Gen. Chang Tsen-Chu and Gen. Feng-Wei, who were members of Dr. Sun Yat-Sen's party, were seized and summarily executed.

The petition sets forth five of the charges which the Government stated in a manifesto were proved, and adds rebutting comment. It requests President Yuan Shi-Kai to answer within three days, and says that if his reply should be unsatisfactory the National Assembly will summon him to explain in person. If his personal explanation should prove unsatisfactory, then the House will impeach the President or the whole Chinese Government.

EAGER FOR PRIZE CANNON.

Senators Want Many from War Department, Inspired by O'Gorman.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The effort of Senator O'Gorman this afternoon to obtain from the War Department two condemned field pieces for use at the unveiling of the statue of Gen. Sullivan causes a flood of similar requests from other Senators, with the result that when the bill finally passed the Senate donations of about 100 pieces of artillery had been provided. The bill was an omnibus measure containing a provision for the turning over to the State of New York of the cannon captured by Gen. Burgoyne at the Battle of Saratoga.

No sooner was the bill read than amendments began to come. Senators from nearly every State rose and, amid laughter, added the name of some park in some city of their State as a proper place for two condemned brass field pieces. By the time these amendments had gone half the circuit of the chamber the demand was increased to four cannon by Mr. Bacon of Georgia. He explained that the State Capitol had four corners and that each corner needed its cannon. The amendment was agreed to, and after that all other amendments asked for four pieces.

Senators could be seen hastily studying the maps of their native States searching for an appropriate place to receive the supposedly unlimited supply of artillery. Mr. Smoot added to the general provisions already made one for a sufficient supply of cannon balls. That amendment was also accepted. Senator John Sharp Williams still did not have time to think of any suitable place in Mississippi, so he offered his amendment with the name blank "to be supplied hereafter." That amendment closed the discussion. The bill was passed without division.

HAS NEVER SEEN HIS MOTHER

Philadelphian, 36 Years Old, Asks Paris Paper to Help Find Her.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

PARIS, Aug. 19.—The following letter, mailed in Philadelphia, has been received by the newspaper Excelsior:

> Gentlemen: Will you please help me to find my mother. I am 36 years old and have never seen her. All I know is that she lives in Paris, but I have not her address. My grandmother brought me to Philadelphia when I was only 3 years old. She died shortly afterward, leaving me no information about my mother beyond her name, Minnie von Deniken.
>
> My name is Charles Deniken. I am married and have five children. My address is 3,013 Livingston Street, Port Richmond, Philadelphia.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 19.—Charles Deniken, who owns a grocery store at 3013 Livingston Street, Port Richmond, is making a search in two continents for his mother, whom he has never seen. He is also anxious to find a cousin, who is believed to be living up-State. This cousin is thought to know where his mother lives.

Mr. Deniken said to-night: "My grandmother was of German extraction, and a native of Geneva. She educated her two daughters, my mother and my aunt, to become governesses. My mother, who spoke seven languages, held a situation in a French family. She then retired to marry a French cavalryman. Three years after my birth my father was killed by a fall from his horse, and my mother again sought a situation. In the emergency my grandmother took charge of me and brought me to America. She opened a boarding house in this city. Not until I was 10 years old did I learn that she was not my mother.

"When I was twenty-one my grandmother died in a hospital. When she was stricken she sent for me, and, according to the Sister of the hospital, she was very anxious to tell me something, probably the whereabouts of my mother, but she lost consciousness before I arrived at her bedside."

TO CELEBRATE MASSACRE.

New Ulm, Minn., Observes 50th Anniversary of Slaughter by Indians.

NEW ULM, Minn., Aug. 19.—The celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the Indian massacre, which took place in August, 1862, opened here to-day and will continue during the week. The town is filled with visitors.

Of the residents of New Ulm who participated in the defense half a century ago, only twenty-five are living. They have been made honorary members of the Reception Committee.

A feature of the celebration will be the marking of two buildings with tablets. One was used as a refuge for women and children, where hundreds were huddled in the small basement. The other is now occupied as a hotel and was used as a hospital by the late Dr. Mayo of Rochester, Minn., who came here to assist in the care of the wounded after the fearful slaughter by the Indians.

A party of Indians is expected later today from the lower Sioux Agency at Morton, Minn., the site occupied by the Indians in 1862, and from which point the outbreak radiated. They will set up a village, which will be one of the places of interest during the week.

Life Savers Rescue Schooner's Crew.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Life savers of the new Green Hill Station, R. I., made a heroic rescue to-day of the crew of five men of the schooner R. L. Tay, lumber laden, from Bangor, Me., for New York, and wrecked off the Rhode Island coast. The Green Hill station was opened Aug. 1.

A SYSTEM

The Thompson-Starrett organization is not a hypothesis, a conjecture, a scheme, a speculation, a supposition, nor a theory.

It is a system which unites all the available facts and phenomena of building construction into an orderly and consistent whole.

It bears that relation to obsolete methods that a finished building bears to raw materials.

And it has demonstrated its superiority by the consistent Quality, Speed and Economy of its performances.

WRANGLE ON SIX-YEAR TERM.

Williams and Borah Debate Wilson's and Roosevelt's Views.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The first attempt of the Senate to debate the Works resolution for a single six-year term for President and Vice President plunged that body to-day into another open discussion of the political situation. Senator Cummins made the chief speech in support of the resolution, but it was interpolated with a running fire of comment from Progressives, Republicans, and Democrats. Before its conclusion the brief debate became an issue between Senator Borah of Idaho, Republican, and Senator Williams of Mississippi, Democrat, as to whether Col. Roosevelt or Gov. Wilson had been guilty of greater indiscretion in the use of language in their writings of recent years.

Senator Borah read from one of Gov. Wilson's works to show that the Democratic candidate had favored long tenure of the Presidential office.

"The Governor has indorsed the Baltimore platform," said Senator Williams.

"He may yield to his platform, but I doubt if he yields his judgment," said Senator Borah.

"I think the Senator will admit," retorted Senator Williams, "that Gov. Wilson has never written more recklessly than Theodore Roosevelt."

"If the Colonel has written some things which he ought not to have written," replied Senator Borah, "he has written a great many things for which the public is indebted to him."

Senator Williams declared Gov. Wilson had never said anything unkind about the men who had been Presidents of the United States since its foundation.

"I offer a good $2.50 chromo to any one," he said, "who will show me any comment made by Col. Roosevelt of any President, except Abraham Lincoln and himself, which was in any way complimentary."

Senator Williams proposed a constitutional amendment, as a substitute for the Works resolution, limiting a President to two terms of four years each.

The six-year term resolution split the insurgent and Progressive ranks of the Republicans. Senators Cummins, Works, Borah, and others advocated it, while Senators Clapp, Crawford, and Bristow found strong arguments against it.

The proposed amendment would not be effective until the Presidential election following its ratification by three-fourths of the State Legislatures.

BULL MOOSE PARTY USELESS, SAYS WILSON

Whatever Need There Was for It Was Met, He Says, by the Baltimore Convention.

TALKS TO 10,000 GERMANS

Visits Headquarters Here and Spends the Night at a Club—Two Narrow Escapes in His Auto.

Supplementing his declaration of Saturday that the Bull Moose Party was born of a feeling that the people had gone into blind alleys often enough in following the old political leadership and were determined to open a new road for themselves, Gov. Woodrow Wilson declared yesterday before 5,000 German picnickers at Schuetzen Park, near Hoboken, that a battle was fought at Baltimore which left the Democratic Party free from the bosses and made it an organized force capable of carrying out every just demand of the people.

Gov. Wilson held that the Bull Moose Party, while it might have been considered to be necessary before the Baltimore Convention, was rendered useless and unnecessary by that convention, and was not likely, for that very reason, to menace his own party's success at the polls in November.

"Nobody owns me and the men on the ticket with me," said Gov. Wilson. "I not only have not made a promise to any man, but no man has dared to ask me to make a promise. My ears are free, therefore, to hear the counsels of my fellow-citizens. I am entering upon this campaign not only with hope of victory, but with an absolute confidence. I know that the people of this country have determined to take possession of their own affairs, in order that their own thoughts may be translated into the affairs of government."

Gov. Wilson had a chat yesterday morning with Charles F. Grasty, publisher of The Baltimore Sun, who brought him enthusiastic assurances of a clean sweep in Maryland. In the afternoon he went to Schuetzen Park, at Union Hill, as the guest of the Plattdeutsch Volksfest Vereen, a charitable organization of 10,000 members, which was holding its thirty-eighth annual outing, and in the evening he came to New York to look over for the first time since he became a candidate the headquarters of the Democratic National Committee and the Campaign Committee.

In the private office of Henry Morgenthau, Chairman of the Campaign Committee's Finance Committee, Gov. Wilson spent the evening in conference with Mr. Morgenthau and the Treasurer, Rolla Wells. The three went over in detail the plans that have been devised to obtain the necessary funds in such a way as to leave no strings attached to any portion of them and still to provide adequately for all necessary expenses.

"I was greatly pleased," said Gov. Wilson, after the conference had concluded, "at the fine shape in which I found everything at headquarters. I particularly enjoyed my visit with the men who are preparing the campaign textbook. I found they were sending out the very last sheets of the proof, and that indicated fine progress."

Governor, in Auto, Has Two Escapes

Gov. Wilson left the National Headquarters at 9:30 o'clock, his intention being to sleep at one of the city's clubs and to leave on an 8 o'clock train this morning for Trenton, where he is to be the guest of the Mercer County Wilson and Marshall Club at an outing at the State Fair Grounds.

In his entrance into New York by automobile yesterday Gov. Wilson had two thrilling moments, occasioned by a taxicab in front of the Hotel Knickerbocker and a street car at the corner of Forty-second Street and Fifth Avenue. The taxicab darted out in front of the Governor's automobile while it was eastbound on Forty-second Street from the Weehawken ferry at 6 o'clock P. M. The Governor's chauffeur jammed on the emergency brake just in time to avoid a collision, and as it was he jolted his passengers out of their seats.

In turning north into Fifth Avenue a westbound street car disputed the Governor's right of way, and the motorman drove the street car within eighteen inches of the automobile before clamping on the brakes. Men in autos following the Governor arose and tried to shout a warning, as they thought for an instant a collision would be inevitable.

Gov. Wilson's appearance at Union Hill before the German picnickers was the signal for an outburst of applause that lasted half an hour and afterward broke loose at such frequent intervals that the Governor was unable to go ahead with the speech he had intended to make. Four German bands intervened so often that the Governor was finally driven in defeat from the platform. He arrived at Schutzen Park at 4:30 P. M.

For the three-mile automobile ride from the nearest railroad station to Schutzen Park Mayor Wittpenn of Jersey City and Sheriff Wedin of Hudson County, rival and always militant leaders, were on hand with separate groups of enthusiasts and strings of automobiles.

Sheriff Wedin was first to grasp the Governor's hand, and so he shoved him into his own automobile. His followers crowded close, and it was not until ten automobiles got under way that the Jersey City Mayor was able to gain a place in line.

"I have sometimes protested against speaking of German-Americans and Irish-Americans," commenced Gov. Wilson, "Because"—but at that point a German band in a far distant corner of the grounds began its blare, and the Governor simply had to wait.

"It seems to me we might as well have no hyphenated Americans," the Governor explained between cheers and interruptions, "because after you have gone through the catalogue those of us who are left constitute a comparatively small number, and if you are going to give special labels to the majority of Americans, how are you going to label the minority.

"It is merely a question of a comparative length of time when any of us came from the older countries to this side of the water, and I want to say that it seems to me America has been peculiarly enriched by the admixture of blood, which has constituted her the country that she is.

America Must Be Kept Free.

"America has never grown old. America is for the world in 1912 just exactly what she was in the days of her settlement. I have great admiration for your distinguished German Emperor, and yet at the same time I know why you came to these shores. You came to seek a free field for your energies that you realized could be obtained nowhere where government is bound by the restrictions of classes. It is that America stands for in the view of the world just as she did at her beginning.

"Our responsibility is to see that America is the country she is supposed to be by those who have not yet come to it. We have to ask ourselves, Is this a country where every man may become anything his gifts and energies make possible? If this is a free field are we keeping it free? If this is the home of political liberty are we seeing to it that political liberty is unspoiled? If we are not we are not true Americans.

"It is just about two years since I began my campaign for Governor in New Jersey, and I remember that my first audiences looked at me with a very critical eye and seemed to say: 'Does this academic person know what he is talking about? By degrees, I am proud to say, it began to dawn upon them that perhaps he did know what he was talking about and that perhaps if he were given a chance he had just so little experience in politics that he would actually undertake to do what he said he would undertake to do.

"These men who knew the inside of politics said 'it is not possible.' It seemed to me at that time, and it seems to me now, that the inside of politics is so much smaller than the outside that all that is required is for the people outside to storm the inside and they will get what they want.

"I am not use to competing with a band," Gov. Wilson said when the music became intolerably loud, "but the band quite fully expresses my own feeling of affairs. A band is not intellectual, but it is very spiriting. It affects the emotions, and I am ready to follow a band—after the fifth of November."

In leaving Schuetzen Park a squad of motor-cycle policemen cleared a way for Gov. Wilson and incidentally identified him to the multitudes along the street, so that his progress toward the Weehawken Ferry was on triumphal march. But once Manhattan Isle was reached all this changed. A traffic policeman at Broadway and Forty-second Street waved the Governor's car a signal to stop, and then he sent a furniture van across its pathway on Seventh Avenue and directed a milk wagon to go northward on Broadway before the car could proceed. Gov. Wilson said he would not try to see National Chairman McCombs while here, as McCombs had been forbidden by his physician to talk politics, and it was hard enough to make him restrain himself without having political visitors to further incite him.

McADOO OFF FOR INDIANA.

Not Surprised at Attitude of Barnes and Vanderlip.

Acting Chairman William G. McAdoo of the Democratic National Committee, accompanied by Secretary Joseph E. Davies and Col. Robert Ewing of Louisiana, left for Indianapolis yesterday afternoon, where they are to attend to-day as representatives of the committee the ceremony of notification of Gov. Thomas R. Marshall of his nomination for Vice President. The notification speech will be made by Alton B. Parker. In the McAdoo party were Democratic State Chairman Evans of South Carolina, Democratic State Chairman Warren of West Virginia, and Senator Watson of West Virginia.

Before leaving Mr. McAdoo said that he had not yet received an answer from any bank or trust company to his proposal that the banks receive popular subscriptions to the campaign funds of the various parties.

"I suppose some days will elapse before I hear from the banks," said Mr. McAdoo. "The attitude of Mr. Barnes and of Mr. Vanderlip of the National City Bank is not altogether a surprise to me. I expect that lots of people will throw bricks at my plan, but I still look upon it as a good one."

At the National Bull Moose headquarters, in the Hotel Manhattan, it was stated that the organization would be glad to avail itself of the services of banks and trust companies as a collecting medium for the campaign. State Chairman William H. Hotchkiss of the Bull Moose Party said that he did not believe the plan would be acceptable to the banks.

"All the banks and trust companies I ever had anything to do with," he said, "were out to make money, and were very shy on patriotism."

Some newspapers, without quoting Mr. Daniels, printed a list of States, including Nebraska, Colorado, and Utah, as being among the States Mr. Daniels had in mind a few days ago, when he said not more than ten States would go for Taft. Yesterday Mr. Daniels announced that he was receiving no end of angry letters and telegrams from men actively engaged in politics, and from newspaper editors from these States, protesting against the assumption that they would be in the Republican column. The protests from Nebraska, Utah, and Colorado, he said, were especially spirited.

Chairman William F. McCombs of the Democratic National Committee is still prevented by illness from resuming his duties; but it was said at headquarters yesterday that he was continuing to improve, and probably would be at his desk in a week or so.

JOHN J. HOPPER FOR WILSON.

Cedes the Right of Fellow-Leaguers to Do as They Please.

State Chairman John J. Hopper of the Independence League announced yesterday that he would support Woodrow Wilson for President.

"I am speaking only for myself," said Mr. Hopper in making the announcement. "There is no reason why members of the league, while uniting on some plan for propagating the principles it has stood for in this State, should not follow their own individual preferences when it comes to the National ticket."

A majority of the Independence Leaguers were independent Democrats of the kind to which Gov. Wilson's candidacy has appealed strongly. At the same time some of the followers of the Hearst fortunes are enrolling with the Bull Moose Party.

Mr. Hopper said it was too early to announce any plans for the Independence League's State campaign, and none had been decided upon. The league is not strong numerically any more, but its strength in the last Gubernatorial campaign, when Mr. Hopper was the candidate for Governor, was sufficient to assure the organization a place on the ballot this year. It is not improbable, according to members of the league, that it may combine with the anti-Tammany organizations in the Democratic Party should the latter consider it necessary or desirable to place a separate ticket in the field.

To Confer with Hilles.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Republican members of the House to-day received telegrams from Chairman Hilles inviting them to a general conference with him to-morrow.

OBJECT TO RECEIVING CAMPAIGN FUNDS

Bankers Say if Banks Were Used for Such a Purpose Even the Socialists Would Profit.

FEW FAVOR THE SCHEME

Some Suggest That Post Offices Would Be Proper Agencies, but This Would Require Act of Congress.

Sentiment among bankers in this city yesterday seemed to be generally opposed to the plan of Gov. Wilson's campaign managers for using the banks of the country as agencies for the reception and forwarding of funds for the several political parties, although they were averse to having their names used in connection with the discussion. The need of some agency for this purpose, now that plans for popular subscriptions are taking the place of the "fat-frying" operations of former years with the big corporations as their victims, was recognized, but the bankers did not regard their institutions as the proper ones for the purpose.

One suggestion that was made was that the Post Offices might better be used, and it was argued that they were even more widely distributed than banks, and would, therefore, fulfill the desired function more comprehensively. It would, of course, be necessary for Congress to enact legislation authorizing Postmasters to receive and forward political contributions before they could do so, so that this suggestion was without reference to the present campaign, and was put forward with regard to the future.

Several of the bankers who discussed the matter were just as much opposed to the use of the Post Offices as to that of the banks, taking the ground that it was the business of the political committees to look after their own affairs, without the intervention of either financial or governmental agencies.

"The whole idea is improper," said the head of one big financial institution. "The banks would gladly assist in the collection of funds for any benevolent purpose, but political campaign funds are not in that class. Helping to collect them is not in any sense a public service. The less the banks have to do with them the better. It would not be possible to draw the line between any of the parties, and a bank would have to accept funds for the Socialists as well as Republicans, Democrats, and Progressives. It would be a queer proposition for a bank to hang up a sign announcing that it would receive and forward funds for the Socialist Party, but I don't see how they could avoid it if they took money for the others. There is just as much sense in proposing that Post Offices should do this work as in proposing that the banks should, and that is none at all."

The President of one of the trust companies took the opposite view, although he conceded that the preponderance of opinion among bankers was against the Wilson proposal. He was not influenced by its source, as he is a Republican.

"I can see no valid objection to the scheme," he said. "Those that have been pointed out are trivial, relating chiefly to the clerical work involved. If the Chamber of Commerce asked the banks to receive and forward funds for flood sufferers, they would be quite willing to do so. It is on a similar basis that this proposal is made. The assumption is that the money is to be used for legitimate purposes in the education of the voter on the questions of the day, and the banks would be fulfilling a public function and doing a public service in acting.

"People would be induced to contribute by the knowledge that their money would reach the proper hands. If I wanted to make a contribution now I wouldn't be sure to which party official I should send it. The banks would find this out, and if the bank where I keep my personal account should undertake to forward funds I would be much more likely than I am to make a contribution.

"In doing this work the bank would simply be extending an accommodation to its customers or possible customers, and that would recompense it for the labor involved. Of course the money would not be in the banks' hands long enough for there to be any advantage from that direction."

In discussing the subject, one banker commented on the indication of how political funds are sometimes expended that is offered by the number of small checks, presented for payment the day after an election.

"Only at Christmas time," said he, "are there so many $1 and $2 checks, and the inference is that the purchase of votes at these rates is not entirely a thing of the past."

REPORT A WILSON SCARE.

Taft Committee Quotes Lloyd's as Insuring Against Hard Times.

The Campaign Committee of the Republican National Committee issued a statement yesterday to the effect that manufacturers of Great Britain and the United States had asked Lloyds of London for extra insurance against loss in the event of the election of Gov. Wilson "as a safeguard against the inevitable hard times coincident to a Democratic administration at Washington."

"Already the London concern, through its New York agent, H. N. Townsend of 3 South William Street," says the statement, "has issued policies of this nature to manufacturers in this country, and figures from the other side show that Directors of large industries in the 'mother' country have sought similar protection." Mr. Townsend is then quoted as follows:

> The election of a Democratic President means a revision of the tariff downward. In the event of such legislation even the layman can easily understand the enormous loss the manufacturer will suffer. Thousands of dollars in stock already on hand will lose its present value.
> I cannot account for the heavy application for insurance of policies of this sort in England unless they come from manufactories under American control. On the other hand, it may be a desire on the part of the policyholder to wager on the outcome of the Administration.

Cable dispatches from London recently reported Lloyds as quoting rates of insurance against "bad trade" due to the electioin of Wilson. The reports failed to make clear how many persons were taking out such policies and how they would be affected, and were received here with considerable reserve. It is a fact that Lloyds, on demand, will quote an insurance rate on any proposition on request without looking too closely into the identity of the persons making it or the reasons behind the inquiry.

The League of Republican Clubs, of which John Hays Hammond is President and B. B. Atherton, Secretary, opened headquarters yesterday in Suite 301 of the Times Building. Mr. Hammond will devote a great deal of his time from now until election to the work of the league, and will be at headquarters as much as possible. He said yesterday that advices received by him from every section of the country where Republican clubs were organized indicated a spirit to go into the fight to win and to see to it that the principles of the Republican Party were presented to the people clearly and forcibly. Mr. Atherton will have direct supervision of the active work of the league.

MEET TO NOTIFY MARSHALL.

Parker and McAdoo Prominent on Committee Gathering in Indianapolis.

Special to The New York Times.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 19.—Democrats of prominence from many States began arriving here to-day to be present to-morrow at the official notification of Gov. Thomas R. Marshall of his nomination for Vice President.

Among the first arrivals were Gardiner Green of Pell City, Ala., and Charles B. Cook of Richmond, Va., both members of the Notification Committee. S. O. Woodford of Eureka Springs, Ark., another member of the Notification Committee, also reached Indianapolis to-day. From the National Committee there were Judge Alton B. Parker of New York, William G. McAdoo, Vice Chairman; J. E. Davies of Wisconsin, Lewis Nixon of New York, and Robert Ewing of the National Headquarters.

Senator Gore of Oklahoma and James Lloyd, Chairman of the Democratic Congressional Committee, were other prominent arrivals of the day. The remaining visitors from beyond the State will come to-morrow morning. Those of the Notification and National Committees and other prominent guests were informally entertained this afternoon and evening with automobile rides.

Definite word has been received from Gov. Harmon that he will not attend the ceremonies. The Ohio Governor is in Michigan with a battalion of the Ohio National Guard, and notified the committee that he could not come. Chairman McCombs of the National Committee made a special effort to have Gov. Harmon be present. No changes have been made in the arrangements for the ceremonies, except that the list of guests at the luncheon to be given by Thomas Taggart at the Hotel Dennison at noon Tuesday has been extended to include the State officials and members of the local General Arrangements Committee.

Kindred Not to Run Again.

Congressman J. J. Kindred, who represents the Ninth Congressional District, comprising the greater part of Queens County, at Washington yesterday sent a letter to Borough President Maurice E. Connolly, who is the Democratic State Committeeman from his district, declining to again be a candidate for renomination to his present position because of a press of private business.

MAINE LEANS TO WILSON.

Republican Split Helps Democrats—State Election on Sept. 9.

Special to The New York Times.

BATH, Me., Aug. 19.—Republican leaders fear that Maine will go for Wilson. This State sent Roosevelt delegates to the Republican Convention in Chicago, and a large proportion of the members of the party were disappointed at the nomination of Taft, and while many would have been willing to support Roosevelt rather than Taft, there are hundreds who believe that a compromise candidate could have carried the State. They now feel that the present split will result in the choice of Wilson Electors in November. Every effort is being made by the Republicans to keep National issues out until after the State election and to prevent a clash between the Taft and Roosevelt forces which would endanger their chances of success in carrying the State on Sept. 9.

The liquor question, which has been the bone of contention through many campaigns, is not receiving its customary attention this year. The reported utterances of Gov. Wilson on local option have struck a favorable chord among the members of his own party and with a great many Republicans. Indications now are that Gov. Plaisted will be re-elected in September, and that for the first time since the birth of the Republican Party this State's Electoral vote will be cast for the Democracy in November.

WARNS AGAINST ROOSEVELT.

Southern Methodist Bishop Tells Negroes to Vote Straight Party Ticket.

Special to The New York Times.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 19.—Bishop Joshua H. Jones, former head of Wilberforce University and at present in charge of the ninth district of the African Methodist Church in Tennessee, advises all negroes to steer clear of Roosevelt and his third party movement, declaring that personally he would rather vote for the late Jefferson Davis, as he, at least, was sincere in what he attempted.

"Mr. Roosevelt, instead of being a great, conscientious stateman, with Abraham Lincoln and George Washington as his patron saints," said the Bishop, "is merely a politician with a boundless greed for office and glory; swapping horses in any stream that promises to allow him to ride to his goal. He is neither a Republican after the manner of Lincoln, a Democrat after the manner of Champ Clark, nor a Progressive after the manner of La Follette.

"His political inconsistencies and political catch-all profession of faith delivered in Chicago will neither fool the negroes of the North nor the white Democrats of the South.

"I believe it is the religious duty of every negro who votes to teach Mr. Roosevelt once for all that he cannot slap them in the face with one hand and pat them on the back with the other, by voting straight either for Taft or Wilson."

Sereno E. Payne Has Two Opponents

AUBURN, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Wilson M. Gould of Newark was nominated this afternoon by the Progressive Party to oppose Sereno E. Payne for Congress. Despite efforts of the followers of E. Clarence Aiken, who is opposing Mr. Payne inside the Republican Party and who has a place on the primary blank, to have the Progressives indorse Mr. Aiken they declined to fuse, and Mr. Gould was named.

PROSECUTOR FACH SHOT BY A WOMAN

Mrs. Edmunds, Wife of a Dentist, Attacks Richmond District Attorney in His Office.

SHE HAD MARITAL TROUBLE

And Thought the District Attorney Wasn't Diligent in Proceedings Against Her Husband.

Albert C. Fach, District Attorney of Richmond County, was shot and dangerously wounded yesterday morning by Mrs. Elizabeth M. Edmunds, a former client, who complained that the District Attorney had not prosecuted a case, in which she was interested, to her satisfaction. Mr. Fach is in the Smith Infirmary in a critical condition, sufferng from three bullet wounds, one of which pierced a lung, another the right shoulder, and the third the right leg near the foot. The doctors say the condition of Mr. Fach is serious and that twenty-four hours must elapse before they can make a prediction as to the outcome. In the meantime Mrs. Edmunds is held a prisoner in the Richmond County Jail.

Mr. Fach reached his office soon after 9 o'clock yesterday and was in the act of opening his morning mail when Mrs. Edmunds, who is the wife of Dr. John M. Edmunds, a Manhattan dentist with offices in Sixth Avenue near Thirty-fifth Street, entered his office. No one besides the District Attorney and herself were in the room. A short, heated conversation followed, in the course of which Mrs. Edmunds upbraided the District Attorney for his failure to convict her husband in a recent suit she instituted against Dr. Edmunds for abandonment.

Mr. Fach was facing the door when Mrs. Edmunds came in unannounced. He was in his shirt sleeves. In his statement to Coroner William H. Jackson, given shortly after his removal to the Smith Infirmary, Mr. Fach gave a brief account of the shooting. He said he had been at his desk only a few minutes when he heard the door quietly opened, and, looking up, saw Mrs. Edmunds. She closed the door and walked up to within a few feet of him, greeting him with a rather cold "good morning," and Mr. Fach responded in kind.

"What are you doing about my case?" Mrs. Edmunds asked.

"There is nothing that I can do," Mr. Fach answered. "Your husband, as you know, was acquitted of the charge of abandonment and the case is out of my hands."

Mr. Fach then said that before he realized what was in the woman's mind she had taken a pistol from a small satchel that she was carrying.

"She said something about having a present for me," Mr. Fach said, "and reaching into the satchel got the pistol and began firing. She was only a few feet away, but the desk was between us and I was unable to get to her. I got up and tried to catch her by the arm and turn the pistol away from me, but she was too quick and I could not reach her in time."

When arraigned before Magistrate Marsh in the Stapleton Police Court Mrs. Edmunds said that she had not intended to shoot the District Attorney. She said that Mr. Fach had threatened her and that not until then did she lose conrol of herself and shoot him. She said she hoped Mr. Fach was not badly hurt.

"It was his own fault," she said, "because he threatened to throw me out of his office."

In answer to a question Mrs. Edmunds said she had been in the habit of carrying a pistol because of insults that men had offered her.

Mrs. Edmunds had sought refuge in the office of a Dr. Pence on the second floor of the building in which the shooting occurred. There she seated herself in a chair and waited developments. In a few minutes Policemen McKittrick and Considine came in. She was very cool and readily admitted that she was the person they sought. She quietly accompanied them to the police station.

In the meantime Mr. Fach had been removed to the office of Dr. Morse, in the Staten Island Savings Bank Building. He was unconscious and an ambulance was called from the Smith Infirmary. When he recovered consciousness Coroner Jackson was permitted to get his antemortem statement. Late yesterday afternoon it was said that Mr. Fach probably had a chance for his life.

Mrs. Edmunds is a daughter of Capt. Richard Henry, an officer of the Fifth Royal Dragoons of the British Army. She and Dr. Edmunds met about five years ago in California and were married soon afterward. They came to New York and made their home on Staten Island, where they lived happily until 1909. Then came the separation. Several times after the separation Mrs. Edmunds had her husband in Magistrates' courts on charges of non-support, but on each occasion the charges were dismissed.

At one time Dr. Edmunds owned about forty acres of land in Staten Island, half of which he is said to have made over to his wife at the time of their marriage. Mrs. Edmunds, it is said, mortgaged her part of the land, Mr. Fach being her attorney in that transaction.

The marital troubles of the Edmundses have figured in the Supreme Court of this city, but no Justice granted the separation asked for by Mrs. Edmunds.

ENTERS WRONG FLAT, FIGHTS

Ex-Assemblyman Toombs and Tenant Engage in Rough-and-Tumble.

Following a struggle in the apartment of Dade Roughton, at 5 West Eighty-fifth Street, early to-day, a man who described himself as Frederick Toombs, 31 years of age, an attorney and formerly a member of the New York State Assembly, living in that address, was locked up in the West Sixty-eighth Street Station on a charge of assault.

According to Roughton Toombs entered his apartment shortly after 1 o'clock this morning and was mistaken by Mrs. Roughton for a burglar. Her screams awoke her husband. Roughton demanded the intruder's business. Toombs, thinking he was in his own apartment, which is on the floor above, demanded to know what Roughton and his wife were doing in his "rooms.

Roughton told the police he was getting out of bed when Toombs struck him in the face. Mrs. Roughton ran screaming into the third floor hallway. Her cries of "burglars" were heard by Policeman Crimmins, and by the other tenants, and when the policeman ran into the vestibule of the house his ears were assailed with the screaming of a dozen women.

"A burglar is killing my husband upstairs!" hysterically cried Mrs. Roughton.

Crimmins, as he dashed into the bedroom, saw two men struggling on the floor. One was pounding the other's head against the hardwood floor. Crimmins subdued the intruder. The gas was lighted and Toombs decided he was not in his own apartment.

Apologies were in order, but Roughton directed the police to conduct the prisoner to the West Sixty-eighth Street Station. Roughton went to the Roosevelt Hospital, where it was found he was suffering from a possible fracture of the nose.

WINS FIGHT FOR HER CHILD.

Mrs. Cameron Promises to Take Her Daughter Back to School.

Mrs. Elizabeth B. Cameron, who divorced her first husband, William Henry Welsh of Washington, D. C., and obtained a legal separation last year from her second, Duncan Ewen Cameron, son of the late Sir Robert McLead Cameron, won her fight in the Supreme Court yesterday for the custody of her seven-year-old daughter, Elizabeth Ann Welsh.

Mrs. Cameron was brought before Justice Dugro yesterday, together with her daughter, on a writ of habeas corpus sworn out by Mr. Welsh. It was charged that she had taken her daughter from the Holy Cross Academy of Washington last Wednesday, although the child had been placed there in accordance with an order of the Washington courts, approved by the mother.

Mr. Welsh, who is an architect, said Mrs. Cameron was not a fit person to take care of his daughter. Several witnesses were produced before Justice Dugro to say that Mrs. Cameron was addicted to the use of stimulants, and that she had been intoxicated on the train coming from Washington to New York with the child.

Justice Dugro questioned the mother as to what she would do with her daughter if the court left her in her charge.

"I will take her right back to the Holy Cross Academy," declared Mrs. Cameron warmly, "provided always that I am not interfered with by any person."

On the basis of this promise Justice Dugro delivered the little girl into the formal custody of her mother, dismissing the writ.

WITNESSES' LIPS SEALED.

Hold-Up Man's Mother Said to Have Threatened Them.

Peter Powers, 20 years old, of 1,873 Second Avenue, and Joseph Kearns, 19 years old, of 364 Third Avenue, were convicted of robbery in the first degree before Judge Mulqueen in General Sessions yesterday afternoon and remanded to the Tombs for sentence on Friday. They were convicted of having robbed and assaulted Antonio Bilancia, employed by the Dennis Scully Restaurant at 522 Second Avenue, on May 13. They attacked Bilancia at Twenty-fifth Street and Second Avenue, striking him over the head with an iron pipe wrapped up in a newspaper, and taking the receipts of the restaurant, which he was carrying to the Fifth National Bank at Twenty-eighth Street and Third Avenue. They obtained $50 in cash, two checks for $17.50 and $5 respectively, and the bankbook.

Three witnesses, Mrs. T. E. Tell, Harris Marks, and Mrs. Youngford, refused to identify the prisoners, although it was through Mrs. Youngford's description that the arrests were made. She had seen the men coming from the cellar of her home at 327 East Twenty-fourth Street, and later found the discarded bankbook therein. It was said that these witnesses had been warned by Kearns's mother not to say anything detrimental to her son on pain of being shot.

Judge Mulqueen ordered a thorough investigation to be made by Assistant District Attorneys Murphy and Press as to the truth of this report. Both men are second offenders. Powers was convicted last week of carrying a revolver without a permit. He will be sentenced on that charge later in the month.

ROB NEAR HEADQUARTERS.

Thieves Get $300 in Loot by Raid on Grand Street Building.

Some time between nightfall and dawn Sunday burglars cut through the roof of the six-story building at 176-178 Grand Street and stole $300 worth of property. The scene of the burglary is only about half a block from Police Headquarters. Access to the roof of the building was obtained from an adjoining tenement in Mulberry Streeet.

Having effected an entrance, the thieves evidently took their time. They found nothing of value on the sixth floor of the building, and so they made their way to the fifth floor, and packed up a few bundles of shirts that the Veribest Laundry Company had ready to return to its customers. Then a visit was made to the fourth floor, and in the office of the International Gas Fixture Company they made a careful search. They smashed open the desks and scattered the contents of them about the floor.

There were marks of a struggle here, and bloodstains. The police conjectured that the thieves had quarreled about the division of the plunder and had fought the quarrel out on the spot.

POINTED GUN AT POLICEMAN

Who Says He Struck Just as Trigger Was Pulled.

Magistrate Breen in the Harlem Court yesterday held in $2,000 bail for further examination John Diamond of 339 East 121st Street on complaint of Patrolman Fairclaugh that he had shot at him. The policeman said Diamond was one of a shouting and disorderly crowd that he tried to scatter from the street corner at Second Avenue and 127th Street, and when he charged upon them Diamond pointed a revolver at him, and drew the trigger just as the policeman's club struck the weapon to the ground.

Another of the roughs shied a stone at Patrolman Preibel, who joined the chase. His hand was struck and badly bruised.

After Shorthand Record To-day.

One of the interesting events of the convention of the National Shorthand Reporters' Convention, now being held in this city, will be the shorthand writing contest for the championship of the world. It will take place at the Vanderbilt Hotel, Park Avenue and Thirty-fourth Street, at 2 o'clock this afternoon. More than thirty of the best shorthand writers in this and other countries have entered for the contest, and it is predicted that all previous records will be broken. The present champion, Nathan Berhin of this city, will defend the cup.

Five-Year-Olds Fight with Razors.

Two five-year-old colored boys of Port Chester, N. Y., settled a dispute with razors yesterday. As a result John Stith is in the United States Hospital and Horace Hines is at home recovering from the punishment administered by his parents. The boys borrowed their fathers' shaving outfit for the duel. The fight was stopped before either was fatally hurt.

COST OF LIVING LOWER IN LOW-TARIFF COUNTRIES

Free Trade Enables England to Draw Food Supplies from All Parts of the World—Holland, Belgium, and Denmark Cheap Places in Which to Live.

BY JOHN JEROME ROONEY.

The defenders of the Payne-Aldrich tariff against the charge that the high cost of living in the United States, the constantly rising scale of prices, is chiefly due to it, keep repeating the defense that this could not be so, as "high prices prevail all over the world," and especially in Great Britain, where there is no tariff. Like the report of a battle during the civil war, this would be "important, if true."

The same defense was interposed several years ago, especially before the last Congressional elections, and the elaborate report of the so-called Lodge Senate Committee on Wages and Prices of Commodities, in the majority section, made a similar defense for the tariff. The minority section directly charged the Payne-Aldrich bill and the preceding Dingley bill with the chief responsibility.

President Taft, in his speech of acceptance, and in later addresses, has taken the same attitude. Mr. Roosevelt, in his speech at Chicago, says of the cost of living that "in any event the effect of the tariff is slight."

Yet in the same paragraph he says: "There is an urgent need of non-partisan expert examination into any tariff schedule which seems to increase the cost of living, and unless the increase thus caused is more than countervailed by the benefit to the class of the community which actually receives the protection, it must of course mean that that particular duty must be reduced."

Why an "urgent need" for "expert non-partisan examination" of something, raising the cost of living, "whose effect is, in any event, slight"? It may also be noted that "the increase thus caused" at the expense of one class of the community, must be carefully traced in its beneficial effects to another class of the community.

Why trace it so carefully and balance the good and evil, if so slight?

Mr. Roosevelt, in this same paragraph, says that "any householder can satisfy himself of this fact by considering the increase in price of articles like milk and eggs, where the influence of both the tariff and the trusts is negligible."

How Tariff Affects Eggs.

While the tariff on both these articles is comparatively low, (eggs, 5 cents per dozen; milk, 2 cents per gallon,) yet, it is plain that the cost of distribution of both these articles, storage, handling, cost of raising on the farms, the increased prices growing out of the tariff—increased expenses of merchants, railroads, wagons, tin cans, paper, wood, with which milk and eggs come in economic contact, from point of origin to the consumer's table, all have a direct effect upon the price, and tend to enhance it materially.

President Taft, after making a similar strained defense of the tariff as a price raiser in his acceptance speech, fell into a like confession of the effects of high customs duties on the price of commodities.

Here is a passage from the speech: "There is one respect in which high tariff rates may make for exorbitant prices. If the rate is higher than the difference in the cost of production here and abroad, then it tempts the manufacturers of this country to obtain monopoly of the industry and to increase its price as far as the excessive tariff will permit."

As Mr. Taft admits, and all the political parties state, that many rates of the Payne-Aldrich tariff are beyond this point, the conclusion seems inevitable that in those schedules, at least, prices have been enhanced by the present tariff, not to speak of the earlier tariff bills, only a trifle lower.

Moreover, as President Taft asserts he can only find out this "difference in the cost of production here and abroad" by reports of his Tariff Board, and, as this board has reported so far only on wool, cotton, and paper, it might be in order to ask how it can be said so positively by Mr. Taft and Mr. Roosevelt, that the present tariff, as a whole, is not responsible for the alarming advance in the cost of living.

Gov. Wilson's Charge.

It is needless to say that one candidate, Gov. Wilson, plainly charges the high tariff with the chief responsibility for the present conditions in living costs in this country.

But, how true is it that prices have risen the same all over the world?

A conclusive answer to these statements can be drawn from the data gathered by no less "protective" an authority than the Lodge Senate report on wages and prices abroad.

In the majority report, signed by Senator Lodge and his high tariff majority, the report of John L. Griffiths, United States Consul General at London, is reduced to a note in small type, five or six lines long.

Yet, this report, specially made for the Senate committee, by order of Secretary of State Knox, gives an extensive and detailed review of prices of commodities and wages in London and the course of prices for a period of ten years throughout Great Britain and Ireland.

Does this report bear out President Taft's and Mr. Roosevelt's constantly repeated assertions that "this rise of prices is a worldwide movement," &c.

Hear Mr. Griffiths, Page 8, Senate Document No. 477, Part 1, under date of March 12, 1910:

> A remarkable feature of the report, on the whole, is the fact that there has been so little variation within the past decade in the prices of commodities in London. Some have shown appreciation, such as grain, cotton, leather and lumber; some commodities, such as provisions and meats, have increased with reference to some items and decreased in respect to others; some lines, such as boots, shoes, and clothing, remain practically the same as ten years ago, while material decreases are noted in the prices of iron and steel, farming implements, bricks, cement, and oil.

How does this strike the "great universal rise" theory, especially the implication that the rises in prices in Great Britain are as great as in the United States?

Kept Down by Free Trade.

But here is more from our Consul General in London as to the causes of this stability. Note the second reason:

> The explanation of the stability of markets in London is perhaps two-fold: First, it is partly due to the conservatism of the English character. Many retail dealers assert that rather than change the price of a given commodity they prefer to withdraw it from the trade. This characteristic, however, operates to maintain a steady standard in retail prices more so than in wholesale prices.
>
> The second reason for the even maintenance of prices is the fact that England is preeminently a shipping nation, and consequently the markets of all the world are reached by her ocean liners. The failure of a given commodity in one part of the world does not necessarily mean an increase of price in Great Britain.

Here is the truth as reported by our Consul General in the great world market, where tariffs do not materially affect world prices.

Note well the economic reasons that govern. The habits of the retailers could not, of course, affect as to withdrawals the staple necessaries, which must always be on the market, nor could the retailers resist and absorb a considerable rise in wholesale prices.

Note, too, this report covers the period of ten years, in which a violent rise in commodity prices occurred in the United States. Certainly, that rise was no less than 60 per cent., and in many articles it was more.

The figures of Consul General Griffith's report bear out the summary made by him and quoted here, and the figures themselves will be referred to again in these articles.

True of Other Countries.

But what is true of Great Britain is true of Holland, and the one or two other low-tariff countries of Europe, such as Denmark and Belgium. Along the frontier, between Holland and Germany, there is a difference of about 33 per cent. in cost of living, in favor of Holland. Germany has a general high tariff, on food products more especially; Holland has either no duties or only slight revenue rates.

In many factories in Germany, along the frontier, the workmen cross over to Holland every night to their homes, in order to get the lower cost of living prices for food, rent, and clothing. Yet there is a difference in favor of the German factories in wages of only 5 or 6 per cent., as compared with corresponding factories in Holland. Here is a net loss of over 25 per cent. traceable directly to a high tariff régime.

Such rise of prices as there is in Great Britain and Holland, and it is slight, is largely the result of the increased cost of production of the articles imported, largely food, from the countries burdened with huge tariff taxes upon their productive processes and resulting combinations restricting output and controlling prices.

Some other excuse must be found for the extortions and the legitimate fruits of the Payne-Aldrich tariff.

HELD FOR JEWELRY SWINDLE.

Max Edwards Trailed Across Continent in $2,750 Larceny Case.

Max Edwards, who says he is a jewelry dealer and a member of a prominent Southern family, was brought back yesterday afternoon from Edentown, N. C., by Detective Edward Leigh of the District Attorney's office, and locked up in the Tombs charged with grand larceny and forgery. He is said to have swindled many merchants out of large sums in this city.

The specific charge against him is that he obtained $2,750 worth of jewelry by misrepresentation from P. L. Munford, a wholesale dealer in gems, 1 Maiden Lane, last January. A general alarm was sent out for him, and detectives trailed him to Vancouver, B. C.; from there to Florida, and then to his home town, Edentown. The District Attorney here was notified last week by the Edentown police that he had returned, and Detective Leigh was sent to bring him back. He waived extradition. He was arraigned before Judge Crain in General Sessions and held without bail for pleading on Friday.

GOOD NEWS TOO LATE TO SAVE WIFE'S LIFE

Facing Eviction, She Ties Towel Tightly Enough Around Her Neck to Strangle Herself.

BABIES WEEP OVER BODY

Husband Had Found Some One Who Would Take Them In and Was Hurrying Home to Tell Her.

Charles Saehr had been ill for a month, lost his work as a driver in a stone yard, and so his wife, Ellen, and two little children faced eviction from their flat at 82 Mills Street, Long Island City.

He started out yesterday morning, early, telling his wife he would find some place to which they could move. She told him nobody would take them in and that she was sure that before nightfall they would be turned out into the street.

Saehr did find apartments on Camelia Street, about half a mile away, and he made arrangements with Eugene Whitcomb, a truckman on Fulton Street, to move their things. He then hurried home to tell his wife to make arrangements to move and to help her. When he reached the outside door of his flat and turned the lock with his key, he found that the door was bolted from the inside. He then went out on the fire escape from an adjoining flat and gained entrance to his own flat through the window.

He found his two little children, a boy of three and a girl of fourteen months, crying over the body of his wife, which lay on the floor of the bedroom. As he came through the window the little boy ran to him, saying:

"Mamma's sick. She won't talk to me."

Saehr, with the good news ready, hastened to her side. But she was dead. A wet towel was tied tightly about her neck. Rushing out, he ran two blocks to the Astoria ferry, where he found Patrolman Fred Schaub, and told him there was an accident at his home. The policeman stopped long enough to send a call to St. John's Hospital and then hastened to Saehr's home. When Dr. Brown of St. John's Hospital arrived, he said the woman had been dead several hours. When he attempted to loosen the towel about the woman's neck he had a difficult task. The doctor said that only a woman in a frenzy of desperation could tie a towel so tightly about her neck.

When Saehr was questioned, he said that he had been ill for a month. When he worked it was as a laborer and driver in the stone yards along the East River, a short distance from his home. As a result of his illness he had been ordered to move from the house, and this fact had made his wife melancholy.

But he had found some one, nearly as hard up as he was, to help him in his trouble. It was this almost incredible good news that he was preparing to break to his wife when he found he had come too late.

Capt. Herbert Graham of the Queens Detective Bureau and Detectives Kennedy and Caputo investigated Saehr's story, and they found it correct. They found the landlord who had agreed to rent him rooms and they also found the truckman who had agreed to move them. They were convinced from their investigation that the woman had committed suicide, though in a manner that seemed almost impossible.

Mrs. Saehr was 28 years old. She had been married five years.

FORCED TO STEAL, HE SAYS.

Yonkers Thief to Lead Police to Men Who Coerced Him.

After being held for the Grand Jury by Judge Beall in Yonkers yesterday on a charge of having stolen money from an apartment at 234 New Main Street, Michael Bani, 17 years old, of 200 Willow Street, declared that he had been forced to steal. He said that he had met three men who had threatened him with death unless he followed their instructions. Sunday night they ordered him to go into the flat of Fred Barbarosa and get the money they knew was in hiding there.

While searching for the money Barbarosa came in suddenly and Bani hid under the bed. He was found there and was placed under arrest. The prisoner has promised to take the police to the rendezvous frequented by the three men.

Bani also said that he would bring the police to the three men who robbed and assaulted Nichols a month ago.

Seventeen-Year-Old Burglar Had Been Convicted and Set Free.

Carl Herbert Smith, the 17-year-old boy who was arrested in an apartment house at 281 Jay Street, Brooklyn, Sunday night with his pockets bulging with loot, was arraigned yesterday in the Adams Street Court before Magistrate Reynolds and held for the Grand Jury on the charges of burglary and of carrying a revolver. According to the police, the boy was arrested a few months ago and found guilty. Because of his youth, Judge Dike suspended sentence.

The boy now admits having robbed the home of Henry P. Read, 1,505 Albemarle Road, Flatbush. From this burglary alone he got several thousand dollars' worth of loot. Altogether, the police say, the boy has stolen about $12,000 worth of jewelry and money.

Flatbush Church to Change Its Name.

Notice that an application would be made to the Supreme Court in Brooklyn by the Third Church of Christ for an order permitting the governing body of that church to change its name to the Flatbush Christian Church, was filed yesterday in the Kings County Clerk's office.

Four Rebuilt Coles At a Sacrifice

WE have four rebuilt 1911 Coles which we want to get rid of before September 1st. Two are four-passenger torpedo toy tonneaus and two are five-passenger foredoor touring cars. These cars have just been rebuilt in our shops.

By "rebuilt" we mean they have been thoroughly overhauled and every part showing the slightest sign of wear replaced. After this they were put to a severe road test.

So careful and thorough has been the work that we are able to back these cars with the same guarantee the National Association of Automobile Manufacturers has adopted for new cars.

Of course, the cars have been newly painted, the brass work polished and all the little external details put in first-class shape.

We will be glad to give you a demonstration in any of the four.

All you have to do is telephone 6000 Columbus.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 19.—The Giants, with Old Doc Crandall on the firing line, defeated the Cardinals in the second game of the set to-day and increased their lead over the Cubs to six games. The score of to-day's fray was 5 to 2. The Cubs were idle in Chicago because of rain, while New York had a chance to show that they have some pitchers who can win besides Mathewson, Marquard, and Tesreau. True it is, the Cardinals got as many hits as the Giants, but Crandall kept the hits judiciously scattered, while "Slim" Sallee at times got very wild.

When it's hot in St. Louis it's awful hot. It was that way to-day, and the players felt the depression which comes from excessive sunshine. The play wasn't as snappy as in Sunday's game, and the enthusiasm of the fans was quieted by the roasting atmosphere. Manager McGraw gave Merkle and Devore a rest, and for the first time this season put George Burns into the game at the start. Burns has shown great promise this season as pinch hitter, but to-day he didn't get a hit. The Giants' defense was tight, only one error being credited against the Gotham aggregation, Snodgrass making the lone mistake, which was not costly.

The Giants corralled their lead in the second inning, when Sallee's wildness, coupled with timely Giant hits, drove in three runs. They held the whip hand of the fray from that time on, although in the fourth inning the Cardinals threatened to reach Crandall; but he closed up in time, and the opposition was shut off before it overtook the Manhattan team.

In the face of the hot weather the Giants displayed much more life than their opponents, and the victory was comparatively easy. There was no spectacular playing, and yet at every stage of the contest New York had the better of its adversaries. The whole answer to the question is that New York has evidently recovered from its slump and thus far has easily displayed championship form against the Cardinals, the same team which won the last series at the Polo Grounds.

The Giants displayed serious intentions of winning as early as the second inning. Murray opened with a single to left and Burns hit a fly into Evans's hands. Herzog forced Murray at second, Sallee to Hauser. Sallee was wild, and hit Meyers on the arm. He also peppered Fletcher with a stray ball and filled the bases. Crandall then did much for his own cause by smashing a single to left, scoring Herzog and Meyers. Snodgrass kept up the good work, planting a single in left, which scored Fletcher. Crandall overran second and was out, Magee to Huggins.

In the next inning Doyle popped to Hauser. Becker singled to right, and "Red" Murray then hammered a long triple to deep right field, scoring Becker. Burns fanned and Evans got Herzog's fly.

The Cardinals woke up with a start in the fourth inning and gave the Giants to understand that they were also in the game. Konetchy started the trouble with a single to centre, and he went around to third when Evans set a single over Doyle's head. Konetchy scored on Hauser's sacrifice fly to Murray. Oakes then set a double to left, scoring Evans. Wingo politely fanned and Sallee walked. Huggins's fly to Becker ended the inning.

The Giants got their last run in the eighth. After Doyle popped to Sallee, Becker singled to centre and Murray's fly was captured by Oakes. Becker stole second, and went to third on Wingo's unruly throw and scored when Oakes made a wild return of the ball to third.

BROOKLYN NOT FOR SALE.

Club Officials Deny That Cincinnati Men Will Purchase Club.

Edward Wilbern and Jefferson Livingston of Cincinnati came to town to-day with intentions of buying the Brooklyn Baseball Club. Wilbern says he wants to buy out 51 per cent. of the stock, and seemed to think that President Charles H. Ebbets wouldn't hesitate to sell.

But, as it happens, the Brooklyn club isn't for sale, according to Vice President and Treasurer Henry W. Medicus and Secretary Charles H. Ebbets, Jr. They both stated yesterday that there was nothing to the report that the Dodgers were for sale. President Ebbets is just now busy building a $300,000 baseball park, and officials of the club say that he has no intention of getting out of baseball.

Giants Got Pitcher Schupp.

The Giants have bought another promising pitcher, Fred Schupp of the Decatur Club of the Three-Eye League. Schupp has a good record this season and will report at the end of the minor league season. New York is said to have paid a big price for the young twirler.

Cincinnati Buys Three Players.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Aug. 19.—President August Herrmann of the local National League Baseball Club announced here to-day that he had purchased three ball players from the Akron Club of the Central League. They are Knisely, an infielder; Kyle, an outfielder, and Doak, a pitcher. The men will report at the close of the Central League season.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Boston Lucky to Win Only Game Played in the League.

BOSTON, Aug. 19.—The Red Sox were lucky in winning from Detroit to-day, 4 to 3. It was the only game played in the American League. Two of Boston's runs were made possible by Detroit errors. A third run was forced in when Willett passed Wagner with the bases filled. Detroit bunched four hits, including Crawford's triple, for its three runs in the third. Gardner fielded spectacularly at third base. The score:

YANKEES' NEW PARK.

Work of Filling In Site at Kingsbridge Is Progressing.

It is expected that early in September the work of filling in the old ship canal at Kingsbridge, at the site of the new baseball park for the New York Americans, will be commenced. Work at the site has been going on in a quiet way at the new park all Summer, but the filling in has been only refuse and ashes and a vast amount of filling in remains to be done before actual work on the new grounds can be begun.

The city has just completed the improvement of 225th Street and that thoroughfare is now in excellent shape. The freight tracks of the New York Central Railroad run close to the East side of the canal and it is to this point that the gravel will be hauled next month. Once started, the filling in should be finished before the cold weather sets in. It is planned to have the rear of the grandstand close to 225th Street with the diamond and playing field facing a northeasterly direction.

President Frank Farrell has made plans for an elaborate baseball establishment. It will be spacious and up-to-date in every particular. The stand will be of steel and concrete and it is expected that it will be finished some time next Summer.

PRINTERS PLAY BASEBALL.

Chicago and Indianapolis Win First Games for Championship.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 19.—The National Printers' Baseball Tournament opened here to-day, Chicago and Indianapolis winning preliminary games over Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. The Chicago team, which won the championship last year, beat the Pirates 11 to 2 with little trouble, while the Hoosiers took the Quakers into camp 18 to 9. Both games were loosely played in the field, all except the Chicago catcher being unable to stop the base running, and allowing no less than thirty-five bases to be stolen during the afternoon.

In the game between Indianapolis and Philadelphia the winners secured a 5 to 0 lead in the first inning, but were soon overhauled. However, when they led 8 to 6, the Quakers went into the air and made a sorry finish. The New York team will meet St. Louis to-morrow and Cincinnati will play Washington. The scores by innings:

TOUCHARD LOSES TO LITTLE AT TENNIS

National Championship Starts at Newport with No Unexpected Results.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 19.—A clashing of German and American lawn tennis players gave a tinge of an international contest to the opening rounds of the thirty-second annual all-comers singles championship tournament which began here to-day on the turf courts of the Casino.

Herman Kleinsroth, F. R. Felthaus, and R. Auspitzer led an invasion from the lawn of the Teutons that was turned back ruthlessly by younger American wielders of the racquet. Kleinsroth faced the young Harvard giant, G. C. Caner, and the latter, getting his game into action, disposed of the German at 4—6, 9—7, 6—4, 6—4. Later in the day Caner himself fell by the wayside under the skillful playing of G. P. Gardner, Jr., at 6—0, 6—3, 6—2, so that the scores favored the immediate comparison of the strength of the players of the two nations.

Felthaus, the second of the Teutons, did not make his appearance on the courts until afternoon. Then he met W. B. Izard, a Washington player, who slashed out a victory to the score of 8—6, 6—1, 6—2. Whether or not Auspitzer, the third member of the team, became disheartened is not known; anyway, he did not take his place on the court, and his default was chalked up at the end of the day.

The starred match was delayed in getting under way as R. D. Little wished to default. Even when he got into action against G. F. Touchard it was woefully one sided. Touchard was only a shadow of his former self and lost at 6—3, 6—2, 6—1. The point totals were 90 to 57. At every stage Little was the master of his partner. After Touchard had lost the match the betting on the doubles at once favored McLoughlin and Bundy at odds of 3 to 1. Late in the afternoon the Pacific Coast stars limbered up their strokes against Karl H. Behr and Clifton B. Herd, a wonderful youngster of Harvard. Behr and Herd made the Californians play, but they won all the way to the end.

Of the winning players, all preserved form, Karl H. Behr, McLoughlin, F. C. Inman, W. L. Pate, R. Stevens, N. W. Niles, and the others winning in straight sets. Altogether eighty-four results were chalked on the card, and only eight of the second round brackets were left open at the end of the day, which amounted to record progress. Karl Behr in his match was especially good with his straight volleys as he dashed to the net and defeated S. R. Smith at 6—1, 6—2, 6—3.

To-night the Executive Committee held a meeting to discuss the international situation and to send the formal answer to Australia as to the inability of sending a challenging team for the Davis Cup. The summaries:

All Comers' Singles.—First Round—E. H. Pickman, Los Angeles, defeated W. P. Burden, Newport, 7—5, 4—6, 4—6, 6—1, 7—5; G. C. Caner, Philadelphia, defeated H. K. Tennis Finalists Default.

Special to The New York Times.

JACKSON, N. H., Aug. 19.—The finals of the East Side tennis championship at Jackson were played to-day and resulted in a win for J. Tunis of the Eagle Mountain House in the singles and for J. Tunis and Miss B. Kendall in the doubles. Miss C. Humphrey of Jackson, who was playing with B. Kellogg as the other pair of finalists, was obliged on account of illness to default.

CLOSE FINISH AT POLO.

Great Neck Defeats Piping Rock, 11 to 10¾, at Narragansett.

Special to The New York Times.

NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., Aug. 19.—At the Point Judith Polo Club to-day there was one game that thrilled the onlookers. It was the second game, and the contestants were the Piping Rock and Great Neck teams, both Long Island clubs. Absolutely in the last few minutes of play the Great Neck team forged to the front and won the match by a fraction of a goal. The score was 11 to 10¾. It was one of the greatest finishes ever witnessed in a polo game. Until the last few moments of the play Piping Rock led, but through the aid of Mr. Haddon and Mr. Grace the Great Neck team won out. It was a well-played match.

In the preceding game the Magpies had the aid of L. Waterbury, who played No. 3, with Eugene S. Reynal as No. 1, H. W. Harrison as No. 2, and W. Goadby Loew as back. They were opposed by a Bryn Mawr combination made up and playing as named: Alexander Brown, L. E. Stoddard, R. E. Strawbridge, and F. A. Gill.

After the fourth period Mr. Stoddard withdrew, and C. C. Rumsey took his place, a tumble from the pony being the cause of the withdrawal. The feature of the first game was the splendid achievements of E. S. Reynal, who made four goals, and who was always in the nick of time to help his teammates. L. Waterbury made two goals, and, of course, was always capable and efficient. The other goals made by this team were singles by Mr. Harrison and Mr. Loew. It cannot be said that Bryn Mawr played up to its reputation. Mr. Brown, Mr. Strawbridge, and Mr. Gill, each had singles, but the team work was imperfect and faulty. The summary:

MAGPIES.	BRYN MAWR.
No. 1—E. S. Reynal.	No. 1—A. Brown.
No. 2—H. W. Harrison.	No. 2—L. E. Stoddard, C. C. Rumsey.
No. 3—L. Waterbury.	No. 3—R. E. Strawbridge.
No. 4—W. G. Loew.	No. 4—F. A. Gill.

Summary: Magpies—Goals earned, 8. Bryn Mawr—Goals earned, 3. Individual goals—Reynal, (4,) Waterbury, (2,) Harrison, Lowe, Brown, Strawbridge, Gill. Referee—C. P. Beadleston.

PIPING ROCK.	GREAT NECK.
No. 1—J. C. Rathborne.	No. 1—W. R. Grace.
No. 2—Harrison Tweed.	No. 2—J. W. Webb.
No. 3—R. Belmont.	No. 3—A. J. A. Deveraux.
No. 4—J. D. Thomas.	No. 4—H. Haddon.

Summary: Great Neck, 11; Piping Rock, 10¾. Individual goals; Great Neck—By handicap, (2,) Haddon, (4,) Webb, (3,) Grace, (2,) Deveraux. Safety against Mr. Haddon. Piping Rock—Belmont, (5,) Thomas, (2,) Rathborne, (2,) Tweed. Referee—Godfrey Preece.

KEANSBURG WATER SPORTS.

Power Boats, Yachts, and Oarsmen Compete for Prizes.

Special to The New York Times.

KEANSBURG, N. J., Aug. 19.—The motor and speed boat races at the carnival here to-day were unlike anything of their kind ever held at any carnival along the Atlantic Coast. Each of the events was hotly contested by the large number of boats and their owners who participated in the races.

The races were held on the bay opposite two large grandstands erected on the boardwalk. The grandstands were filled with spectators, who came from Newark, New York, and from Summer resorts along the coast especially to witness the events.

In the race between the high-power speed boats, William H. Watt's M. & M. crossed the finishing line first, in the corrected time of 19 minutes 15 seconds. William Crawbuck's Lung of the Passaic Yacht Club finished second in the fast time of 22 minutes 51 seconds.

In the cruising boat class, W. A. Gill, Commodore of the Keyport Yacht Club, in his Martha, captured the race, which was held over a five-mile course. The corrected time of the Martha was 21 minutes 15 seconds. M. H. Dykeman's Amy II. finished second, in the corrected time of 22 minutes 17 seconds.

The rowing race over a quarter-mile course went to Reuben White of Red Bank, and William R. Batise of New York was second.

In the open boat class over a five-mile course, Olga, owned by Augustus Daulster of Atlantic Highlands, finished first, and Wild Bill, owned by W. D. Unauget of the Great Kills Yacht Club, was second. The corrected time of the winner was 23 minutes 44 seconds.

BABY RELIANCE II. WINS.

Speedy New York Motor Boat Captures Two Races at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—Baby Reliance II., a speedy little New York power boat, to-day again demonstrated that she is the best racer at the water carnival by winning both the twenty-six and forty-foot class races. Disturber III., which had been picked to give Baby Reliance II. the hardest brush for honors, finished almost a mile behind her competitor in the forty-foot class.

A new tangle in the race for the Wrigley Trophy arose to-day, when Disturber III. refused to compete, her owner, James A. Pugh, averring he already had won the cup. Baby Reliance II. then made a trip around the course alone and obtained credit for another heat. According to the judges' books, the race now stands 2 and 2 between Disturber III. and Baby Reliance II. Unless new controversies prevent, the final heat will be raced to-morrow.

By taking the twenty-six-foot event Baby Reliance II. won the Henry B. Clarke Trophy, valued at $500, and a five-hundred-dollar purse for winning the final heat. Her time was 35:10 for the fifteen miles. Débutante, owned by Noel Sampson of London, was second, winning the New Southern Hotel Cup and $250.

Driver Bernard let Baby Reliance II. out in the forty-foot class race, covering the twenty miles in 28:34. Disturber III. finished in 29:53, while Chicago, the only other entrant, was far in the rear.

YACHTING CUP WITHHELD.

Protest Against Elena in Recent New York Y. C. Cruise.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 19.—The award of the Vice Commodore's Cup for large schooners sailed for in the recent cruise of the New York Yacht Club will be held up pending the decision of the Regatta Committee on a protest filed to-day by Demarest Lloyd of the schooner Princess against the Elena, owned by Morton F. Plant and sailed by William S. Dennis. The protest arose through an incident on the run from Vineyard Haven to Newport, in which four schooners were close to the middle ground, and the Elena called to the Princess for room. The Princess yielded, although on the starboard tack, but immediately hoisted a protest flag.

It was thought at the time that the protest was against the schooner Muriel, owned and sailed by Charles Smithers, but those on the Princess claim that the Muriel was not at fault, but that it was the Elena which made the error.

At the close of the run the contest was awarded to the Elena, but the cup, following the usual custom, was not delivered at that time.

Final Test Cricket Match.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—The final test cricket match was started to-day at the Oval Ground, Surrey, with England and Australia as opposing teams. England won the toss, and scored 233 runs for 8 wickets, when play was stopped for the day.

Brighton Motor Cycle Handicap.

The Brighton handicap, with Eddie Hasha, the Dallas speed star, at scratch, will be the feature event at the Stadium-Motordrome at Brighton Beach to-night. This will mark the first appearance of Hasha in a long race over the course. Mike Costello's entry in the open professional and the other events brings new color into the already large field, and the marks for the distance will be given a hard battle. The efforts to bring Hasha, the Western demon, together with Chapple in a series of three races for the championship of America are moving along rapidly, and the two will likely be matched to race at the Brighton Beach course shortly. The distances of the events will be three, ten, and twenty-five miles, giving both men a chance at various branches of the sport.

FUNDS LACKING FOR OLYMPIC RECEPTION

Only $1,639 Subscribed for Entertaining Champion Athletes —$5,000 More Needed.

While arrangements are under way for making the welcome home reception to be tendered to the American Olympic athletes on Saturday next the most successful, as a public demonstration, that has taken place since American teams first won the international championship on track and field, cash has been coming in very slowly.

This is due, in part, to the fact that many members of the committee of 165 appointed by the Mayor, and many other citizens who have been appealed to by mail to assist in the matter of funds, are out of town at present. The amount asked for by the Sub-Committee on Plan and Scope was $7,500; and Mayor Gaynor felt certain that his refusal to ask for an appropriation by the city would not prevent it from being raised. He said, in fact, in explaining his attitude, that he did not believe city money should be appropriated for a popular demonstration of this kind, and that the public would no doubt be glad to contribute. To date, however, but $1,639 has been received, included in which amount, and announced yesterday, are the following subscriptions:

Jacob H. Schiff, $100; Ralph Pulitzer, $100; Adolph Kuttroff, $25; L. B. Schoenberg, $10; Seth Low, $10; Edwin J. Gillies, $10; E. M. Taylor, $10; F. B. Dalzell & Co., $5, and William Riker, $10.

Chairman Frederick W. Rubein of the Sub-Committee on Plan and Scope, who is also Secretary of the Reception Committee, said yesterday that the parade and dinner, the theatre party, and other details of the celebration would be a great success despite the present lack of funds, as automobiles have been secured free, many bands have volunteered to parade, dinner tickets are being sold by the hundred—as fast as diners can be allotted to tables—and enthusiasm among athletes is at a high pitch.

"But," he said, "I hope that all those who feel a natural pride in the good work done by our athletes and in the reception accorded them will send their checks or money orders to Victor F. Ridder, Treasurer of the Reception Committee, at once. We would like to spend $1,000 to properly equip the 12,000 school children whom we are now sure are going to take part. Then there is the matter of expense for printing, for decorations, for clerical work, and other matters which must be attended to. The members of the committee who are giving their time and attention to the work free of charge are working hard, and they will not see the reception suffer for lack of financial support that it must have, but it should not be left on their shoulders altogether. I hope that Tuesday's and Wednesday's mail will bring a large influx of cash to the Treasurer of the committee."

The Pastime Athletic Club, through the Plan and Scope Committee on the celebration, yesterday issued a call to its veteran champions and athletes to participate in the parade on Saturday, meeting on Fortieth Street west of Fifth Avenue at 9:30 sharp. There will be a meeting of the club on Thursday evening to complete arrangements for the club's part in the parade. All of the old-time members of the club are invited to attend.

All baseball clubs desiring to take part in the parade in honor of the return of the American Olympic team, which will be headed by the Yankees and the White Sox, should send in their entries at once to William J. Lee, Supervisor of Park Playgrounds and Baseball Fields, at Room 611 Pulitzer Building. All teams must be entered not later than to-morrow. The champion baseball teams of the park playgrounds under the jurisdiction of the Bureau of Recreation have entered. There are forty of these teams, each the champion organization of the playground that it represents.

Friends and admirers of the athletes desiring tickets in the Globe Theatre on Friday night, in that section reserved by the management, should send remittances to Dr. John M. Breem, at Room 611, Pulitzer Building. But few of these tickets will be on sale by the close of to-day if the pace at which they were going yesterday is kept up.

JUNIOR CHAMPIONSHIPS.

Record-Breaking Entry List Expected for A. A. U. Event.

Every club in the Metropolitan Association is sending in its entries for the junior track and field championships at Celtic Park, L. I., on Saturday afternoon, Aug. 31, and when the committee meets to pass upon the entries Monday evening it is expected that there will be about 750, which will be the largest number of entries ever received for a junior championship.

The Irish-American A. C. contingent looks especially strong. The following are a few of the winged-fist entries and the events in which they will take part: 100 and 220 yards—J. L. Kirby, J. B. Waldman, A. H. Goodman, R. Veith, and W. J. Conway; 440 yards—A. Pepis and D. Valentine; 880 yards—S. J. Riley, B. Story, and A. F. O'Connor; discus—A. J. Sheridan, E. J. Muller, and A. J. Reich. With all these men in shape, and a number of second-string men who are very good, to depend upon, the chances of the Irish-American A. C. to win the club championship this year looks very bright.

Invitation for admission can be had of any club that is a member of the Metropolitan Association. Entries will close to-morrow with the Championship Committee, care of F. J. V. Delany, P. O. Box 811, New York City.

New York A. C. Fall Games.

An exceptionally good programme of events has been arranged for the eighty-ninth set of games of the New York Athletic Club at Travers Island, Saturday, Sept. 28. The programme consists of fifteen events. A strong field of runners are expected to face the starter in the three-mile run, the only scratch event of the programme, and in which there will be awarded, in addition to the regular prizes, a lap prize to the competitor who has set the pace for the greatest number of laps throughout the race. Another race in which the competition will be keen is the one-mile relay. In this event the teams will be made up of four men, each man running 440 yards. The entries for this meet close on Thursday, Sept. 19, with Fred. R. Fortmeyer, secretary, New York Athletic Club.

A. A. U. Championships at Syracuse.

All appearances point to the fact that the National championship track and field sports of the Amateur Athletic Union will be held this year in the stadium of Syracuse University some time in September. Several cities have made bids for the right to hold the sports which will attract the majority of the members of the recent victorious Olympic team. The track at Syracuse is one of the fastest in the country, as recently attested by sterling performances of New York men who competed at the Elks games.

Reidpath to Train at Travers Island.

Charlie Reidpath of Syracuse University and the New York Athletic Club will shortly begin training at Travers Island, the country home of the Winged Foot organization, for the annual championships of the Amateur Athletic Union, which will probably be held at the Syracuse University track next month. Reidpath won the world's championship at 400 meters at the Olympic games in Stockholm and is conceded to be as fast as any quarter-miler who ever wore a shoe.

National Swimming Championships.

The New York Athletic Club will hold its annual swimming championships at Travers Island, Saturday, Aug. 31, and Saturday, Sept. 14. Chief among the events for Aug. 31 is the deciding of the Amateur Athletic Union National championship for the 440-yard swim. The other events scheduled are the 100-yard swim, fancy diving contest, and the fifty-yard swim. On Sept. 14 the Amateur Athletic Union National championships for the 880-yard swim and the fancy diving contest will be decided. There will also be a fifty-yard swim.

New Woman's Mile Swimming Record

ST. HELIERS, Jersey, Aug. 19.—Miss Vera Neave established a new woman's record for a mile open swim to-day when she swam the distance in 31 minutes 41 4-5 seconds. The previous record was held by Miss Annette Kellerman, the Australian swimmer, whose time was 32 minutes 44 seconds. Miss Neave is the holder of the 300-meter swimming record for women. She is well known in England as the winner of many local championships, and she was the victor last year in a 15½-mile race for women in the River Thames.

SCHMIDT LEADS GOLFERS.

Big Field in Championship Tourney at Maplewood.

Special to The New York Times.

MAPLEWOOD, N. H., Aug. 19.—With eighty-five golfers participating, the annual Maplewood championship was started to-day, Massachusetts and Metropolitan golfers lead in the scoring, with Heinrich Schmidt, the Massachusetts amateur champion from Worcester, topping the list with a 71. This score not only brought the champion the gold medal for the best score, but set a new amateur mark for 18 holes.

H. P. Farrington of Woodland and B. S. Evans, Belmont, with 75 and 76, respectively, were next in line. R. F. Mundy, Ardsley, the winner of the recent Bretton Woods championship, was next with 77, but withdrew from the match play. J. D. Standish, Jr., the Michigan State champion, completed the list of those to score better than 80, he was 78. Five divisions were formed for the first round of match play, which starts to-morrow. The scores of the first sixteen follow:

H. Schmidt, Worcester, 71; H. P. Farrington, Woodland, 75; B. S. Evans, Belmont, 76; R. Mundy, Ardsley, 77; J. D. Standish, Jr., Detroit, 78; F. K. English, New Haven, 80; I. W. Small, Jr., Belmont, 82; V. D. Burgesser, East Orange, 83; A. Mitchell, Norwich, 83; A. H. Chase, Norwich, 84; R. Cook, Hartford, 84; E. P. Gates, Minnikahda, 85; L. H. Dorchester, Houston, 87; D. E. Meeker, Yale, 87.

Golf Tourney for Griswold Cup.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Aug. 19.—The first round of the annual August handicap eighteen-hole medal play tournament of the Shenecosset Country Club for the Griswold Cups was completed to-day, with the following results:

First Sixteen.—Robert Moore (9) of New London defeated L. B. Adams (14) of New York, 4 up and 3 to go; B. E. Mallory (9) of Waterbury won from F. A. Cott (14) of New York, by default; J. P. Jadwin (20) of New York won by default from C. H. Pray (8) of New York; W. E. Stevenson (9) of Essex lost to J. W. Ferguson (15) of New York, 2 up and 1 to go; Charles Cooper (9) of Brooklyn defeated M. W. Reeves (25) of New York, 10 up; George D. Monroe of New York (25) won from H. B. Laidlaw (4) of New York, 5 up and 4 to go; P. Corbin (14) of New Britain defeated W. J. Brainard (20) of New York, 4 up; Dr. Frederick A. Lund (7) of New York defeated Frederick M. Kerr of New York, 2 up.

Second Sixteen.—I. Bromley (10) of New Haven won from George E. Kohn (16) of Hartford, by default; H. B. Miller (4) of New York defeated J. A. Philbrick (4) of New York, 1 up; Judge M. Outcalt (4) of Cincinnati won from C. F. Parks (4) of New York, by default; J. R. Hilton (20) of New York won from J. C. Roberts (20) of New York, 1 up; I. Hill Bromley (15) of New Haven lost to J. R. Hagerty (9) of Baltimore, 7 up and 6 to go; J. Morgan (15) of New York won from J. G. McNeil (2) of New York, 4 up and 3 to go; J. H. Judd (18) of New York lost to D. Prankhard (4) of New York, 6 up and 5 to go; G. F. Hughes (9) of Waterbury defaulted to E. T. Nugent (15) of St. Louis.

Banks Takes Fleischman Cup.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Aug. 19.—The tennis tournament among the boys of Eastern Point has just been completed, and the cup, which was presented by Julius Fleischman of Cincinnati, was won by Maxwell Banks of New York. In the first round of this tournament Stuart Heminway of Brooklyn defeated William Wright of Memphis, 6—3, 6—1; Charles B. Struthers of New York won from J. A. Philbrick, Jr., 6—1, 6—2; Clarence F. Normont, Jr., of Washington defeated Julius Fleischman, Jr., of Cincinnati, 6—0, 6—2; Morgan C. Morgan of New York defeated Sheldon Abbott of New York, 6—2, 6—1, and Donald Ferguson of Paterson, N. J., Paul Spadone of Brooklyn, Maxwell Banks of New York, and Arthur Norton of New York all went bye.

In the second round Stuart Heminway defeated Charles Struthers, 6—1, 6—1; M. C. Morgan won from Clarence Normont by default; Paul Spadone defeated Donald Ferguson, 8—6, 6—3, and Maxwell Banks won from Arthur Norton, 6—2, 6—0. In the semi-finals M. C. Morgan beat Stuart Heminway, 6—1, 6—1, and Maxwell Banks defeated Paul Spadone, 6—2, 6—0. The final was won by Maxwell Banks, 6—3, 7—5.

WARNING TO CONTRACTORS.

Tarred Stone Roads Must Be Protected by Builders.

C. Gordon Reel, State Superintendent of Highways of New York, stated yesterday that State road contractors have been instructed not to leave tarred stone roads unprotected by a top dressing between the close of work on Saturdays and the beginning of work on Mondays, a period during which motor traffic is generally the heaviest.

Many motorists have complained of late that this practice among contractors has been the cause of breaking wind shields, marring the finish of the cars, and in some cases injuring drivers and passengers. The crushed stones, left unprotected by top dressing, fly up as the tires pass over them, even when a car is moving slowly, and if a car is moving at fifteen miles an hour or faster there is a perfect shower of stones.

It is expected that the highway authorities in other States will follow the example of Supt. Reel of New York by issuing similar instructions to their contractors, as complaints have been made by motorists touring through other States besides New York.

NOTES OF THE GOLFERS.

H. H. Barker, formerly the professional at the Garden City Golf Club, and now connected with the Roebuck Country Club, near Birmingham, Ala., a new organization, is playing the best golf of his career just now. As an illustration, he recently did the course of the Birmingham Country Club in 63, establishing a new record for the links. Barker is an Englishman, and came to America several years ago. He won the Irish amateur championship twice, and on landing here he was engaged at Garden City, where he stayed for several seasons. He then went to the Rumson Country Club, but ill-health caused him to give up last Fall. A trip to England did not improve him, and his life was despaired of, but on returning to this country and getting located in the South he has rapidly gained in health, until now he is as well as ever. He is at present engaged in laying out the new course for the Roebuck Country Club, and has the first nine holes practically finished. The clubhouse is completed, and will be opened in another week. Barker did not compete in the recent National open championship, thinking it better to become fully recovered before attempting competitive golf.

If Jerome D. Travers, the metropolitan champion, continues his present form there is every likelihood of his being seen in the National amateur championship next month at Wheaton, Ill. Travers played a thirty-six-hole match with Oswald Kirkby, the New Jersey champion, at Lake Mahopac yesterday, and won by 1 up, setting a new record for the course by going around in 73 in the morning. Kirkby had 74 to his credit. Travers was 2 up at the end of the morning round, and fell behind a hole in the afternoon despite the fact that he went round in 76 to Kirkby's 77. On Sunday Travers and Marshall Whitlatch of Dyker Meadow defeated Kirkby and Robert C. Watson of Garden City in a thirty-six-hole fourball match, by 2 up and 1 to play. Travers, on that occasion, made the first hole in the afternoon in 1, holing a mashie shot. The hole is about 135 yards long.

For the first time in the history of the seniors' tournament, which will be held over the links of the Apawamis Club on Sept. 25 and 26, Horace L. Hotchkiss will not head the committee in charge. This will be the eighth tournament for men of 55 years or more, which draws its competitors from men in all walks of life the country over. For seven of these years the same man has been the leading spirit, but he asked to be excused this season, and selected James D. Foot, the Apawamis veteran, to be Chairman instead. Foot will be assisted by Edmund C. Converse, Simeon Ford, Dr. Arthur Pell, and Col. H. W. Sackett. Dr. Pell is a new member of the committee. It is announced that invitations sent out recently are being responded to every day. Usually thirty-six holes of medal play are the conditions, and while no announcement has been made, it is probable that there will be no change.

In the competition for the President's Cup at the Haworth Club, William Milne and Claude S. Hedges survived the second and semi-final rounds, and will meet in the decisive test, which will be at thirty-six holes, next week. Milne is a former club champion, while Hedges was the runner-up for the title this season. The summary of the second and semi-final rounds follows:

Second Round—K. Tanaka (20) beat C. E. McManus, (39,) 1 up; C. S. Hedges (15) beat Miss Dorothy Kidd, (22,) 3 up and 2 to play; Steve N. Wager (22) beat W. E. Wrigley, (18,) 8 up and 6 to play; W. M. Milne (14) beat John Marakle by default.

Third Round—Hedges beat Tanaka, 2 up and 1 to play; Milne beat Wager, 6 up and 5 to play.

Major Fort Takes Winans's Trophy.

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 19.—At the annual military rifle and revolver tournament of the Maryland National Guard here to-day the revolver championship of Maryland was won by Major S. J. Fort, Chief Ordnance Officer of the First Brigade, with a total score of 220 out of a possible 250. With the championship goes a trophy offered by Walter Winans, champion revolver shot of the world.

WILLARD WINNER OF GARDEN BOUT

Shades Luther McCarty in Ten Rounds—Jim Savage and Joe Jeannette Win.

Jesse Willard, the Texas heavyweight, shaded Luther McCarty of Springfield, Mo., over the ten-round route at Madison Square Garden last night, offsetting the aggressiveness of the latter by his accurate jabbing when McCarty rushed in. Neither of the other scheduled ten-round bouts went the distance. In the first Jim Savage had Tom Kennedy in such a bad way that Referee Billy Joh stopped the bout in the seventh round. The bout between Joe Jeannette and Jeff Madden of Boston was little more than a training stunt for Joe Jeannette, who won in two rounds.

Willard's great height and reach had McCarty baffled in the first two rounds, but in the next two the Westerner tore in at a clip that gave promise of an easy victory, if not a knockout. Willard came back strong, however, in the later rounds of the bout, drove McCarty back with his accurate left jabs, shook McCarty from head to toes with terrific right uppercuts, and had him bleeding from the mouth, nose, and forehead. Both of McCarty's eyes were swollen when he left the ring, and Willard carried a large bruise on his left cheek.

Willard tipped the beam at 224 pounds before entering the ring, and McCarty weighed 208¼ pounds. The Texan towered above his opponent by a few inches and his reach exceeded that of McCarty by six inches. Time after time Willard met his rush with a left jab or a right uppercut, accurately driven and perfectly timed. In the few exciting mix-ups that featured the bout there was little in either man's favor. Neither was in distress at any stage and neither scored a knockdown.

The Jeanette-Madden contest was put on last, as the McCarty-Willard bout had to be started by 10 o'clock. The result was just as was expected. Jeannette, who easily outclasses any white heavyweight in the game to-day, was pitted against an unknown from Boston for a workout. It did not amount to that much. In the first round Jeannette did not attempt to do any real work, but he easily escaped the few faint attempts at leading which Madden showed. In the second round Jeannette cut loose and the end of the bout was soon in sight. A hard right to Madden's jaw sent him to the canvas, and he was glad to take the count of nine. He went into a clinch and soon went down again without any hard punch being apparent. This time he also took a nine-second rest, only to drop again a few seconds later. Referee John then cautioned Madden that he was falling down without cause. Madden's awkwardness saved him somewhat, as Jeannette tore in to finish matters whenever the Bostonian was on his feet. Finally the negro shot in a terrific right uppercut that sent Madden down hard and Referee Joh stopped the bout. Many of the spectators were out of the hall before the bout was stopped.

Jim Savage sprung a surprise in the first ten-round bout by clearly outclassing Tom Kennedy. Kennedy's left eye was completely closed in the third round, and Tom worried along under this handicap until the seventh, when Savage opened a cut near Kennedy's right eye, which left the latter practically sightless. At this stage Referee Joh stepped between the men and waved Kennedy to his corner. While Kennedy was protesting this move, Savage made a swing at Kennedy, and the two were soon in a clinch. The referee and both managers had to pull the men apart.

BOXING FORFEITS UP.

McMahons Seek Commission's Special Sanction for Johnson-Jeannette Bout.

The McMahon brothers, managers of the St. Nicholas A. C., yesterday posted the five-thousand-dollar forfeit to bind the match between Jack Johnson and Joe Jeannette in this city on Sept. 25. After the conference in Chicago a few days ago, when the terms were agreed upon, only a nominal sum was put up by Jess McMahon and by Johnson, the agreement being made that the remainder of the five-thousand-dollar forfeits should be posted yesterday.

There is much doubt in local sporting circles as to whether the State Athletic Commission will step in and stop the bout. Efforts to get a definite answer in this regard from either of the Commissioners have been made several times, but without effect. Some months ago it was announced at the office of the commission that Johnson would not be allowed to box in this State, but at that time it was proposed to put him against Carl Morris or some other white heavyweight. The impression has prevailed that no antagonism would result if Johnson was matched to box another negro, and it was with this impression that both Billy Gibson and Jess McMahon traveled out to Chicago and offered the champion such large purses to come here.

All doubt as to the status of the proposed bout will probably be settled to-day when the McMahon brothers hold a conference with the Boxing Commissioners to learn definitely just how the bout is regarded officially. The McMahons declared last night that they expected no opposition, and added that they would have to forfeit their $5,000 if the bout is not allowed.

JOHNSON IN NO HURRY.

Champion Will Not Train Unless Assured Bout Will Go.

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—Jack Johnson will do no training for his match with Joe Jeanette until he is assured that the State Boxing Commission will permit the fight to be staged.

"It would be useless for me to train if there was no chance to fight," he said.

To close friends Johnson to-day said he was not anxious to fight Jeanette or any one else.

"I don't care particularly whether this fight comes off," he said. "I went into this affair just to please my wife. Training is hard work, and I'd rather rest."

Johnson now weighs about 250 pounds, a little more than he weighed when he started to train for the Flynn fight.

Warning to Auto Tourists.

The best road at present between Albany and Poughkeepsie is along the line of route 88 of the Blue Book, following the east side of the Hudson River. These roads are in excellent shape, but the tourist going south should be careful when reaching Stuyvesant Falls to curve left instead of right at mileage 25.9. The road to the right was under construction for about five miles, to Stottville, when the present Blue Book was issued. Since then the contractor failed, and the reconstruction work may not be completed this year. The road to the left is a fair road to Stottville. Tourists going north from Poughkeepsie to Albany will have no trouble in keeping to the old road, as its junction with the delayed new road at Stottville was not opened by the contractor, and it is not possible to run on the delayed portion going north.

Fall Century Cycling Run.

The Jersey division of the Century Road Club Association will hold its Fall Century run on Sunday, Sept. 15, with starting points at Columbus Circle, New York City; City Hall Park, Jersey City, and from Bayonne, N. J. The gold-filled medal offered by the club to the riders that finish the run has attracted a large number of riders, with the result that entries have been coming in fast. Veteran pacemakers will lead the riders, which will insure an even and steady pace, so that, weather permitting, it is anticipated that it will be one of the biggest runs held by the club. Entries sent to D. W. Moore, Chairman, Century Run Committee, 22 East Forty-first Street, Bayonne, N. J., will be properly attended to.

NEW YORK, TUESDAY, AUG. 20, 1912.

THE ACQUITTAL OF DARROW.

The acquittal of Darrow on the charge of bribery in connection with the trial of the McNamara brothers, the dynamiters of the Los Angeles Times Building, because of failure to secure corroboration of the testimony of accomplices, settles the question of personal guilt on that specific charge. There are other personal charges, but it is to be presumed that there are similar difficulties to conviction on the evidence of detectives and other witnesses more or less disqualified on grounds of interest or character. It is not open to question the results of the decisions of juries on the present or any possible later cases, but there are other questions which ought to be raised and settled in public opinion, since it is impossible to place them before juries.

This is another case where there is a search for the man higher up, and for the use of a species of campaign fund. Almost a quarter of a million dollars was raised for the defense of the McNamara brothers, and the spending of it was intrusted to Darrow and Gompers. That sum of money was not necessary for the acquittal of innocent men, and, in fact, conviction followed. How was that money spent? It is certain that a large portion of it was available for secret use, and, in fact, was used secretly, if not for bribery. Darrow's fee was understood to include "expenses." It therefore becomes important to know what those expenses were in order to know how large was the money fee of this friend of labor. If the expenses were small, the pretense of disinterested service of "labor" disappears. If those expenses were so large that the services of Darrow were scantly paid, that fact ought to be made to appear for his credit with labor. At present there has been no accounting worthy of the name. The declaration of Darrow and Gompers that all is right is not enough, or ought not to be enough, either for contributors to the fund or for those having no interest except as observers of public affairs. If there are items that it is not desirable to publish for any reason whatever, good or bad, public or private, at the very least there ought to be a certificate from public accountants that they have seen proofs that the items and vouchers are correct. The expenditure of hundreds of thousands in connection with the trial of men who confess their guilt is a public scandal, and leaves unsettled points not covered in connection with the verdict on the jury trial.

THE GIST OF ROOSEVELT.

Among the letters that we printed from leading citizens in the South yesterday there was none that was not informing. But one of them touched so simply and directly on what we believe to be the real issue in Mr. Roosevelt's campaign for a third term that we reproduce it:

> Charleston, S. C., Aug. 17.—Had President Roosevelt taken the position on the negro question which Candidate Roosevelt is now advocating, he would have won enthusiastic support of many Southerners.
>
> Having failed to abate a crying political nuisance while he had the power to do so, few thoughtful persons are disposed to take as more than a demogogic appeal his present protestations of regret over conditions which he indorsed with perfect fortitude so long as he was a conspicuous beneficiary of them.
>
> Powerful as is the bid he has made for the Southern vote, there is such a widespread distrust in this section of the country of the stability and integrity of his purposes political that there is small likelihood that there will be many takers.
>
> The spirit of unrest and radicalism is widespread here, as it is throughout the country, but it is not disposed to accept the leadership of an eleventh-hour convert, nor that of one who in frantic quest of followers puts forth a "confession of faith" in which progressiveness is advocated in one paragraph and a high-protection policy in the next.
> Those who were Radicals and Progressives while Col. Roosevelt himself was among their chief opponents, will scarcely confide their long-cherished cause to his unstable leadership at the present time. At least there is no chance of Col. Roosevelt attracting to himself any considerable following in the South. JOHN MARSHALL.

Mr. Marshall is a collateral descendant of the famous jurist, and in the lucidity and strength of his statement he shows the force of heredity. The sole resource of Mr. Roosevelt is in his professed representation of the sentiment in rebuke of and opposition to the crying abuse of privilege in the public affairs of the country. To gain that support he must win and keep the confidence of the people in his sincerity. As Mr. Marshall points out, his record during the long years that he was in a position of power does not justify belief in his sincerity. It is, on the contrary, branded with hopeless inconsistency.

THE ALDERMEN AND THE ROSENTHAL CASE.

Mr. Curran, Chairman of the investigating committee of the Board of Aldermen, is making a brave fight to prevent interference with the inquiry into the Rosenthal case. He declares that Mr. W. M. Speer, appointed by the Corporation Counsel at the Mayor's suggestion, as official counsel, after the committee had appointed Mr. Buckner, will have no standing in the inquiry, and that he and his associates will not permit any interference. This is the right spirit. The public approval is with Mr. Curran, and it is to be hoped that he will prove strong enough to withstand the subtle influences obviously working to confuse the situation and throw dust in the people's eyes.

Mr. Curran and his fellow-Aldermen can do more to clear away the mists. Two of the slayers of Rosenthal are still at large. Many "clues" to their hiding place have been obtained, but it is not unlikely that they are right in the Borough of Manhattan. The police pursuit of them has proved ineffectual. A large money reward, however, might soon secure their apprehension. If the Aldermen would pass a resolution offering a reward for their capture, only the Mayor's approval would be required to make it effective. That would scarcely be withheld.

FASHIONS IN GOVERNMENT.

Mr. Frank Putnam, Special Commissioner of Houston, Texas, is on his way to Europe to study municipal government, with a view to recommend for adoption whatever he finds worth while. But why go to Europe? "Abroad" has no novelties. There is nothing in municipal government which cannot be found better described in books than any individual Commissioner can describe it after a stay of reasonable length. Houston early adopted the commission form of government, having invented for the purpose an improvement on the Galveston plan. It has all the latest American novelties—the referendum, a sort of recall of officials by other officials, special votes on franchises, new-fangled primaries, and almost everything else on the Wisconsin programme. That, perhaps, explains Mr. Putnam's mission to Europe instead of to Wisconsin. Houston, perhaps, has exhausted all that the Wisconsin experiment station has to offer, and seeks still other novelties. Even in that case American experience is both fresher and broader than anything Europe has to offer. Mr. Putnam could put in a very pleasant holiday studying the experience of American cities which have rejected the latest novelties.

Two examples were supplied yesterday, and there are others. Trenton has found that commission government has raised the tax rate instead of lowering it, and enthusiasm has paled in consequence. But one form of the novelty was to be stability in office through five-year terms, and the experiment has long to run, although just begun. The only way seems to be to grin and bear it or to recall the Commissioners, although nothing is alleged against them except the failure to reduce the taxes according to expectation. It is declared that, although taxes have risen a tenth by reason of expenditures larger than under the old régime, yet the government has been efficient, and that the recall is both difficult and unjust.

The second example in the day's news is Redmond, Oregon, where the Governor proposes to turn out the Mayor with militia, unless he resigns, because he has been convicted of gambling. This is a form of recall beyond anything that the Wisconsin experiment station can boast of having devised. We shudder to think of it as applied to New York affairs. We shudder another time as we read that the Mayor thus vigorously recalled summons the recall to his defense. He cannot think of resigning without due and orderly process of recall by the citizens at large. The recall as a means of defying removal in the interest of good government is altogether the newest thing in the way of novelties.

Mr. Putnam might continue his researches at Milwaukee, where there has been experience with Socialistic novelties, and at Schenectady, where the heartless courts restricted the beneficent gifts of ice in the cruel Summer weather, and after a time at the city where it was proposed to go into the undertaker's business to reduce the cost of dying. It is all right to go to Europe for something old fashioned, and which there is nothing to prevent being adopted except the lack of experience and a single disposition toward good government. But the United States is the place to look for dodges to carry elections.

ASSASSINATION IN CHINA.

A sinister light is thrown on the possibilities of peace and order in China by the published details contained in our London dispatches yesterday morning. That the President of the republic should resort to simple military murder to get rid of men whom he considers dangerous to the Government shows that the fundamental conditions of republican rule are far from being realized. Under the old régime such occurrences were not unknown, though they were far from common. But they had an element of regularity in them, the sanction of long usage, and the authority of the "divinely provided" Emperor to excuse or sustain them. The action of the President is supposed to be based on law, as his title is, and to be limited by the rights of citizens to legal process. Yuan Shi-Kai, in dispatching a rival leader by assassination, undermines his own title.

In any other country such practices would seem to make civil strife inevitable. In China the fatalism of the common people may make them accept authority thus asserted and exercised, but it is proof of a situation with which it will be very difficult for foreigners to deal. It would be interesting to know what would have been the opinion of Dr. Morrison had that experienced student of things Chinese retained the post of political adviser to the President, to which he was appointed. The opponents to his employment, who were mainly foreign, cannot regard the present situation with much complacency. Dr. Morrison might have checked a tendency in the government of China which has disagreeable analogies with the apparent tendencies of the New York police.

THE FORGOTTEN COURT HOUSE.

Who remembers now the excitement over the selection of a site for the new County Court House, the fight to save City Hall Park from further encroachment, the elaborate plans for the formation of a new civic centre? Politicians know that the public memory is short. The title to the land selected for the new law courts has not yet been secured, yet it was understood that the work of erecting the building was to have been begun early in the Summer. As for the civic centre, that was a fleeting dream.

Senator O'Gorman's bill which provided for the removal of the Mullet Post Office from the lower end of City Hall Park, permitting its restoration to the city, and the erection of a downtown Post Office and Federal Court Building, presumably in the elusive civic centre, has been "held up" by Senators from other States, for reasons hard to comprehend. Somebody wants the United States Government to hold on to the tip end of City Hall Park, and somebody seems likely to have his way. The Judges will have to endure the bad air of the Tweed Court House for a long term of years, too; unless, indeed, the plan to steal more of City Hall Park and build there is revived and carried out while the people are still asleep.

DRINKING AND PROHIBITION.

According to the report of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, the consumption of intoxicants in the Nation is rapidly increasing. There has been some reduction in beer drinking, the report says, but the increase in the consumption of whisky is substantial. Maps were published early in 1910, showing 470,602 square miles of this country under State prohibition, 1,836,895 square miles under prohibition by local option, and but 1,303,249 square miles under license laws; that is, in about one-third of the United States the sale of liquor was permitted. The growth of prohibition territory had been progressively rapid for several years. Yet the total per capita consumption of intoxicating liquors, according to the Statistical Abstract of the United States, rose from 16.5 gallons in 1897 to 21.06 in 1909, to 21.86 in 1910, and to 22.79 in 1911.

The Times asks, not at all in a spirit of hostility to the aims of the Prohibition Party, how prohibition can prohibit, when the amount of liquors drunk steadily increases with the extension of prohibition territory. The reply that the liquor interests are still opposing prohibition, and therefore it must be effective, is not satisfactory. Prohibition is effective in destroying vested property interests within the prohibition States, rendering valueless the breweries, distilleries, saloons, and their furnishings. But does this not merely force a realignment of the liquor business across State lines, at great economic loss? Can it be that the dwellers within the vast areas wherein liquor selling is illegal are really drinking less, while the per capita consumption for the whole people has risen so enormously?

"GLARE."

Technically defined, "glare" is "the "uncomfortable sensation experienced "when a bright light shines directly "into the eyes." Those who have experienced at the seashore the reflection of sunlight from the ocean and the beach know how unpleasant may be its effects. The momentary discomfort of passing from darkness into a brilliantly lighted room leaves no permanent hurt, because of the adaptable contractions of the pupil. The retina accommodates itself moderately to extra illumination. But where the exposure is too long continued it may leave permanent traces of disability.

In The Post-Graduate Medical Journal Dr. A. Edward Davis describes the effects of glare from the sea, from wet asphalt, from snow and whitened ground surfaces, from the intense flash of an electric current short-circuited, from factory furnaces, and from working under electric arcs and oxy-acetylene gas. Ordinary incandescent lights, too, are rich in ultra-violet rays, which, combined with their brightness, tend to produce the symptoms of "snow blindness." Against the actinic rays the structure of the eye is, in a degree, protective. Dr. Davis says:

> The cornea lens and vitreous cut off and absorb all the ultra-violet rays below a certain wave length, e. g., the cornea below 195 microns, the lens below 350, and the vitreous below 280 (Parsons.) Of wave length longer than this, e. g., above 400, which would be in the visible spectrum, the media of the eyes do not seem able to absorb. And it is here that artificial aid must be sought.

The artificial aid should be that of plain flint glasses as guards against the ultra-violet rays, and these are "also effective in preventing snow "blindness and electric blindness." But amber, amethyst, and smoked glasses are likewise useful in absorbing the harmful rays.

Police Commissioner Waldo's request for an increased salary could scarcely have been made at a less propitious moment. Mr. Waldo and his whole department are now on trial before the public. We quite agree with him that $15,000 a year is not too large a wage for the head of the New York Police, if he is equal to the requirements of the post. A thoroughly competent Police Commissioner might be worth twice that sum. But Mr. Waldo is not at present proving himself a competent Commissioner. He and the Inspectors, Captains, and patrolmen for whom he asks increased payment will have to wait a while. Some of them will doubtless be receiving less instead of more of the people's money before long.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

A Dilemma With No Escape.

Such a showing of income and expenditures as that made by the motorman's wife whose detailed statement was printed yesterday can be judged from two points of view, each fair enough, but leading to conclusions widely different.

Her husband, she said, had earned last year $269, while to keep him, her, and their one child, a baby, supplied with the absolute necessities of shelter, food, and clothing they had been obliged to spend $405, the excess coming from savings made presumably by one or both of the parents before their marriage. Obviously, this cannot go on long, and the, or one, natural deduction from such a state of affairs is that this man, knowing what his earning power was, should not have undertaken the burden of supporting even a small family.

There would be difficulty, of course, in persuading his employers that his wage should be adjusted to his needs as a husband and father rather than by the market price of such services as he can render. His present grievance, they might say, is of his own creation, and they might ask whether, if they should pay him more than a single man doing the same work, what they should give men with three, four, or a dozen children. On the other hand, it is a certainty that a good many men with earning powers like his will marry, and certain, too, is it that somehow or other they and at least a part of their progeny will be supported.

The alternatives seem to be the payment of a "living wage," which means a wage large enough to prevent a fall, slow or rapid, in the social scale, or else to see the number of paupers, defectives, and criminals increase—which also is expensive. For jails, poorhouses, and asylums cost a lot of money, and while the failure to pay living wages is not the only thing that provides such institutions with inmates, perhaps a majority of them could be traced to that source.

The other day our Commissioner of Immigration decided that a citizen who is earning $25 a week was able to support two relatives from abroad besides himself, and that therefore the likelihood of the aliens becoming public charges was not great enough to warrant their exclusion. The motorman with the account-keeping wife is earning only $5 a week, and that is plainly not enough, if $25 is only enough for the maintenance of three people.

Strange News from the South.

In one of the many letters printed by The Times yesterday from men in the South who had been asked as to the feeling toward Col. Roosevelt in that section there was made a decidedly surprising statement. The writer, A. M. Shook, a bank President and coal operator of Tracy City, Tenn., agreed with the others questioned that the Colonel's confidently announced expectation of drawing a lot of Southern Democratic votes from Gov. Wilson was doomed to disappointment, but he added that he "will get some votes by "reason of his advocacy of woman's "suffrage, which has grown very fast "within the past two years."

This will be news to the suffragists themselves, we think, for the fact that there has been such growth, if fact it be, has been very successfully concealed, and it was the general belief that the antagonism to extension of the franchise was stronger in the South than in any other part of the country. So we have frequently been told, and so we have learned from many public utterances by Southern speakers. One of our own Washington dispatches, also printed yesterday, said that "in the Southern States "there is positive hostility to the move"ment, and this hostility is sharpest "among the women. * * * The women "seem to take it as an attack upon their "assured position." That some Southern women have "come out for suffrage" is indeed true, the best-known group of them, perhaps, being in Virginia and including Mary Johnston, Mrs. Bosher, Mrs. Valentine, and Mrs. Meredith, all of Richmond.

It is not remembered, however, that any Northern suffragist has claimed much, if anything, in regard to the South as a whole. Possibly the growth reported by Mr. Shook is confined to Tennessee, a State some parts of which, at least, have never been typically Southern.

Died That Others Might Live.

If death incurred in the public service and as a direct result of it be taken as justifying the appropriation of public money for the maintenance of the victim's dependent relatives—and, of course, it is so taken—then there should be no hesitation about passing the bill now before Congress for the relief of Dr. T. B. McClintic's widow.

As drawn by Senator Myers of Montana, the bill provides for giving to Mrs. McClintic the lump sum of $5,760, which is what her husband would have drawn from the Government in two years. Perhaps an annual pension would be more judicious, or more conducive to the widow's safety from loss through bad investment, but in itself this sum is by no means overgenerous.

Dr. McClintic died for his country as truly as if he had fallen in battle. Indeed, he did fall in battle, though it was against a disease instead of against a hostile army. An officer of the United States Public Health and Marine Hospital Service, he was sent out to the Bitter Root Valley in Montana, where Rocky Mountain fever in particularly virulent form was epidemic. The measures he took for exterminating the tick which transmits it were entirely successful. But he was himself attacked by the malady from which he had delivered others, and after a brief illness he died, another martyr of science. He leaves a name worthy to stand with those who offered and lost their lives in Cuba that the world might be freed from yellow fever, for, like them, he triumphed and perished.

Dr. McClintic was only 39 years old and he had been married only a year. The Journal of the American Medical Association says of him that, besides being recognized as the highest authority on the disease of which he died, he had done much good work in the investigation of germicides and antiseptics, and was regarded by his associates in the Marine Hospital Service as a man of great promise. Of course, he died poor, but he had conquered a malady that was threatening the habitability of a large region, and therefore is the Nation deeply indebted to him. At least a part of that debt should be paid to his widow, and it should be paid as such, and not as a favor.

THE UNMARRIED WOMAN

To the Editor of The New York Times:

May a woman who has studied deeply and earnestly this question be allowed space in which to point out the only vital point in regard to the contention of the Rev. Elmer Huffner? The Rev. Elmer Huffner made a great mistake in the wording of his attack on unmarried women, but his contention, according to all laws of the Creator and of all deep-thinking economists, is perfectly correct, and is a truth which is only beginning to be realized in this generation. That his sermon was cruel and crude in its expression of this truth was a misfortune.

Unmarried women may be doing what seems the most heroic work in helping their weaker brothers and sisters, making their own lives a sacrifice, but these same women are short-sighted if they do not see how fruitless are their efforts compared with giving to the world blood and brain and bodies which are to be actively instrumental in carrying on the world's work for years after their own names are forgotten.

This is one of the lessons women have yet to learn, that the Creator had a perfect plan when he created woman; she has worked through the past ages at great disadvantage. She has only just arrived at the "kindergarten" of her education; she has taken a false step in this rising generation and would believe that her greatest power for good lies in mental equipment and in active work in reforms in the world. A few women seem fitted for such work, the world needs some unmarried women—perhaps Miss Gould and Miss Addams are exactly where they should be—but that should not blind us to the fact that there is vast and undreamed of truth in the contention that the average unmarried women have failed of their highest privilege and duty to the generations to come. However disagreeable and crude may be the sound of the words, the truth will not be hidden, and it must abide its time to be fulfilled. AN AMERICAN WIFE.

THE THIRD-TERM DANGER

Portrayed by Jefferson in Letter Refusing a Third Nomination.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In December, 1807, Jefferson issued a letter to several of the States which had invited him to become a candidate for a third term. He said:

> That I should lay down my charge at a proper period is as much a duty as to have borne it faithfully. If some termination to the services of the Chief Magistrate be not fixed by the Constitution or supplied by practice, his office, nominally for four years, will, in fact, become for life, and history shows how easily that degenerates into an inheritance. Believing that a representative Government, responsible at short periods of election, is that which produces the greatest sum of happiness to mankind, I feel it a duty to do no act which will essentially impair that principle, and I should unwillingly be the first person who, disregarding the sound precedent set by an illustrious predecessor, should furnish the first example of prolongation beyond the second term of office.

GOVERNMENT UNIONIZATION.

An Independent Workman Objects to the Rule of Gompers.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The editorial in this morning's issue of The Times on "Unionizing of Government Employes" was timely and to the point. Having been a party to the second decision of Roosevelt in the Fall of 1906, when an employe of the Weather Bureau, (the first decision being in connection with the Miller case in the Government Printing Office,) I am in a position to know how the "System" under Samuel Gompers works and is intended to work, and know from personal experience what the independent workman has to contend with.

The average politician seems to ignore the fact that there are many workmen, very many, in fact, who refuse to bend the knee to Gompers and his associates, and prefer to control the disposal of their time and labor according to their own judgment, and not that of the walking delegate. False Prophets of Politics.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

There were many prophets in Israel before the birth of Christ, and since his death innumerable persons have posed as the reincarnated Holy Ghost, and their followers have believed that they were being led directly into the millennium.

To me the great sincerity of Mr. Roosevelt's followers makes the false pretenses of the "mad Mullah" the more glaringly false. He is like brass beside gold. When the hysteria of their autointoxication shall have subsided, the men and women who now bathe their eyes in the glories of a fata morgana will see, with overwhelming despair, that what they mistook for the clear waters of an oasis in the desert, is nothing but the burning sand of egotistical ambition.

Quoting Milton:

> But all was false and hollow; though his tongue
> Dropped manna, and could make the worse appear
> The better reason, to perplex and dash
> Maturest counsels.

Women the Offenders.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I am in hearty accord with the ideas of your correspondent relative to the "cross-legged nuisance." But I wish to call attention to the fact that among men the habit is fast dying out, while among women the habit is growing, as any keen observer of manners in public conveyances will readily notice. SARATOGA PAGEANT OPENS.

Battle of 1777 Reproduced with Senator Brackett as Gen. Burgoyne.

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Congress Spring Park became a battle ground tonight when the pageant of Saratoga was opened with a reproduction of the Battle of Saratoga as it was fought here on Oct. 17, 1777. Participating in the battle were State Senator Edgar T. Brackett, who took the part of Gen. Burgoyne, and nearly 100 mounted troopers and several hundred Hessians, British infantry, and Company L of the Second Regiment, State National Guuard. Cannon roared and musketry cracked for nearly an hour during the battle, which was staged along the woods, hills, lake, and lawns, according to a scenario prepared by authorities on the battle.

The pageant also included a large number of other episodes in the history of Northern New York, including the early settlement of the Dutch and Huguenots, the destruction of these settlements by the French and Indians, the discovery of the High Rock Spring by the Indians, and a reproduction of a ball of the early sixties, in which the music and costumes were those of 1861.

Gov. and Mrs. John A. Dix will review the pageant later in the week. Over 3,000 spectators were present to-night, including the Misses Griffith, William D. Ellis, Amos F. Eno, and Harry S. Ludlow of New York.

SUES SAGE ESTATE FOR TAXES

Minnesota Seeks Inheritance Charges on Property in That State.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 19.—Following the filing of a petition with Judge W. A. Munger of the Probate Court in Wabasha County, Assistant Attorney General W. J. Stevonson will prosecute the action brought against the Russell Sage estate last June to collect inheritance taxes in Minnesota.

Russell Sage obtained judgment in the Circuit Court of Appeals against the village of Reeds Landing, in Wabasha County for bonds it issued and which he bought. Later, the town as a town, was abandoned, and became merely a part of Wabasha County. Mr. Sage, through his attorneys, brought suit to collect the money due on $16,000 bonds and obtained judgment. At the time of his death $14,000 worth of these bonds remained unpaid. Suit to collect inheritance tax on this and on properties he held in other parts of the State has been instituted.

Mr. Sage obtained his Minnesota holdings while building sections of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway.

CURB ON DRUG SMUGGLERS.

New Law Drafted to Stop Contraband Importation of Opium.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—In an effort to check activities of the smugglers of opium from the Orient, United States District Attorney McNab is working upon the draft of a new law which he will seek to have the United States Treasury Department sanction.

The present statute provides fines for the Captains of vessels on which opium is found. Mr. McNab proposes a statute that will impose a fine equal to the market value of the contraband drug, not upon the Captain, but upon the steamship company operating the vessel. The finding of opium aboard a ship, the statute will provide, shall be prima facie evidence of negligence on the part of the steamship company, and the fine shall be imposed at once.

FRATERNITIES IN SESSION.

Protection Represented by Organization Amounts to More Than $5,000,000,000.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 19.—The Associated Fraternities of America opened its annual session here to-day and will continue for three days. Delegates from fraternal orders in all parts of the United States and Canada are present.

The meeting was called to order by President A. K. Talbot of Lincoln, Neb. Secretary E. W. Donovan of Detroit, Mich., reported that the protection in force represented by the organization amounts to more than $5,000,000,000, and the death and disability benefits paid out annually totals $5,000,000.

STOLE TILLMAN'S THUNDER.

Reader Says the Senator, and Not Roosevelt, Fathered Primary Plan.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Did Mr. Roosevelt steal his idea of the primary plan from his old political enemy, Senator B. R. Tillman of South Carolina? Senator Tillman, or the people of his State, were the first to originate the idea of nominating all State officers, from a Justice of the Peace up to the Governor of the State, by means of direct primaries. They were the first to carry this plan into effect, and Mr. Tillman was the first candidate for Governor of any State in the Union who was nominated by the primary plan. He was also the first United States Senator to be nominated in this way, and it can well be said that he is the father of the primary plan.

Senator Tillman has had an honorable career as Governor and Senator. He is now a candidate before the State primary for renomination to the United States Senate, and I believe the people of South Carolina would make no mistake in returning him to that post.

ONE WHO HAS KNOWN HIM.

New York, Aug. 19, 1912.

Gen. John Sullivan.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In view of the approaching dedication of Sullivan Park and Battle Monument on Aug. 29, in commemoration of the march made by Gen. John Sullivan and his gallant men through the wilderness, and his decisive victory at the battle of Newtown 133 years ago, (Aug. 29, 1779,) it may not be amiss to quote a letter from him to the President of the Continental Congress which I discovered in my research through the journals of the Continental Congress:

> In Camp, Sept. 27, 1777.
> I have never endeavored to establish my reputation by my own pen, nor have I according to modern customs employed others for that purpose; neither have I adopted the still more infamous method of raising my own reputation by destroying that of others.

No Hope for Roosevelt in Virginia.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In Virginia I have yet to find a single Democrat—and I have been all over the State since the nominations—who will support Roosevelt. His expectation of breaking into the ranks of the Democrats of the other Southern States is, in my opinion, just as vain as is his hope of doing anything in Virginia.

IN SYMPATHY.

Man of Gotham, for my part,
You I pity from my heart;
  When I note the garb you wear,
  I don't wonder that you swear;
For in August's grilling heat
You are garbed for Winter's sleet.

By that heavy padded coat
You are surely Fashion's goat;
  By that collar, stiff and high,
  Which would make a maiden cry,
And thro' which no breezes blow,
Little common sense you show.

By your brow which sweat-drops bears,
By your wilted, heated airs,
  By that belt so tightly drawn,
  Which you don when vests are gone,
You are, wretched, maidens know,
For you oft impatience show.

Man of Gotham, from my heart
Surging waves of pity start.
  Speed the day when you may wear
  Garments that admit some air.
Maids of Gotham pray with me
Some day you'll be cool as we.

SHIP SUBSIDIES AND CANAL TOLLS

Horace White Points Out "Other Imbecility" Than the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have read with satisfaction your editorial article on the alleged imbecility of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. I venture to point out other instances of imbecility in circulation.

If the Hay-Pauncefote treaty had contained a clause expressly authorizing us to admit to the Panama Canal free of toll all American ships engaged exclusively in coastwise trade the question would have been presented to Congress: Shall we grant a subsidy to coastwise shipping, which is a legalized monopoly, although we have refused any subsidy to shipping in the foreign trade, which is subject to the competition of the whole world?

Then we should have had a debate on the ship subsidy question unembarrassed by any other issue, and the Democratic Party would have either voted against subsidies or would have run counter to its own principles and tradition.

Probably the desire to hit our own railroads was a more potent factor in the recent debates than the desire to flout the nations of Europe, but what an imbecility that is!

We have in one way and another taken the rate-making power away from the railroads and lodged it in the Inter-State Commerce Commission. In other words, the Government itself, the owner of the canal, has assumed and now exercises the power to regulate the rates to be charged by the railroads, but, not satisfied with that, it sets the dogs on them also. If that is not imbecility it is gross oppression and injustice. Any powerful private person doing such injury to a weaker one would be called by a very bad name.

If there had been no Hay-Pauncefote treaty it would still be for our interest to open the canal to the ships of all nations, including our own, on equal terms as to tolls and facilities.

In an economic view it is for our interest to get as much business as possible. The more ships that pass through, the more toll money we shall get; also the more incidental traffic and profit.

From other points of view we know that "good name in man or woman is the immediate jewel of the soul," and this is true of nations as well as of individuals. We cannot violate our contracts and escape punishment therefor. Even if it takes no other form than an impairment of our own self-respect, that alone would be too great a price to pay for the Panama Canal. HORACE WHITE.

CATHOLICS FIGHT SOCIALISM.

Edward Feeney of Brooklyn Condemns Industrial Workers of the World.

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 19.—President Edward Feeney, Brooklyn, and Secretary Anthony Matre, St. Louis, in their reports to the eleventh convention of the American Federation of Catholic Societies today, laid much stress on their anti-Socialistic utterances.

"The alarm that we have been sounding for years," said Mr. Feeney, "has at last attracted the attention of Catholics throughout the land. Publications combating Socialism are appearing in different sections. The federation should lead in this great work. Catholics are deeply interested in the preservation of the great American Republic that gave welcome and shelter to our fathers. We oppose all attempts to substitute chaos for order in this land of ours."

Mr. Feeney and Mr. Matre commended the American Federation of Labor, while Mr. Feeney listed the Industrial Workers of the World as the "Socialist Party in America to-day." Mr. Matre said the federation had become established in every State and noted the part played by the organization in President Taft's suspension of Commissioner Valentine's order prohibiting display of religious insignia in Government schools.

At to-night's session organized and unorganized labor were treated respectively in addresses by Peter W. Collins of the Electrical Workers of America, and Prof. James Hagerty, head of the Economic Department, Ohio State University.

President Feeney referred to the 200,000 graduates annually sent out from the parochial schools "imbued with the spirit of patriotism and loyalty." He looked forward, he said, to the time when the State would recognize this service of the Catholics, who expend $40,000,000 annually in education of their children and at the same time are taxed $60,000,000 additional for maintenance of public schools.

An innovation in parades was started here when two dozen water wagons were scattered at intervals in the pageant of the American Federation of Catholic Societies. The wagons were provided with distilled water and individual drinking cups.

SHE FLAYS BENCH AND BAR.

Mrs. Daniel, Calling All Lawyers Dishonest, Argues Her Own Case.

To show her contempt for all lawyers, as she said, Mrs. Anna K. Daniel of 198 West Eighty-fourth Street appeared before Supreme Court Justice Ford yesterday on her own behalf to argue against a forced sale of her residence on a foreclosure suit still pending in the Court of Appeals.

The United States Trust Company obtained a $19,000 judgment against her and an order to foreclose the mortgage on Mrs. Daniel's property. The sale was scheduled for next Friday. It is this sale which Mrs. Daniel seeks to stay.

In her argument Mrs. Daniel took occasion to denounce the condition of the bench throughout the country and to brand the bar as equally corrupt. It was because of what she styled the general dishonesty of American lawyers that Mrs. Daniel decided to present her case before Justice Ford. He reserved decision.

FAMILY'S BRAVE STRUGGLE.

Charity Organization Society Asks Aid for Them.

Two boys, 16 and 14 years old, are sharing with their mother the responsibility of keeping up the home which their father's sudden death recently left without a wage earner. Their excellent school record has made it possible for each to make a good start; but there are five younger brothers and sisters, and the $9 which they earn must necessarily fall short of meeting the family expenses. The church which they attend is helping with groceries, and an aunt will give $3 a month. Twelve dollars a month more is needed toward the rent. The Charity Organization Society asks for $144 to supply this for twelve months.

Gifts may be sent to the office of the society, 105 East Twenty-second Street, and will be acknowledged. The society acknowledges the following contributions received in response to a previous appeal in The Times: "H. L. T.," $2; "S. S.," $2; William Messer, $5; Mrs. Fordyce Barker, $5; Mrs. C. Kressling, $1; Anonymous, $10; "C. K. H.," $5.

BEAUTIFUL FANTASY AT MRS. FISH'S BALL

Nymphs Dance in Moonlight, While Doves and Butterflies Flutter in Ball Room.

DECORATIONS OF LOUIS XVI.

Procession of Page Boys, and Minuet Danced in Court Costume — Fine Floral Display at Crossways.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 19.—Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish gave a ball at Crossways to-night for her niece, Miss Helena L. Fish of New York, daughter of Hamilton Fish. More than 400 invitations were issued.

The decorations represented the period of Louis XVI. Previous to the ball many large dinner parties were given, including those of Mr. and Mrs. T. Suffern Tailer, Mrs. Oelrichs, Mr. and Mrs. William Storrs Wells, Henry Clews, Col. and Mrs. Joseph H. Willard, Mr. and Mrs. Pembroke Jones, and Mrs. Vanderbilt.

As the guests approached Crossways a beautiful electrical display was sighted. Arches were outlined with small electric lamps, and driveways and walks were outlined with fairy lamps. The hall was decorated with festoons and wreaths.

Passing into the dining room from the hall was a large floral column, constructed of tall bay trees and flowers. Floral wreaths and festoons on the walls and panel work made a beautiful effect. The ballroom was 60 feet long, 50 feet wide, and 15 feet high, with the walls paneled with large mirrors. Every other panel was made into floral effect by the employment of handsome baskets filled with flowers.

Separating the ballroom was a large rose arbor, inclosed in light green effect, which was lighted and showed bowers of roses. Throughout this room were many Louis XVI. garden furnishings. On each side of the room were two rare Louis XVI. garden statues of white marble. At the end of the arbor stood a handsome marble statue of a dancing girl.

As the guests entered the hall a massive floral screen of four panels was noticed, with one side festooned with beautiful hydrangeas, and directly opposite were white hydrangeas, to correspond with the hall decorations.

Mrs. Fish Receives.

Mrs. Fish received her guests at the head of the grand stairway, leading from the main hall into the ballroom. She wore a handsome gown of the period which the ball represented—Louis XVI. Miss Janet Fish, who assisted Mrs. Fish in receiving, wore a costume of blue chiffon with gold embroidery. Miss Helena L. Fish, who also received with Mrs. Fish, wore a Persian costume of pink chiffon with pale green trimmings. Standing about Mrs. Fish while receiving were two halberd bearers, and all the servants were in Louis XVI. livery, with powdered hair.

At 11 o'clock a fantasy was presented and proved a magnificent chapter of the night. An expectant thrill went through the large assembly as the ballroom lights went down and a blue light shot through the beautiful room.

As the strains of enchanting music wafted through the air, through the roses and bay trees a procession of page boys, headed by a man playing a quaint old-time musical instrument, was seen approaching the ballroom. All were garbed in the silks and satins of the period. On they came, holding in their right hands, blue and silver canes from which were suspended silver lanterns hung with rosebuds and ribbons. Hung from boy to boy were garlands of laurels, exquisitely joined with roses, lilies and bluettes, and satin ribbon.

Dance of the Nymphs.

These boys now grouped themselves so as to make part of the ballroom a temporary stage. As they took their positions, suddenly in the moonlight appeared nymphs being beckoned on to the dance by their goddess sister. The music, changing, a dance symbolizing the spirit of the garden and peace, was begun. Garlands of flowers were flung in the air, caught, and danced with. Doves were at this time released and fluttered in the ballroom, while hundreds of butterflies floated everywhere.

The music stopped, the nymphs faded into the greenery, the goddess of the garden reappeared beckoning on six masked mortals in court costumes of silk and lace, who, to slow music, danced a charming minuet with delightful grace and spirit.

The dance ended and the strains of the music was again heard. The dancers departed on their way, surrounded by their pages, the blue light disappeared, and the beautiful fantasy was over, and once more the delighted guests found themselves back in the twentieth century.

This beautiful feature and all the dances were arranged by Mrs. R. W. Hawkesworth, assisted by C. K. Slater of New York. This opening feature of the ball was followed by general dancing.

Before the supper the Russian Imperial Balalaika Orchestra played and the Russian dancers, Pietroff and Hartie, in beautiful costume, entertained the guests. Later they were seen in a change of costume, dancing the entrancing Russian folk numbers.

BRIDE OF 75 DIES OF BURNS.

Mrs. Crane Was Suing for Annulment of Marriage to Man of 21.

DAYTON, Ohio, Aug. 19.—Mrs. Rosella Crane, 75, was burned to death in a gasoline stove explosion in her cottage near Lebanon to-day. The aged woman's clothing caught fire and she died alone. Mrs. Crane's death terminates the suit for annulment of her marriage with Delmar Crane, 21 years old, with whom she eloped to Newport, Ky., about three months ago.

Mrs. Crane, whose former name was Whitman, advertised in the Cincinnati papers for a husband after the death of her first huband about a year ago. She met young Crane, and it is said Mrs. Whitman gave him $500. Then he left. Mrs. Crane's two children, both grown, had a guardian appointed for her. This was followed by a suit for annulment of the marriage on the ground that Mrs. Crane was an imbecile.

Miss Neumann to Wed Sidney Rich.

The engagement has been announced of Miss Valerie Neumann, daughter of Mrs. Caroline Neumann of 114 East Ninety-third Street, to Sidney Rich, American Deputy Consul at Chemnitz, Saxony, Germany. Miss Neumann went abroad six weeks ago, and has been spending some time in Dresden, where the engagement was announced. She will return to this side the first week in September. No date has been set for the wedding.

Son Born to Mrs. H. C. Bloomingdale.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram C. Bloomingdale, who are spending the Summer at their country home at Deal, N. J., are being congratulated on the birth of a son on Sunday. The child will bear the name of his grandfather, the late Lyman G. Bloomingdale, a founder of the firm of Bloomingdale Brothers of New York.

Music in the Parks.

There will be concerts in Central Park, Mount Morris and Chelsea Parks at 8 o'clock this evening.

BRIDAL PAIR ELUDE PURSUERS

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. O'Connor, Jr., Blockade Path of Friends in Autos.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene F. O'Connor, Jr., of Brooklyn, who were married on Aug. 12 at the country home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wesley Durham of Philadelphia, at Lake Placid, N. Y., are spending their honeymoon at the Hotel Champlain in Clinton County. They plan to continue their trip by motor to Canada, returning to Brooklyn in September.

The young couple arrived at the hotel in their automobile after a thrilling chase by a party of their young friends in automobiles, which started shortly after the wedding. By paying the driver of a passing hay wagon to blockade the road, the young couple finally eluded their pursuers and reached the Champlain.

PAY FOR PENNILESS ARMY.

Enlisted Men to Have Part of Funds Congress Denied Them.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—In a few days the 70,000 enlisted men of the army who are now without funds will receive a little money and be able to tide over the time until the Government pays them in full. A decision made to-day by Paymaster General George R. Smith leaves it to the discretion of commanding officers whether part or all of the July pay of the men should be given to them. It sounds strange to hear the financial standing of the United States discussed, as it must be, in connection with the pay of the army. Few people know that the entire enlisted force of the army has gone without pay for the months of June and July, and that thousands of men had to attend the Summer manoeuvres in different parts of the country without a cent beyond what they or their officers could borrow for them.

The Secretary of War did not know as late as last week that this was the state of affairs. Many, like him, have thought that because Congress had twice passed a resolution extending the yearly appropriations for a month the men had enough money to get along.

The whole difficulty is due to the delay by Congress to pass the Army bill and the Deficiency bill containing the amount due for the month of June. The Deficiency bill is the last bill to be passed at each session, in order that any item forgotten at the last moment may be included in it.

HOUSE PASSES NEW DRUG ACT

It Will Facilitate Prosecution in Case of Worthless Medicines.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The Sherley bill to meet the decision of the Supreme Court in the Johnson case relative to the misbranding of drugs and proprietary medicines was passed by the House today by unanimous consent.

Under the court's decision, the misbranding prohibitions contained in the pure-food law are confined to false statements as to the identity of the contents of the package, but not to false or deceptive statements as to the curative value of these drugs.

The proposed amendemnt of the law will enable the Department of Agriculture successfully to prosecute any person who sells a worthless or injurious drug with false and deceptive statements upon the label of the package relative to the drug's curative effect.

DENMAN NOT IN DISFAVOR.

Taft Not Ousting Cleveland Attorney for Aiding Bull Moose.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—At the White House a telegram was received to-day from a Toledo (Ohio) editor asking if U. G. Denman, United States Attorney at Cleveland, had been asked to resign because of alleged political activity in behalf of the Progressive Party in Ohio. Carmi A. Thompson, Secretary to President Taft, wired in reply: "No truth in statement U. G. Denman is to lose position. On the contrary, his record in department is entirely satisfactory."

'READY MONEY' SURE TO WIN SPOT CASH

IT IS VERY WELL ACTED

But Better Stage Management Would Have Relieved Its Melodramatic Features of Their Obviousness.

"Ready Money" ought to be good for plenty of spot cash in any box office in the country, and the fact is pretty sure to be quickly testified at the Maxine Elliott Theatre, where this new play by James Montgomery was seen last night.

Its story visualizes the human weakness for following the band wagon.

"You don't have to have money to make it," argues Jackson Ives, counterfeiter. "All you have to do is to make people think you have it."

"Nothing succeeds like success," admits Stephen Baird, owner of the Syrocket Mine, after he realizes on the wisdom of this "good angel's" tip.

Before that happens, however, a very good deal of real humor is developed out of Stephen Baird's misfortunes. All of his friends are prosperous but he is in hard luck, with only a quarter in his pocket, and his seemingly worthless property about to be taken in default of payment on a $20,000 note. It is New Year's Eve, a time for general jollification. But not for Stephen.

"Why don't they begin the new year on April 1?" expresses a sentiment in keeping with his mood.

Several times he sees money in sight, only to have it taken away, leaving him in deeper gloom than ever. The final straw comes when the girl he is engaged to starts to give him back the engagement ring, then relents and keeps the diamond herself, thereby depriving him of a final hope of realizing on something.

What happens ultimately in the first act, which, let it be said in passing, is neater in construction and far less apparent as to its mechanics than those that follow, is the ultimate faith reposed in Stephen by the counterfeiter, who forces a small fortune in thousand-dollar bills into the young mine owner's hands. His idea, originally, is to have Stephen pass the money for him. But the boy, though poor, is honest, as a virtuous hero ought to be, though heaven knows theatre audiences love the "crooks," as was again apparent last night. So, when the boy refuses to do business his way, the counterfeiter suggests that he merely "flash" the money.

The result exceeds expectations. Stephen's friends fall over themselves giving checks for stock in the presumably worthless mine. And, of course, ultimately the mine pans out.

The ways and means to the end will be pretty apparent to any experienced playgoer. But, happily, for the popular success of Mr. Montgomery's play, it is otherwise so generally entertaining that the fault is not serious. A little more ingenuity in stage management would have remedied the defects easily enough. Again, though the actors in many respects do as much for the play as it does for them, there were times last night when they, too, allowed their mechanics to be too obvious. It doesn't do to slow up too much on "points" even when one is sure of them.

On the whole, however, "Ready Money" is a really refreshing entertainment, and its popularity is assured. Mr. Courtenay, barring the fault which has been mentioned and which he shares with several others, plays with much charm and variety, and Mr. Kilgour, though excessively flamboyant, brings values in a considerable virility and forcefulness. James Bradbury makes much of lesser opportunities, through his skill and unction, and Henry Miller, Jr., Lee Donnelly, Norman Tharp, and George Loane Tucker play excellently. So do Scott Cooper and Ben Johnson.

The opportunities for the women are rather limited, but Miss Margaret Greene is a sweet, pretty, and appealing heroine. The fragile beauty of Miss Fay Wallace is an asset supplemented by neat playing.

Ida Darling, Elizabeth Nelson, Guy Nichols, and Alfred A. Hesse also deserve a kindly word of mention.

THE WRESTLING CHEESE.

It Has Things Its Own Way at the Victoria—Spirit Pictures.

What appears to be a huge Edam cheese is rolled on the stage of the Victoria, and half a dozen boys, presumably selected from the audience, chase it with sticks. The problem is to force the "cheese" into a horizontal position—in other words, to make it lie down on its flat side and behave itself.

But the internal arrangements of the "cheese" are such that no amount of strength and effort can produce this result.

Then the boys make the attempt single-handed, and the "cheese" easily worsts each of them in turn, with an occasional hard fall for the would-be human wrestlers. Various other tricks are attempted, but the "cheese" has its own way to the last.

Another novelty at Hammerstein's this week is the "Spirit Pictures," so-called. Blank canvases are shown and reproductions of famous masterpieces are materialized in "full view of the audience." The act is effective.

But both these novelties would be more appealing with a little more graciousness replacing the bumptious pose of the person who presents them.

ICE TRUST TO BE GOOD.

Agrees to Abrogate Trade-Restraint Contracts in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Representatives of the American Ice Company and of the Department of Justice to-day reached an amicable understanding as a basis for the operations of the company in the District of Columbia. It is understood that the ice company has agreed to abrogate any contracts in restraint of trade.

The company was represented by President W. M. Oler and Director Tucker, while Attorney General Wickersham and Assistant United States Attorney Reginald S. Huidekoper looked after the interests of the Government. The conference was held in pursuance of a former meting which took place after a Grand Jury investigation of the operations of the company had been halted.

DWIGHT TO QUIT CONGRESS.

New York Representative Announces His Pending Retirement.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Representative John W. Dwight of New York announced to-day that he would not again be a candidate for Congress and that if nominated he would not accept the nomination.

Mr. Dwight said his reason for retirement from Congress was personal. He has been Republican whip of the House for several years, and has served in six Congresses.

'POUSSE CAFE' AT COLUMBIA.

Dave Marion Is Amusing in a New Burlesque Written by Himself.

At the Columbia Theatre yesterday was presented a new burlesque, "Pousse Café," in which Dave Marion not only participated, but for which he had also contributed the book, lyrics, and music. The show, in essentials, was of a sort familiar to the patrons of this theatre, although in the main it was more pretentious than the average offering.

Marion himself appeared in several amusing scenes, especially one in which he officiated as a hansom cab driver. In this he had the capable assistance of a property horse. At another time he sang a song, copiously illustrated by the chorus, in which was depicted the charitable nature of those who have sinned and suffered.

The piece is in many brilliant scenes which offered opportunity for the chorus to wear startling costumes, thereby furnishing suitable backgrounds for the comedians who were never very far from the field of action. In the cabaret scene the Symphony Four and Lawrence and Thompson introduced specialties.

CONSTANTINO SAILS TO-DAY.

Spanish Tenor Takes Furnishings for His Theatre in Argentine.

Florencio Constantino, the Spanish operatic tenor, sails to-day for Buenos Aires on the Lamport & Holt liner Vasari, taking with him orchestra fauteuils and balcony chairs and draperies for the boxes and drop curtains for his new theatre which he has had built at Bragardo, Argentine, three hours' train journey from Buenos Aires. It is the city where he worked for eight years as a mechanical engineer before his voice was discovered.

The tenor said that his theatre would not be reserved for opera entirely, but would be devoted in turn to drama and comedy. When he arrives in Buenos Aires, he said, it would be the off season, and he had engaged the singers who are resting there until the next season to open his theatre with "Rigoletto" in September.

"I shall sing six performances free for charity," he said, "and after seeing that the theatre is running smoothly I shall sail back to New York, arriving in November, and after a few concerts I will leave for Mexico."

"Whom Does Helen Belong To?"

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Aug. 19.—"Whom Does Helen Belong To?" a three-act farce, from the German of Eberhard Buchner and adapted by Ferdinand Gottschalk, was given its first American presentation at the Hyperion Theatre here to-night by Comstock & Gest. Helen is the wife of a Mr. Smith, who disappears for three years. Believing her husband to be dead, Helen marries again, and then Mr. Smith puts in his appearance. The wife is too tender-hearted to wreck the lives of both men, so she hits upon a plan whereby she is able to preside over two households at the same time. But matters finally get too warm for her, especially after Mr. Smith meets husband No. 2 and they become close friends. The cast included Willette Kershaw, Ivy Troutman, Dorothy Winters, Florence Askerman, Leo Kohlmar, Teddy Webb, Pat C. Foy, and Gerald Harcourt.

Dixey in a Novel Vaudeville Act.

Henry E. Dixey made his appearance at Keith's Union Square Theatre yesterday in a new vaudeville specialty, which he called "Mono-drama-vaud-ologue," and which is a mixture of a little of all sorts of public entertainment. Mr. Dixey begins with a recitation describing what he thinks an actor should be, and then offers some sleight-of-hand, a tenor solo, some dancing, a brief imitation of Sir Henry Irving, tells some stories, and keeps the audience amused for about fifteen minutes. His act is novel and was well received last night.

"The Greyhound" Again at the Astor

The Astor Theatre re-opened for the season last night with Wagenhals & Kemper's production of the Paul Armstrong-Wilson Mizner melodrama, "The Greyhound." There were practically no changes in the company since the vacation period began early in the Summer. Henry Kolker again appeared as the Greyhound, Jay Wilson played The Pale Face Kid, Douglas Wood was Whispering Alex, Elita Proctor Otis had the role of Deep Sea Kitty, Thomas Coffin Cooke appeared as the detective, with Alice Martin as the Greyhound's wife.

Edna Goodrich Back from Europe.

Edna Goodrich, the actress, who was the fourth wife of Nat Goodwin, arrived yesterday from Europe on the Holland-America liner Nieuw Amsterdam with her mother. She did not hear of the accident to Mr. Goodwin until the ship docked in Hoboken, and said that she was sorry for him, as they were good friends still. The actress added that she hoped the last report of his favorable turn was correct.

WEEK'S BILLS AT THEATRES.

Eda Von Luke returned to the head of the Corse Payton stock company at the West End Theatre yesterday, appearing in "The Girl of the Golden West."

The Manhattan stock company at the Manhattan Opera House has "Madame X" for its offering this week.

"The Wrestling Cheese" and Dr. Wilmer's "Spirit Paintings" were two features of the bill at Hammerstein's Victoria Theatre and Roof Garden yesterday. Other numbers on the programme were Aida Overton Walker, Don, the talking dog; Marceline, Van Clive and Pete, three Keatons, Bert Melrose, Henri French, the Two Alfreds, the Sylfonos, Murphy and West, Oscar Loraine, and the Cabaret trio.

Henry E. Dixey in a monologue and songs headed the bill at Keith's Union Square Theatre, and among the others on the programme were Ethel Greene, Willard Simms and company, Paul Seldoms and company, Gertrude Holmes and Robert Buchanan, Mullen and Coogan, the Three Collegians, Belmont, Young, and Belmont, Tung Foo, and the Paul Azard troupe.

At Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre the headline feature was Tim Murphy in a monologue. Others who appeared were Francis Yates, Inez McCauley and company, Harry Davenport, Phyllis Rankin and company, "California," Eva Shirley, Corrin, Allen, and Tyler, Lause and Buckley, and Lynch and Zeller.

Elizabeth Murray headed the bill at the Brighton Beach Music Hall, with a group of new songs, and included in the rest of the programme were the Romany Opera Company, Cross and Josephine, Trovato, Melville and Higgins, Bonita and Lew Hearn, the Courtney sisters, Bert Fitzgibbons, and the Jordan trio.

Eddie Foy and his family of seven made their first vaudeville appearance together at the New Brighton Theatre, Brighton Beach, yesterday, in a series of individual specialties. Others on the bill were Willa Holt Wakefield, "The Apple of Paris," Martinetti and Sylvester, Leo Carillo, Mae West, Kluting's animals, and Claude Roode.

"The Winning Widow" is the burlesque attraction at the Murray Hill; "The Ginger Girls," at Hurtig & Seamon's, and Billy W. Watson and "The Girls from Happyland" at the Olympic.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

The performances of "The Merry Countess" at the Casino to-night and of "The Master of the House" at the Thirty-ninth Street Theatre Thursday night will begin promptly at 8:10 o'clock on account of the length of the two plays.

Alan Mudie and Moya Mannering introduced a new song, "I'll Be Waiting at the Window," into the third act of "The Girl from Montmartre" at the Criterion Theatre last night.

Will West, who was the leading comedian in "The Siren" last season, has returned to America from a European trip and has begun rehearsals of "The Siren" with Donald Brian and Julia Sanderson. When Miss Sanderson appears in "The Sunshine Girl" later in the season Mr. West will have the principal comedy role in her support.

Francis Wilson's season under Charles Frohman's management will begin late in November, when Mr. Wilson will make a short tour in "The Bachelor's Baby," and will then appear in a new comedy which he is writing for himself.

An arrangement was entered into yesterday between Daniel Frohman, as managing director of The Famous Players Film Company, and Marcus Loew by which the motion picture play of Bernhardt in "Queen Elizabeth" will be presented in all of the Loew theatres in New York City. The next play to be sent out by the film company will be James O'Neill in "Monte Cristo."

Blanche Ring, who underwent an operation recently, has gone to Long Beach with her nurse to recuperate. She will spend the time at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Williams, and will return to New York after Labor Day to begin rehearsals of "The Wall Street Girl."

HAMMERSTEIN GIVES UP OPERA IN LONDON

OFFERS OF FINANCIAL AID

Plans Two Weeks of Opera in Each City—Felice Lyne, Harrold, and Weldon Under Contract.

As a result of the formulation of his plan to build a series of twenty new opera houses in this country, Oscar Hammerstein announced last night that he had definitely abandoned the idea of giving opera in London again. He has cabled his Treasurer, Lyle D. Andrews, to sell or lease the London property, and so it is probable that the London Opera House will become a music hall.

"The plan for the chain of American opera houses is so gigantic," said Mr. Hammerstein last night, "that I must have my mind entirely free in order to carry it out successfully. I cannot be bothered with anything else. I don't think I shall have any trouble disposing of the London Opera House, but I would almost give it away in order to have it off my mind. If it is sold Mr. Andrews will wind up my affairs for me, but if it is leased I shall have to visit London for a feew weeks in September, when my plans for my new opera house have neared completion.

"I could make money with a Winter season at the London Opera House. Covent Garden has decided to leave the field entirely to me. But I am glad to be out of it all. I am an American at heart, and I want to put my efforts forward in this country.

"My whole heart at present is concentrated in this scheme to give the larger American cities opera houses, to put them into possession of their own singing theatres. Letters are pouring in from the various cities offering me help, and men have already come to me from several of them for consultations. My architect is hard at work on the plans, and at the end of this week I think the whole scheme will be well under way. It is the most stupendous undertaking I have ever attempted.

"As for my London company, I have made contracts with only eight of them to continue. These contracts read that the singers are to appear either in opera or concert. I may make contracts for them to appear in concert in London or I may bring them over here to tour the country in an operatic concert company. Felice Lyne, Orville Harrold, and Henry Weldon, three of my chief singers, and all American, are included in this list of contracts. I shall also retain the services of the new conductor I discovered in Nantes last year. I have cabled him that I shall pay him for the coming season whether I can use him or not. I have a contract with him for five years.

"As soon as it is decided in what cities the new opera houses are to be erected I shall issue a prospectus. I hope to be able to do this during the Fall. In that way people may look forward to the opera season in their city for nearly a year. It will be easy to arrange the subscription lists, and people from neighboring towns can arrange their plans so as to be there at that time. It is my plan to give a season of two weeks in each of the cities visited. In time this season can be increased to three or four weeks, and eventually it will form the basis of a permament opera company, such as every small town in France or Germany possesses. It takes very little time for Americans to become infatuated with opera. I was told by Chappell & Co. in London that there is a piano in every hundredth house in America. That means something.

"Imagine what it will mean to these people to hear opera with great singers, a large chorus, an orchestra of seventy-five, and not only operas like 'Aida,' 'La Boheme,' and 'Romeo et Juliette,' but less well-known works such as 'Quo Vadis' and 'Don Quichotte.'

"The people in these cities are rich, and they want opera. It is a modern luxury which they can afford, and they don't wish to have to go to New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, or Boston to get it. Nor do they want cheap traveling companies or cheap performances by the standard companies."

AID FOR WIDOWED MOTHERS.

Commission in Ohio Recommends Pension System to Gov. Harmon.

CLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 19.—A special commission appointed by Gov. Harmon to investigate and recommend revisions in the State laws affecting children reported to-day recommending the establishment of a pension system for widowed mothers, compulsory medical inspection of school children, and changes in the laws governing institutions for the care of children.

Under the pension system recommended a widowed mother of one child under the age of 14 would receive $15 a month from the Juvenile Court and $7 a month for each additional child under the age of 7 years.

GEN. JOSEPH HAYES DIES.

Introduced American System of Hydraulic Mining Into Colombia.

Gen. Joseph Hayes, veteran of the civil war and the first mining engineer to introduce the American system of hydraulic mining into Colombia, died yesterday in a private sanitarium in West Seventy-fourth Street after a week's illness of pneumonia.

Gen. Hayes was unmarried. He was born in South Berwick, Me., Sept. 14, 1835. He was educated in the public schools there and at Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass. He was graduated from Harvard in 1855. Appointed a Major in the Eighteenth Massachusetts Regiment, he was elevated finally to the rank of Colonel, and in 1862 was appointed Brigadier General, commanding the First Division of the Fifth Army Corps.

Gen. Hayes was taken a prisoner by the Confederates and confined for months in Libby Prison. Later he was appointed United States Commissioner of Supplies in the seceded States, and in 1865 was breveted Major General for distinguished services in the Battle of the Wilderness.

Mrs. Marietta Ludington.

Mrs. Marietta Ludington, an old resident of this city, died on Sunday at Greenwich, Conn. She was the daughter of the late Robert Barkley, President of the old Broadway Stage Line, and widow of Benjamin L. THE BUSINESS WORLD

FAIR OPENING IN DRY GOODS.

Week Starts Well, Especially in Silk Buying.

Trading assumed generally fair proportions in the New York dry goods market yesterday despite the usual opening dullness and the heavy rain that retarded the activities of buyers in the afternoon. Taken as a whole, the aggregate volume of merchandise moved was rather creditable for Monday. Mail orders received during the day in the secondary market were for the most part limited in size and number, but from all accounts the day's correspondence was productive of some nice business in the primary end of the trade.

Silks moved freely in the jobbing market in the morning, but unfavorable climatic conditions retarded their movement in the afternoon and spoiled what might have been a record Monday for this time of the year. Wash goods were taken in a generally active way from all accounts and regular business in Fall dress goods was reported up to the usual standard. The principal attention of buyers in this end of the market was turned to the third of a series of sales of Fall merchandise held by one of the principal factors in the trade. Buyers were present in good numbers and the merchandise offered moved freely. Particular attention was paid to the offering of a 56 inch all-wool homespun at 39 cents a yard, which under ordinary conditions could not have been had under 67½. Buying in the rest of this market was done in a quiet, but fairly substantial and featureless way. Trading in the primary market was generally retarded by tariff uncertainties, labor troubles and a feverish tone in raw cotton.

FUR SUPPLY LARGE

But No Material Reduction in Prices Is Expected.

Advices from one of the principal European fur markets regarding the results of the Siberian trapping season, recently received by a prominent New York importer, corroborate THE TIMES's wireless dispatch from Paris under date of Aug. 17, in which the catch of squirrels and white hares was reported to have been very large, and the number of sable, blue fox, brown bear, skunk, and gray wolf skins obtained to have compared favorably with the results of recent seasons. Despite the size of the catch, however, it was said yesterday that there would probably be no material reduction this year in the price of finished furs on this side of the Atlantic. Persian lamb, marmot, ermine, and pony skin were reported in smaller supply than last year, and were consequently quoted at somewhat higher levels.

Prices have been well maintained in the principal European centres this year, the falling off in the demand for raw skins in this market as a result of the furworkers' strike having had practically no effect on the prices asked of the local importers.

SEE MORE TOBACCO PROFIT.

Growers Would Thrive Greater by Better Methods, Say Officials.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Tobacco planters throughout the United States should make larger profits than they do, according to Department of Agriculture officials, who have been studying the question. Planters now receive about $100,000,000 a year for their average crop of one billion pounds. Their profits should be much greater, say the officials and that improper culture methods keep the product down to one third of what it should be.

In the Connecticut Valley where the soils are maintained in a high state of fertility, yields of 2,000 pounds and more to the acre are common, it is pointed out, while on similar soils in many of the manufacturing and export districts, the average yield is scarcely one third of this.

The one crop system, instead of rotation, is said to be responsible for this condition. The use of unadapted varieties of strains of tobacco, damage by insects and disease, an imperfect knowledge of the principles that apply to the processes of curing, fermenting and handling the leaf, are named as other causes of small profits to the farmer.

LACES AND EMBROIDERIES.

Better Prospects for the Former Next Spring Than for the Latter.

According to a statement made yesterday by one of the largest jobbers of laces and embroideries in New York, the position of the latter for next Spring is still shrouded in doubt. Present indications point to a continuance of the demand for laces, and as the two are said rarely to experience a heavy demand at the same time the odds appear to be somewhat against a pronounced call for embroideries during the coming season.

The expected adoption of the mode for pannier skirt effects in this country next Spring, it was said yesterday, would doubtless be productive of good business in the narrower ranges of embroidered flouncings, and consequently an excellent demand was expected for 18 and 27 inch goods. Forty-five inch flouncings, which from all accounts contributed a large part of the embroidery business done in the season just passed, were expected to experience a limited movement and edgings, insertions galloons and other narrow merchandise, it was predicted, would share this dullness to a considerable extent.

INQUIRY INTO WATER LINES.

House Committee Curious About Their Inter-Relations and Rail Connections.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—A comprehensive inquiry into the inter-relationship of steamship lines has been instituted by the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries. Nearly 500 water carriers, embracing practically every company and firm of any importance in this country, will have been asked to answer forty-two inquiries, designed to obtain data regarding ownership, agreements, conferences, or the many other methods of control of alliance, the relation of the steamship lines to railroads and other transportation agencies, and the prevailing practices with reference to fixing rates and treatment of shippers. The inquiries are based upon a resolution recently passed by the House directing the investigation.

Representative Alexander of Missouri, Chairman of the committee, emphasized to-day that the committee wished the information as a basis for constructive legislation, not for the purpose of bringing any criminal or civil action against the carriers.

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

John Wanamaker and Marshall Field & Co. Win Protests.

John Wannamaker was successful in his contention before the Board of United States Geenral Appraisers yesterday regarding an importation of women's handbags, composed of metal threads, silk, beads, leather, and cotton, the frames being in chief value of brass or white metal. Duty was assessed at 85 per cent. ad valorem under Paragraph 448, but following a previous decision the protest contention for 45 per cent. under Paragraph 199 was sustained.

Decision was also rendered in favor of Marshall, Field & Co. of Chicago on metal buckles and slides, not commonly known as jewelry. Duty had been assessed at 60 per cent., but the board found the goods to be properly dutiable at 45 per cent. The same importers also succeeded in having the duty reduced from 85 per cent. to 60 per cent. on beaded bags and purses, of which beads were the component of chief value. A like decision was in favor of Guthman, Solomon & Co. of New York.

BUSINESS NOTES.

Imports of feathers entered at the Port of New York in the week ended Aug. 10 were valued at $70,411. This figure was somewhat below the average of the last few months.

Consul Rea Hanna has prepared and published a commercial directory of Georgetown, British Guiana. Copies will be furnished by Mr. Hanna on request.

Another special sale of Fall dress goods was held by the H. B. Claflin Company, Worth and Church Streets, yesterday. Many prominent buyers were present, and the merchandise offered moved in an active manner.

Fur imports entered at this port in the week ended Aug. 10 aggregated $318,622 in value. Imports of hatters' fur goods entered in the same week were valued at $21,496.

BUTTON TRADE BETTER.

Garment Manufacturers Dealing Directly with Makers Instead of Jobbers

The button trade has shown considerable improvement in the last few days, and, according to a representative of the Newell-Putnam Manufacturing Company, Broadway and Twenty-third Street, after a slow start, gives evidence of justifying the excellent season predicted for it earlier in the year. So far the demand has been general, with the tendency at the moment favoring wood buttons. Natural pearls are also good, as are braid-covered buttons for use on Fall suits for women. There are a number of fancy buttons shown, but so far the manufacturing trade has favored staple lines, and the former are consequently not meeting the success predicted for them.

The placing of duplicate orders began late this year, which, indirectly, was attributed in no small degree to the strike of the fur workers. Instead of beginning around July 15, as under normal conditions, the cutters are just now starting to place their repeat business, and the fear is held by the buttonmakers that, because of this late start, orders will come with such a rush that it will be impossible to supply the entire demand in the required time.

One of the features of the present season was said to be the extent to which the garment manufacturers were placing their orders direct from the buttonmakers instead of with the jobbers as heretofore.

SIDELIGHTS ON SELLING.

The demand for tan hosiery for Spring, 1913, has so far been featured by the extent of the call for the lighter shades. Sales of these hose are said to have outnumbered those of the darker shades at least two to one.

The sweater end of the knit goods trade has as yet not suffered materially from political agitation over the Wool bill. From all accounts, business is as good as ever at this time of the year, and prices hold close to recent levels.

At the moment there is more or less discussion in dry goods circles over the respective merits of white and wash goods for the coming Spring. Sellers of the former contend that they will repeat the success they experienced this year, while handlers of the latter believe that fashion will favor colored goods to a considerable extent.

Novelties in Plauen laces, embodying Venise and Bohemian effects, are now shown for the coming season and an excellent demand for them is predicted.

CONSULAR TRADE NOTES.

Manchurian soya beans seem to be losing favor with English oil-seed crushing mills, they having imported only 153,304 tons in the first half of 1912, against 167,020 tons in the first six months of 1911 and 345,471 tons in the corresponding period in 1910.

Mexican exports to the United States, as invoiced by Consul Luther T. Ellsworth of Ciudad Porfirio Diaz, aggregating $767,470 in the first six months of 1912, a decrease of $18,772 from the value of exports in the same period last year. The largest single item was cattle, valued at $435,818.

Lima, Peru, does not suffer from high cost of meat. The ruling prices in the central market are 12, 20, and 25 centavos (5 4-5, 9¾, and 12 1-5 cents American) a pound, the latter for choice loin cuts, and it is excellent beef at that.

The total trade of Morocco in 1911, exclusive of that entering the country over the Algerian frontier, amounted to $26,847,449, of which exports contributed $12,902,646 and imports $13,944,803. This aggregate shows an increase over that for the year 1910 of $5,678,834 in exports and $2,118,825 in imports, a net increase of $7,797,659.

DON'T FEAR RUBBER CORNER.

Local Traders Not Worried by Brazilian Valorization Movement.

In the opinion of one of the most prominent operators in the New York crude rubber market, the local trade has not a great deal to fear from the movement reported on foot in Brazil to valorize Para rubber and thus force up prices. While it was not definitely denied yesterday that such plans were under way, results of the last movement in this direction were pointed out, and the belief held that the present attempt to corner the market would end in the same inglorious way.

The last movement to valorize rubber was backed by one of the Brazilian States, and bonds were authorized to finance the project. From 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 pounds of Para rubber were bought up at about $1.10 a pound, and were withheld from the market until the price for these grades reached $1.70. The rubber moved very slowly at that figure, however, and finally had to be let out to meet the financial obligations incurred, the greater part of it having been disposed of around $1.18 a pound. In the meantime, however, interest and carrying charges had pushed the value of the rubber up to $2.60, and in the scramble to unload at the figure previously given considerable loss was entailed. In the face of this the present movement is believed to be very ill-advised and little faith in its ultimate success is held.

Negro Business Men to Meet.

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—Delegates to the National Negro Business League's thirteenth annual convention, which opens on Wednesday, began arriving in Chicago today. Twenty-five negro bankers, members of the National Negro Bankers' Association, are expected to be among the delegates. GEOGRAPHERS TAKE A SHORT EXCURSION

Visitors from Europe Explore Parts of New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania.

THEN TO SEE CITY'S SIGHTS

Firemen Will Be Called Out for Their Benefit—Members of the Party Now Here.

The body of distinguished geographers from twelve foreign countries, visiting the United States as guests of the American Geographical Society, was taken yesterday on an excursion across Northern New Jersey, Northeastern Pennsylvania, and Southeastern New York. A special train carrying the party left the station of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western at Hoboken at 8:15 yesterday morning. The trip was arranged by H. B. Kümmel, State Geologist of New Jersey, and A. R. Hice, State Geologist of Pennsylvania. On Thursday next the visitors will start on a transcontinental tour, and the various sections of the country will be described to them by members of the American Geographical Society.

The principal geographical features of the country which it was planned the visitors should see on their trip beginning yesterday and ending this afternoon were portions of the terminal moraine of the great ice sheet, the Triassic lowland, the naturally dissected crystalline Highlands, remnants of the uplifted peneplain, a part of the great Appalachian Valley, the Delaware Water Gap, cut into one of the valley ridges; the Appalachian Plateau, and one of the anthracite coal basins. Stops were made at the Delaware Water Gap and Mount Pocono. The party then proceeded to Scranton, Penn., where its members stayed last night.

At Scranton the visitors were entertained by the local Board of Trade, which took them on an automobile ride and gave them the opportunity of visiting the surface workings of some of the coal mines.

Returning from Scranton this morning, they will be brought across the plateau of the Appalachian Valley and over the Highlands by a more northerly route. They will arrive in New York at 7:30 to-night. Before starting on their tour yesterday the members were provided with detailed charts showing the itinerary and the routes of the excursion.

To-morrow morning at 8:15 o'clock they will be assembled in Livingston Hall, Columbia University, at Amsterdam Avenue and 115th Street, by Dr. George F. Kunz, preparatory to making a tour of the city, mainly the downtown section. They will visit first the Post Office, and then the Brooklyn Bridge. Next they will be shown the Woolworth Building, St. Paul's Church, Trinity Church, and afterward they will be shown through the Bankers' Trust Building, the Stock Exchange, and other buildings of importance in or near Wall Street. The visitors will also go through the Produce Exchange and the Custom House.

In the course of the morning a fire alarm will be turned in to some of the stations of the Fire Department, and the visiting geographers will have a chance to see with what skill and expedition the firemen of New York City are accustomed to handle their apparatus.

The members of the visiting party will then be served with a complimentary luncheon at the Whitehall Club, where they will have a fine view of the harbor and the lower section of Manhattan. Following the luncheon, they will visit the observatory of the Weather Bureau, on top of the Whitehall Building. The rest of the afternoon will be spent on a cruise through the harbor on a special boat engaged for the occasion.

Some of those who went on the excursion yesterday through New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Southeastern New York were Dr. Fritz Machatscheck, Lecturer on Geography at the University of Vienna; Henri Baulig, Instructor in Geography, University of Paris; Emmanuel de Margerie, Vice President of the Committee on Historical and Scientific Works, Paris; Edouard-Alfred Martel of the Central Commission of the Geographical Society of Paris; Lucien Gallois, Professor of Geography, University of Paris; Antoine Vacher, Professor of Geography, University of Lille; Pierre Bastian, student, University of Paris; François Herbette, Assistant in Geography, University of Paris; Dr. Erich von Drygalski, Professor of Geography, University of Munich; Dr. Fritz Jaeger, Professor of Colonial Geography, University of Berlin; Dr. Joseph Partsch, Professor of Geography, University of Leipsic; Dr. Alfred Rühl, Chief of Division, Oceanographical Institute, Berlin; Dr. Carl Uhlig, Professor of Geography, University of Tübingen; Dr. Cesare Calciati, explorer, Piazza Station Eufemia, Piacenza; J. F. Niermeyer, Professor of Economic Geography, University of Utrecht; Dr. Karl Oestreich, Professor of Physical Geography, University of Utrecht; Dr. Gunnar Andersson, Professor of Economic Geography, University of Stockholm; Emil Chaix, Professor of Economic and Political Geography, University of Geneva, and Dr. Fritz Nussbaum, Instructor in Geography, University of Berne.

ROAD SEEKS TO BUY STOCK.

Asks Service Board for Full Ownership of Ontario & Western.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Aug. 19.—The New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad has petitioned the up-State Public Service Commission for consent to purchase those shares of the stock of the New York, Ontario & Western Railroad Company not owned by the New Haven. Of the stock now issued and outstanding the New Haven owns $2,200 of the $4,000 preferred and $29,160,000 of the $58,113,982 common.

The New Haven gives as the reason for its desire to purchase the minority holdings that it has in good faith lawfully acquired the majority interest in the capital stock of the New York, Ontario & Western and believes that the desired company can be developed as a valuable natural extension of its lines. By this means it would be enabled to reach Lake Ontario and some of the larger cities of eastern New York and the anthracite coal fields of Pennsylvania. It asserts that the New York, Ontario & Western in no way competes with the New Haven, and that the acquisition of the former company by it will be of benefit to the present minority stockholders.

The consent of the commission is asked for the purchase of the remaining stock upon such fair and reasonable terms as may be imposed by the commission or as may be agreed upon between the New Haven and the persons owning such stock.

On April 2, 1912, the commission denied the application of the New York Central to purchase from the New Haven its holdings of stock in the New York, Ontario & Western. At that time the commission gave as its reasons for denying the application that no transfer of a bare majority interest in the stock of the New York, Ontario & Western Railroad Company from the New Haven to the Central should be permitted without reasonably guarding the minority stockholders from possible oppression by the majority interest. The energies of the Central and its credit and resources of every nature should properly be devoted to the public duties and burdens with which it is now charged.

SENATE AGAIN DEFIES VETO.

Approves Paying $42,000 for Corbett Tunnel Supplies.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—A direct appropriation of $42,000 to reimburse persons who furnished supplies and labor to the contractor on the Corbett irrigation tunnel in the Shoshone project, Wyoming, was authorized by the Senate to-day in a resolution presented by Senator Myers.

President Taft recently vetoed a bill which would have required the Government to pay these claims and levy upon the settlers in the vicinity. The Senate passed the bill over his veto, but it failed of repassage in the House. The claims are the outgrowth of the failure of the contractor before the irrigation work was completed.

$200,000,000 SAVING PLAN.

House Resolution Provides Federal Bureau of Tobacco Industry.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—A Federal plan for the valorization of American export tobacco somewhat similar to the much-discussed Brazilian Government scheme of coffee valorization is the underlying motive of a resolution which was favorably reported to the House to-day by the House Committee on Foreign Relations, of which Representative Sulzer of New York is Chairman.

The resolution was offered last April by Representative Flood of Virginia. It urges the Secretary of State to confer with the Governments of Austria, Spain, France, and Japan, all of which have tobacco monopolies, and ascertain whether some satisfactory arrangement can be made by which these Governments will purchase their supplies from a Federal Bureau of tobacco industry to be established by the United States.

Under existing conditions, it is declared, at least $400,000,000 is added to the price of American tobacco before foreign consumers get it. Part of this goes into coffers of foreign nations as customs or other collections. Mr. Flood, chief advocate of the valorization resolution, believes one-half of this staggering sum can be put into the pockets of American tobacco growers over and above the profits they now make.

The underlying reason for the resolution, Mr. Flood explains in the report filed by the Foreign Affairs Committee to-day, is found in the condition of this export tobacco trade as affecting the interest of many American tobacco growers.

"The situation of the American tobacco planter," says the report, "is somewhat analagous to that which existed in the Brazil coffee industry before the establishment of the Government monopoly of that business. The condition of the coffee planter was formerly one of hardship and poverty, but since the arrangement has been perfected through the intervention of the Brazilian Government, in conjunction with certain foreign bankers, prices have advanced and the condition of the plant has been immensely improved.

"It is proposed by this resolution to have the State Department ascertain if some similar arrangement cannot be devised by which the American tobacco farmer will be placed upon a plane of equality with the purchaser of his product.

"The American farmer produces tobacco, and when he comes to sell as an individual is confronted with the agent of either a foreign Government or a foreign tobacco monopoly. In other words, there is a combination or co-operation of the bnuyers of the American product without a corresponding combination or co-operation on the part of the American seller.

"The purpose underlying this plan of establishing the Bureau of Tobacco Industry is to place the tobacco export business in the hands of the United States Government, so that foreign Governments in seeking their supplies would have to deal with a factor as concentrated and as powerful as themselves. This resolution seeks to place the American farmer under the protecting arm of the Government in order that foreign Governments and monopolies may not despoil him."

CONNOR & CO. OWE $565,596.

Actual Assets of Failed Brokers Only $72,813.

Schedules in the assignment of Connor & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, who failed last March, show that Washington E. Connor, who retired some months ago, is a creditor of the firm for $302,967. He is partly secured by stock valued at $209,928.

The liabilities of the failed firm are $565,596, and the nominal assets $841,739. The actual assets are only $72,813, consisting of a seat on the Stock Exchange valued at $72,000, cash $563, and office furniture $250. Among the nominal assets are 70,000 shares of stock of the General Electric Display Company, having a par value of $700,000, but no present market value. It is said that if the Display Company can make contracts for the use of its machines the value of the stock may prove considerable. The firm has a claim upon the International Investment and Improvement Company for $123,994, another on the General Electric Display Company for $11,238, and $700 in first mortgage and $250 in second mortgage bonds of the Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal Company.

Among other creditors are the Metropolitan Financial and Industrial Company, $120,483 for a running account; Degnon Contracting Company, $9,500 for money loaned; E. W. Moore of Cleveland, $16,709; A. H. Calef, $11,574; Ansel Oppenheim, $12,825; W. P. Dixon, $11,641; Charles Head & Co., $9,032, and A. A. Houseman, $5,476.

MAY SELL HOE STOCK.

Dr. Evans Gets a Court Order for Three Heirs.

Another step in the settling of the estate of Robert Hoe, the builder of printing presses and famous bibliophile who died in London in 1907, was taken yesterday in the Supreme Court. On the petition of Dr. Samuel M. Evans of 145 East Thirty-ninth Street, who is the son-in-law of Robert Hoe, Justice Dugro issued an order permitting free disposition by him of certain shares of stock which were kept in trust for his three children, the grandchildren of Robert Hoe.

The stocks and shares in question are valued at $7,000 and constitute a part of the $90,000 which will accrue to the Evans children from the Hoe estate. They include thirteen shares of the Metropolitan Trust Company and twenty-two shares of the Elkhorn Valley Coal Land Company.

JUDGE BENNETT RESIGNS.

He Was Accused of Misconduct in West Virginia.

CHARLESTON, West Va., Aug. 19.—Circuit Judge William R. Bennett to-day handed his resignation to Gov. William E. Glasscock. It was accepted. On Aug. 12 citizens of Fayette County presented a petition to the Governor asking him to call an extra session of the Legislature to impeach Judge Bennett, charging him with misconduct in office.

Judge Bennett, in resigning, says his reason for so doing is that he does not care to embarrass the people of his circuit "by a continuation in office of myself while under suspicion."

PHILLIPS ASKS CLARK'S AID.

Urges Need for Passage of the Workmen's Compensation Bill.

Cyrus W. Phillips, chairman of the committee on the causes of industrial accidents of the Commission on Employers' Liability and Causes of Industrial Accidents, Unemployment and Lack of Farm Labor, sent this letter yesterday to Speaker Clark at Washington:

> Aug. 19, 1912.
> The Hon. Champ Clark, Speaker, Washington, D. C.
> Dear Sir: The Sutherland-Brantley Workmen's Compensation bill, which was recommended by the Workmen's Compensation Commission and has passed the Senate, is still in the Committee on Judiciary. This bill is recognized by labor leaders and all friends of workmen's compensation to be the best bill yet proposed in this country. It ought to be passed at this session. If it is, thousands of railroad men and their families will receive compensation for their injuries who would not receive such compensation in case action on the bill is postponed. The bill is also of vital interest to workmen generally, for the reason that if it becomes a law it will be a model for legislation for the coming Winter in the various States. It will hold State Legislatures up to a higher standard of workmen's compensation than any law that has yet been enacted.
>
> This bill will increase the amount which railroad companies will pay to injured workmen and their families to about $18,000,000 per annum, where the companies pay but $10,000,000 at present. It will insure payment of practically all of the $18,000,000 to the injured parties, while under the present wasteful litigation a large portion of the $10,000,000 paid never reaches the workmen, but is used up in litigation. The opposition to this bill comes largely from men who profit out of this litigation and who receive a large part of this $10,000,000.
> Trusting that you will use your influence to secure the passage of this bill, I am, respectfully yours. CYRUS W. PHILLIPS.

A similar letter was sent to Congressman Underwood and to Congressman Clayton, Chairman of the Judiciary Committee.

FLORIDA LAND REPORT CONDEMNS OFFICIALS

WRIGHT'S ACTS DENOUNCED

Majority of Moss Committee Declare That Assistant Secretary Hays Knew of His Deals.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The Moss Committee presented to the House to-day two reports of its investigation of the Florida Everglades charges and the subsequent inquiry into the drainage division of the Department of Agriculture.

The reports take up the charge that a certain circular unfavorable to the sale of Everglades lands was suppressed in the Department of Agriculture through influence of real estate operators; the question of relations between Assistant Secretary Hays of the department and J. O. Wright, a former Government employe, in a land project at Lake Mattamuskeet, N. C., and the dismissal of C. G. Elliott and A. D. Morehouse from the Drainage Division of the department on technical charges involving the transfer of Government funds from one account to another.

Secretary Wilson escaped personal arraignment at the hands of the majority in the findings in the Everglades charges. The department's policy toward the Everglades was characterized as vacillating, "most unfortunate," and having subjected the department to much suspicion and criticism.

The minority report, signed by Representative Sloan of Nebraska, who said his views were approved by Representatives Higgins and Madden, held that Secretary Wilson had acted within his legal discretion.

Hays was condemned by the majority for his relations with Wright in the North Carolina project, while the minority held his interest was not one for profit, but only his well-known interest in development of rural community life.

Both majority and minority agreed that the dismissal of Elliott and Morehouse on technical charges was "overdiscipline."

The majority report was signed by Chairman Moss and Representatives Flood of Arkansas and Doughton of North Carolina, Democrats. The minority report was signed by Representative Sloan of Nebraska, Republican.

Assistant Secretary Hays's connection with the matter arose through a private arrangement he made with J. O. Wright, former drainage engineer, for the handling of some drained land in North Carolina which did not belong to the Government.

The majority report cited Wright's admissions of his familiarity with real estate promoters and of accepting development company stock and fees while engaged officially in making surveys to reclaim land. It declared that while thus engaged as a paid salesman and an interested purchaser he appeared before the North Carolina Legislature as an official of the Department of Agriculture, ostensibly to advise in the framing of drainage legislation. His transactions were denounced by a majority as repugnant to a high sense of honor and integrity, which would justify dismissal if he were still in the Government service.

The majority report cited testimony regarding frequent conferences of Assistant Secretary Hays and Engineer Wright, who has since become State drainage engineer of Florida, concerning the purchase and sale at a profit of the bed of Lake Mattamuskeet, N. C., and expressed the conviction "that Hays was in full possession of the facts relative to Wright's deals and transactions when they were being negotiated."

HATTERS' CASE IS UP AGAIN.

Famous Labor Litigation Will Be Resumed in Hartford To-day.

Special to The New York Times.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 19.—The famous Hatters' boycott case, which three years ago took thirteen weeks to try, will come up again before a Vermont Judge to-morrow morning in the United States Court. Labor and capital are more curious to know if a labor union boycott is a violation of the anti-trust clause of the civil damages side of the Sherman law than if the jury will again return a verdict of $222,000 for D. E. Loewe & Son, independent hat manufacturers of Danbury, Conn., against the United Hatters of North America, around and behind which stands the powerful Federation of Labor, whose officers, Samuel Gompers and John Mitchell, will testify.

A panel of 100 veniremen will report to Judge James L. Martin of Brattleboro to-morrow, but more than fifty of the original 240 defendants of the Danbury and Bethel Local Unions have died since the suit was brought Aug. 31, 1903. The Loewe firm will be represented by Daniel Davenport of Bridgeport and Walter Gordon Merritt of New York City.

The suit of D. E. Loewe & Co., independent hatters of Danbury, Conn., against Martin Lawler and others, grew out of the boycotting of the company in 1902-1903 by labor organizations, especially the United Hatters of North America, whose officers and members originally, to the number of 2,500, were made parties defendant. It was begun about eight years ago, considerable time having been taken up in disposing of various motions and in deciding whether jurisdiction should be taken by the State or the Federal courts.

The trial began on Oct. 13, 1909, when it soon became evident that the struggle was virtually one between the labor organizations and the Anti-Boycott Association. In February, 1910, witnesses for the plaintiff testified that the boycott against the goods of the company was maintained all over the country. After being out a little more than two hours the jury returned a verdict before Justice James P. Platt, which was to assess $222,000 against 200 hatters of the State of Connecticut as damages for the plaintiff. The jury fixed the actual damages for the boycott at $74,000. It was held that triple damages could be recovered, as the suit had been brought under the Sherman anti-trust law. Immediately after the news of the verdict had reached this city Delegate Edward Carmody of the United Hatters of North America announced that the decision of the United States Circuit Court in Hartford would be appealed if necessary to the Supreme Court of the United States.

THE WORLD KAYSER'S FIELD.

Output of Their Factory in Saxony Not Limited to America.

Edwin S. Bayer, a Director of Julius Kayser & Co., who was quoted in THE TIMES last Saturday on the attempts of the Government of Saxony to harass the business of his company in that country, called attention yesterday to two errors in his reported statement. Mr. Bayer attributed these errors to the use of the long distance telephone.

Julius Kayser & Co., Mr. Bayer said yesterday, manufacture all kinds of fabric gloves, and not "patent leather gloves," as he was quoted. Mr. Bayer also said that the company marketed its products in Canada, England, France, Italy, South America, and even in Germany, and that mainly for this reason local feeling had been aroused against it. Mr. Bayer's reported statement was that the entire product of the Saxony factories of Julius Kayser & Co. was shipped to the United States.

DIX TO VISIT COUNTY FAIRS.

Advised by Friends to be at Syracuse When Democrats Convene.

ALBANY, Aug. 19.—Gov. Dix has accepted invitations to attend county fairs at Cambridge on Aug. 22, Ballston Aug. 27, Dongan Hills, S. I., and Middletown Aug. 28, and Trumansburg, Aug. 30. The Governor plans to witness the historical pageant at Saratoga on Wednesday and to attend the Sullivan Monument exercises at Elmira on Aug. 29.

Friends of Gov. Dix have advised him to go to Syracuse on Oct. 1, when the Democratic State Convention will be held. He has the matter under consideration.

WOMEN TO HEAR OF MARKETS

At Mrs. Black's Luncheon Question of Food Supply Will Be Discussed.

Mrs. Elmer E. Black, Chairman of the Propaganda Committee of the American Peace and Arbitration League of New York, has invited a number of women prominent in politics and in social affairs to be her guests at a luncheon at Sherry's this afternoon to hear addresses on the question of a terminal market for New York.

This project has no direct connection with any of the various housewives' leagues that exist in different parts of the city, but is a plan for the establishment of a market at which foods may be purchased at first cost. Among those who will attend the luncheon are Mrs. Borden Harriman, Mrs. George W. Boskowitz, President of the Manhattan District Nurses Association; Mrs. George Leary, Miss Helen Boswell, Miss Mary Dreier of the Woman's Trades Union League, and Mrs. George Kerr of the Woman's Progressive Economic Club.

The speakers will include Cyrus C. Miller, President of the Borough of the Bronx; B. F. Cresson, Jr., Deputy Dock Commissioner; D. Mathewson, Deputy Controller, and Laurence L. Driggs, City Club appointee to the Market Commission.

Though some of the guests represent differing political organizations of women, the meeting will be entirely nonpartisan and will have only the question of a terminal market and its economic advantages for discussion. It is expected that the movement for such a market will become National in its extent, as women in other cities are showing much interest in the question.

Heads Harriman Lines in South.

HOUSTON, Texas, Aug. 19.—W. P. Scott, Vice President and General Manager of the Union Pacific Railway, was elected President of the Southern Pacific lines in Louisiana and Texas at a meeting of the Board of Directors here today. Mr. Scott will succeed Thornwell Fay, whose resignation, effective Sept. 1, was accepted.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

L. LOUVRE HAT COMPANY.—Joseph Berger and Abraham Polekoff, doing business as L. Louvre Hat Company, manufacturers of women's hats, 418 and 415 West Broadway, have made an assignment to Theodore I. Sturtz. Their effects were damaged by fire on Nov. 24 last and they received, it was said, $6,700 insurance.

KAFFENBERGER & CANTOR COMPANY.—A petition has been filed against the Kaffenberger & Cantor Company, manufacturers of piano stools, benches, and scarfs, with offices at 7 and 9 West Eighteenth Street and factory at Dolgeville, N. Y., by John F. McIntyre, attorney for these creditors: Walter H. Warner, $314; James M. Hennessy, $500, and Reiss & Belvin, $17. Judge Holt appointed Henry B. Singer receiver, bond $15,000, with authority to continue business thirty days. The liabilities are said to be $50,000 and assets $20,000.

H. & F. SCHWARTZ.—A petition has been filed against Henrietta and Frank Schwartz, who compose the firm of H. & F. Schwartz, family liquor store, 142 East Forty-second Street, by these creditors: Milton Schwartz, $2,000; Batjer & Co., $191, and Joseph L. Scluder, $1,251. The liabilities are said to be $5,000 and assets $1,500. Judge Holt appointed John W. Loveland receiver with permission to continue the business for fifteen days.

CHARLES KOSTER, residing at 1,883 Cedar Avenue, has filed a petition, with liabilities of $12,133 and no assets. Among the creditors are M. Groh's Sons, Incorporated, $6,000; Inlet Hotel and Cigar Company, $1,201; Rupert L. McKay, $2,100, and Klein Brothers, $490.

MUTUAL TAXIMETER CAB COMPANY.—Schedules of the Mutual Taximeter Cab Company of 249 West Eightieth Street show liabilities of $32,465 and assets of $1,393. Among the creditors are the Auto Body and Taxicab Company, $19,734; Standard Oil Company, $1,141; Charles Minder, $1,641; Minder Stable Company, $1,470; Walter H. Hayes, $45, and Sol Manheim, $20.

ABRAHAM NEWMAN.—Judge Holt has appointed Max Herskovitz receiver for Abraham Newman, importer of furs, 143 West Twenty-ninth Street, bond $2,500, on request of creditors with claims aggregating $20,000. He is to serve without compensation. Among the creditors who asked for his appointment are Jacob Stern, $7,096; A. Weinschenker, $2,458; Albert Herspovitz & Son, $1,279; S. Strauss, $1,753; Wolfsohn-Ganss Fur Company, $1,420, and Kornbluth & Harris, $1,268. The liabilities are reported to be about $50,000, a large part of which is to creditors in Leipzig and London, and assets $5,000.

ABRAHAM GORDON.—Judge Holt has appointed John S. Davenport receiver for Abraham Gordon, cloak manufacturer, 110 West Twenty-sixth Street, bond $15,000, with authority to continue business thirty days, and to borrow $1,000 on receiver's certificates. The liabilities are said to be $30,000 and assets less than $25,000.

CONNOR & CO.—Schedules in the assignment of Connor & Co., stock brokers, 31 Nassau Street, show liabilities of $565,596, nominal assets of $841,739, and actual assets of $72,813.

Out of Town.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Aug. 19.—A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed to-day by the O. H. Goodman Company of Dana, manufacturers of straw hats. The liabilities are $14,009, of which $13,837 is unsecured. The assets are valued at $10,000. At a meeting of the stockholders on Aug. 3 it was voted that Julian H. Thayer, Treasurer, prepare the papers for filing in the court.

Weather in Cotton and Grain States.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The following is the forecast for Tuesday and Wednesday, as issued by the United States Weather Bureau for the cotton and grain States:

North and South Carolina—Local showers Tuesday. Wednesday fair; light to moderate southwest winds.

Georgia—Fair in northern, probably showers in southern portion, Tuesday. Wednesday fair; light variable winds.

Florida—Local thunder showers Tuesday and Wednesday; light variable winds, mostly easterly.

Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana—Generally fair Tuesday and Wednesday; light variable winds.

Eastern Texas—Generally fair Tuesday and Wednesday; moderate east and southeast winds.

Western Texas and Utah—Generally fair Tuesday and Wednesday.

Oklahoma—Generally fair Tuesday and Wednesday.

Arkansas, Tennessee, and Kentucky—Generally fair Tuesday and Wednesday.

Ohio and Indiana—Showers Tuesday, Wednesday probably fair; light variable winds.

Illinois—Local thunder storms Tuesday; slightly cooler in western and southern portions. Wednesday probably fair; light variable winds.

Michigan and Wisconsin—Showers Tuesday. Wednesday probably fair; light variable winds.

Minnesota—Cloudy Tuesday; slightly cooler in southern portion. Wednesday fair; light variable winds.

Iowa—Probably fair Tuesday and Wednesday.

Missouri—Probably fair, not quite so warm Tuesday. Wednesday fair.

North and South Dakota—Probably fair Tuesday and Wednesday.

Nebraska and Kansas—Fair and slightly cooler Tuesday. Wednesday fair.

COMMODITY MARKETS.

Grain and Pork Down—Cotton Fall Checked—Coffee Strong.

Wheat declined on more favorable weather conditions, larger receipts and slow cash demand. Corn was weaker on favorable weather conditions, breaking to new low levels. Oats were moderately active and lower on larger receipts. Provisions were easier on a dull hog market. Cottonseed oil declined slightly, with a quieter inquiry. Cotton showed weakness early on the favorable crop accounts, and large receipts, recovering on heavy short covering. Coffee was firmer on the foreign news.

WHEAT.

Wheat closed at a decline of ½@1c a bushel, and at about the low point of the day. The market early was firm on the rains in the Northwest, but prospects of clearing conditions, with good weather in the Southwest, caused a reaction, and in the afternoon the market was quite weak, steadying a little at the close. The weather in the Southwest was very favorable for moving the wheat, and receipts for the day at primary points were 2,099,000 bushels, against 1,129,000 bushels last year. The visible supply shows a gain for the week of 61,000 bushels in domestic wheat, a decrease of 159,000 bushels in bonded wheat, making a total loss of 98,000 bushels. Last year the decrease was 529,000 bushels. The total visible supply is 18,144,000 bushels American, 1,196,000 bushels bonded wheat, or a total of 19,340,000 bushels, against 47,642,000 bushels last year. Cash wheat premiums were well maintained at the West, although the volume of cash business was reported slow. Export sales of only seven loads were given out. Foreign markets were quiet; world exports were 11,440,000 bushels, against 10,096,000 bushels the previous week and 10,800,000 bushels last year. The amount afloat for Europe decreased 1,744,000 bushels. Reports from the Northwest indicate a very liberal movement of Spring wheat within a short time. It is stated that railroads have a large quantity of grain cars distributed on the sidings in order to move the new grain. Cash prices were quoted: No. 2 red, $1.08½, free on board; No. 1 Northern, $1.03½; No. 2 hard Winter, $1.02¾; No. 1 Manitoba, $1.03¾, all to arrive.

OTHER GRAINS.

CORN—The new crop deliveries were weak, declining to new low levels, and closed at the low point of the day. September was dull but fairly steady. Receipts were somewhat larger, but the visible supply decreased 626,000 bushels, and is 2,099,000 bushels. Weather conditions were much more favorable. It was bright and clear throughout the leading corn States, and these conditions, following the rains, were reported very favorable for rapid development of the crop. World exports of corn were 6,758,000 bushels, against 7,005,000 bushels last week and 1,992,000 bushels last year. The afloat stock increased 626,000 bushels. Spot corn was nominal.

OATS—The market was fairly active and lower. The receipts were larger at the West, and there seemed to be some evidence of hedge selling. Receipts, while slightly less than last week, were considerably more than last year. The visible supply of oats increased 889,000 bushels, against an increase last year of 1,773,000 bushels. Since July 1, with receipts slightly more than last year, the visible supply has decreased about 2,000,000 bushels, against an increase of 7,500,000 bushels last year. Cash oats were quiet, with standards and No. 2 white 40c track; No. 3 white, 39½c; natural white, 39@41c, and white clipped, 41@47c. Export sales of 300,000 bushels were reported from the West.

PROVISIONS.

The market was dull and a little lower. Hogs were in less active demand West and receipts somewhat larger, bringing a little pressure on the future market and a small decline in values.

COTTONSEED OIL.

Cottonseed oil values were rather easier during the day. The setback in lard had effect, and with crop news from the South mainly favorable, there was little inclination to regard the rise in cotton values as significant. Demand was not active, but offerings were light, reflecting the indisposition of Texas mills to sell crude freely at this time. On the Curb there was a rally of a few points in the near months with the distant deliveries also a shade higher than the official closing, these advances being attributed to short covering. Foreign consuming inquiry was stated to be less active, although home trade remains very fair according to most accounts.

COTTON.

October cotton, at 11.05, yesterday established a new low level, while other months were correspondingly lower, but still rested slightly above the previous bottom prices. This reaction occurred early in the session and represented overnight declines of about 15 points, following an initial setback of 1 to 6 points. An oversold market was apparent, however, and with persistent short covering the list recovered rather sharply, closing at a substantial recovery from the morning weakness.

Inasmuch as most of the news was in favor of those operating for lower levels, it was evident that a major part of the buying was inspored because of the successive reactions which the market has suffered, and which doubtless had made the bear side too popular. Uptown interests were credited with buying freely, with Wall Street and large local traders on the Exchange accepting profits and taking on some cotton for a "natural reaction." This demand easily absorbed the spasmodic pressure from spot interests and other selling from the South in reflection of the crop news and against the prospective yield.

Sentiment has not undergone any important change, so that the opinion in most quarters was that bearish operations would be resumed on a marked upturn unless the tenor of crop dispatches was radically altered to favor holders. Prominent spot people of Montgomery, Ala., wired that the weather as a whole since Aug. 1 has been very favorable. The Memphis Commercial Appeal in its review stated that climatic conditions have been satisfactory to 90 per cent. of the belt, although mentioning the need of rain in sections of South and Central Texas, also in some localities of North Carolina. Habersham King wired that excepting for Southwestern Texas there has been material improvement, and that if the weather remains good until the end of the month there will be a revision of estimates. Private advices told of scattered showers since Saturday night in the districts of Texas where rains are desired, and while at local points this moisture was reported as heavy, many assert that generally it was insufficient. The forecast was for fair weather throughout the belt, excepting for showers in the west part of West Texas.

The movement and offerings of new cotton were freer. The Liverpool market was below a parity, due, it was cabled, to moderate offerings of the actual there. The spot sales in that market continue light. The receipts at Houston were about 16,000 bales, against 9,000 bales last week and 22,000 bales a year ago. Galveston receipts for to-day are estimated at about 24,000 bales, against 14,000 bales last year. It is still declared from the Southeast that the crop is from 10 to 20 days late, so that there will be little moving there until about the end of August, and at some points not before the early part of September.

COFFEE.

Coffee started 10 to 14 points higher and continued to advance until values showed gains from 15 to 20 points from the previous close. Cost and freight offers from Brazil were very firm, with prices 10 to 30 points above last week. Late advices from Brazil showing receipts of 61,000 bags checked the movement late in the day, and the close was steady, at a net advance of 9 to 13 points. Sales, 107,250 bags. Havre advanced 1¼ to 1½ francs, while Hamburg was ¾ to 1 pfennig higher. Rio was 75 reis higher and Santos 200 reis higher, according to the official cable, although the special cable giving opening prices for the day showed a decline of 50 reis for Santos coffee.

Cash market, Rio 7s, 14c.

Total warehouse deliveries in the United States for the week were 60,512 bags, against 94,968 bags last week and 74,345 last year. Of the former amount New York reported 49,318 bags.

Receipts at Rio and Santos for the week totaled 305,000 bags, against 340,000 last week, 492,000 last year, and 386,000 two years ago.

FOREIGN TRADE OPPORTUNITIES.

The Daily Consular and Trade Report notes the following foreign trade opportunities. Further information regarding them may be obtained by addressing the Bureau of Manufacturers, care of the Department of Commerce and Labor, Washington, D. C., giving the number of the item referred to:

9,361. MUNICIPAL BUILDINGS.—The committee of the municipality of Rangoon, Burma, invites architects to enter into competition for designing and supervising the construction of the new municipal buildings. Honoraria of £300 ($1,460,) £200, ($973,) and £100, ($486,) respectively, will be paid the architects who the Assessor may select as first, second, and third, but the architect whose design is selected will not be paid an honorarium, but will receive payment as specified in the conditions of competition. Should the successful architect not be in a position to supervise the work, he may be represented by local architects. Plans of the site, together with photographs of adjacent buildings, may be obtained from the London agents to the municipality, Messrs. Ogilvy, Gillanders & Co., Sun Court, 67 Cornhill, E. C., on payment of £1, ($4.86,) which will be refunded on return of plans, &c.

9,362. AMERICAN PUBLICATIONS.—The Consulate General at Moscow has forwarded to the Bureau of Manufacturers copy of a communication received from the Society of Alumni of the Commercial Institute of Moscow, which desires to know on what conditions the society could obtain American publications for the files of its library. The publications mentioned in the request were reports of congresses and various societies, projects, statistical schedules, and scientific works, &c. The institute is composed of the graduates of one of the leading commercial institutes of Russia.

9,363. WOODWORKING MACHINERY.—A commercial agent of the Department of Commerce and Labor has forwarded the name of a business man in The Netherlands who desires to get into communication with American manufacturers of woodworking machinery, more particularly sawmills and planers.

9,364. MEAT CUTTERS AND LOCKS.—An American Consular officer in Germany has forwarded to the Bureau of Manufactures the name of a well-known importer in his district who wishes to get into communication with American manufacturers and exporters of meat cutters and locks.

9,365. PUMPING PLANTS AND MINING MACHINERY.—An American Consul in China reports that the owners of a mine desire to purchase pumping plants. Since the installation of one or two plants would lead to a considerable demand, the Consul thinks that this opportunity deserves special consideration. The mining of coal is an important and growing industry, and the Consul predicts a demand for mining machinery as transportation facilities are improved.

9,366. FURNITURE AND LUMBER.—One of the leading furniture dealers in an important city in the Far East with an established and an increasing trade is anxious to represent American furniture manufacturers, particularly office furniture and appliances; also lumber of quartered oak or gum in sizes 10 feet long, 5 to 6 inches wide, and ¾ inch thick.

9,367. MOTOR CAR MANUFACTORY.—An American Consul in Canada has transmitted the name of a firm which has been awarded the contract for erecting a carriage and motor car factory. The building will be 450 by 60 feet, four-story, and will be constructed of brick, steel, and concrete.

9,368. AMERICAN NOVELTIES, &c.—An American Consul stationed in Asia thinks there would be a demand for American razors, strops, kodaks, musical instruments, knives, and other articles among the English soldiers stationed in that district, and that correspondence schools might find it to their interest to get in touch with these soldiers.

PROPOSALS.

OFFICE PURCHASING COMMISSARY, U. S. Army, 39 Whitehall Street, New York, N. Y., August 20, 1912.—Sealed proposals, in duplicate, for furnishing and delivering subsistence stores in this city, under the provisions of Section 3732, R. S., U. S., will be received at this office until ten o'clock A. M., September 3, 1912. Information furnished on application. Envelopes containing bids should be marked "Proposals for Subsistence Stores Opened September 3, 1912," and addressed to Col. A. L. Smith, A. C. G., U. S. Army.

PART OF ROUTE NO. 11-B.

The City of New York, acting by the Public Service Commission for the First District (hereinafter called "the Commission") invites proposals to construct Section No. 1 of Route 11-B, a part of the Fourth Avenue, Brooklyn, Rapid Transit Railroad.

The points within the City between which the said part is to run and the route or routes to be followed are briefly as follows:

Section No. 1. Beginning at a point under Fourth Avenue, in the Borough of Brooklyn, about twenty-five (25) feet south of the center line of 40th Street, at the southerly end of Contract Section No. 11-A-4, now existing or being constructed, and extending thence southerly under Fourth Avenue to a point about one hundred and ten (110) feet south of the center line of 61st Street; with stations at 45th Street, 53d Street and 59th Street.

The general plan of construction calls for a subsurface railroad having one and two tracks on the easterly side of Fourth Avenue from the northern end of the section to a point about eighty-six (86) feet north of the center line of 43d Street, and four tracks for the remainder of the section. The details of the construction of the Railroad and appurtenances are more particularly indicated on the Contract Drawings.

Bidders will not be required to provide or lay tracks, ties or ballast, nor to do the station finish work.

The work of construction under the contract will include the construction of all necessary sewers and connections, along the route of the Railroad; also the necessary support, maintenance, readjustment and reconstruction of vaults adjacent to buildings, pipes, tubes, conduits, subways or other subsurface structures; the support and care, including underpinning where necessary, of all buildings, monuments, subsurface railroads and other structures, etc., affected by or interfered with during the construction of the work; also the restoration of the sidewalks and roadways.

The method of construction, unless otherwise permitted by the Commission, will be partly by trench excavation without cover and partly by trench excavation with cover, as set forth in the form of contract.

Bidders must examine the form of contract and the specifications, maps and plans; must visit the location of the work and inform themselves of the present conditions along the line thereof and make their own estimates of the facilities and difficulties attending the execution of the proposed work.

For the information of bidders attention is called to a seeming considerable demand for fill along the water front in the Bay Ridge district.

A fuller description of the work to be done is set forth, and other requirements, provisions, details and specifications are stated, in the printed form of contract and in the Contract Drawings therein referred to. Printed copies of the form of contract, bond and contractor's proposal may be had on application at the office of the Commission, No. 154 Nassau Street, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York. The Contract Drawings may be inspected at the same office, and copies thereof may be purchased by prospective bidders on payment of five dollars ($5.00.) The printed form of contract and the Contract Drawings are to be deemed a part of this invitation.

Partial payments to the Contractor will be made monthly as the work proceeds as provided in the form of contract.

The Contractor will be required to complete the work as soon as practicable and within a period of twenty-four (24) months from the date of the delivery of the contract.

Sealed bids or proposals will be received at the office of the Commission at No. 154 Nassau Street, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, until the 12th day of September, 1912, at twelve (12) o'clock noon, at which time, or at a later date to be fixed by the Commission, the proposals will be publicly opened.

Proposals must be in the form prescribed by the Commission, copies of which may be obtained at the office of the Commission.

A statement based upon estimate of the Engineer, of the quantities of the various classes of the work and of the nature and extent as near as practicable of the work required, is to be found in the schedule forming a part of the form of Contractor's Proposal. The quantities given in such schedule are approximate only, being given as a basis for the uniform comparison of bids and no claim is to be made against the City on account of any excess or deficiency, absolute or relative, in the same, except as provided in the specifications and form of contract.

All proposals must, when submitted, be enclosed in a sealed envelope endorsed "Proposal for Constructing Part of Rapid Transit Railroad—Route No. 11-B, Section No. 1," and must be delivered to the Commission or its Secretary; and in the presence of the person submitting the proposal, it will be deposited in a sealed box, in which all proposals will be deposited. No proposal will be received or deposited unless accompanied by a separate certified check drawn upon a national or state bank or trust company having its principal office in the City of New York, satisfactory to the Commission and payable to the order of the Comptroller of The City of New York for the sum of fifteen thousand ($15,000) dollars. Such check must not be enclosed in the envelope containing the proposal.

The Unit Prices must not be improperly balanced, and any bid which the Commission considers detrimental to the City's interests may be rejected.

No proposal, after it shall have been deposited with the Commission, will be allowed to be withdrawn for any reason whatever.

The award of the contract will be made by the Commission as soon as practicable after the opening of the proposals.

Bidders whose proposals are otherwise satisfactory, in case the sureties or securities named by them are not approved by the Commission, may substitute in their proposals the names of other sureties or securities approved by the Commission, but such substitution must be made within five (5) days after notice of disapproval, unless such period is extended by the Commission.

A bidder whose proposal shall be accepted shall, in person or by duly authorized representative, attend at the said office of the Commission within ten (10) days after the delivery of a notice by the Commission that his proposal is accepted and that the contract is consented to by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, and such bidder shall then deliver a contract in the form referred to, duly executed and with its execution duly proved.

At the time of the delivery of the contract, the Contractor will be required to furnish security to the City by giving a bond for forty thousand ($40,000) dollars. At the option of the successful bidder cash or approved securities may be deposited instead of giving a bond. If securities are deposited in place of a bond under this contract, they must be of the character of securities in which Savings Banks may invest their funds and must be approved by the Commission.

The Contractor's bond must be in the form annexed to the form of contract.

In addition and as further security fifteen (15%) per centum of the amounts certified from time to time to be due to the Contractor will be deducted until the amounts so deducted and retained shall equal the sum of one hundred and seventy-five thousand ($175,000) dollars. Thereafter there shall be so deducted and retained for such purpose ten (10%) per centum of the amounts certified from time to time to be due to the Contractor. The Contractor may from time to time withdraw portions of the amounts so retained upon depositing in lieu thereof corporate stock of The City of New York equal in market value to the amount so withdrawn.

In case of failure or neglect to execute and deliver the contract or to execute and deliver the required bond or to make the required deposit, such bidder will, at the option of the Commission, be deemed either to have made the contract or to have abandoned the contract. In the latter case, the Commission will give notice thereof to such defaulting bidder, and the Commission may thereupon proceed to make another contract with such, if any, of the original bidders, as, in the opinion of the Commission, it will be to the best interests of the City to contract with, or may by new advertisement invite further proposals. The defaulting bidder shall thereupon be liable to the City for all loss and damage by it sustained, including the excess, if any, of the amount it shall pay any other Contractor over the amount of the bid of such defaulting bidder.

If the Commission shall give notice to any bidder that his or its proposal is accepted and that the contract is consented to by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, and if the bidder shall fail within ten (10) days thereafter or within such further period, if any, as may be prescribed by the Commission, to execute and deliver the contract and to execute and deliver the bond with sureties, or to make the required deposit, then the Invitation to Contractors and proposal accepted as aforesaid shall be a contract binding the bidder to pay to the City the damage by it sustained by reason of such failure, and in such case the bidder shall, by the terms of the proposal, absolutely assign to the City the ownership of the check accompanying his or its proposal as a payment on account of such damages.

All such deposits made by bidders whose proposals shall not be accepted by the Commission will be returned to the person or persons making the same within five (5) days after the contract shall be executed and delivered. The deposit of the successful bidder will be returned when the contract is executed and its provisions in respect of the bond or deposit are complied with.

The right to reject any and all bids is reserved.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Dull; Prices Recover Part of Early Decline—July Imports Exceed Exports.

A variety of reports of a kind which serve to enhance market enthusiasm at times when the public is a large factor in the dealings on the Stock Exchange failed yesterday to stimulate the market to a resumption of the upward movement which halted four days ago. This was but one of several indications which the day supplied that the public has so far not come into the market on any large scale. There was no Monday morning accumulation of buying orders sufficient in volume to impress itself upon the early price making of the session, and the partial recovery from the early decline which occurred in the later hours of trading was attributable not to enlarged public interest, but rather to lack of aggressivesness on the part of those who were disposed to operate on the short side and to the fact that nothing has occurred to becloud the excellent general crop and business outlook upon which recent improvement in prices was based. In the shape of rumor matters were discussed which would have exerted unfavorable influence upon the market had they been regarded as well founded or as likely of early realization. Such, for instance, was the report that the Commerce Commission was about to order a reduction of anthracite rates. It did not appear that this referred to anything more definite than the yet undetermined decision of the commission to be based on the general inquiry into the rates and practices of the anthracite carrying roads upon which the commission entered some weeks ago, but which has not yet gone beyond preliminary stages. Neither such reports nor those of opposite import found much practical reflection in prices. These moved narrowly and the dealings were in volume so small that they clearly denoted a lull in the campaign for higher prices.

The gathering to-day of the representatives of the firemen of the Eastern railroads was pointed to yesterday as a reminder that the railroads still have to face this vexatious wage situation, which will be only half settled when the board which now has in hand the demands of the locomotive engineers renders its decision. The firemen will then still have to be heard, whatever the outcome of the engineers' efforts to obtain higher wages. It would be much to expect that the railroads can in this situation escape all addition to their expense accounts, but this much at least may be hoped, that the decision in the present arbitration, should it grant an increase in wages, will also make clearer to the public than it has seemed to be in the past that it is as essential for the railroads as for any other undertakings that the proper relation should be maintained between income and outgo. If the public is to regulate both, the duty certainly devolves upon the public to enable the railroads to maintain the proper margin between the two. Any further addition to expenses laid upon the railroads will add just so much to the body of the argument in support of the railroads' contention that a moderate increase in their rates should be permitted, not only for the good of the railroads themselves, meaning their owners, but as well for the good of the public whom the railroads must serve. What may be expected in this direction will be clearer when it is seen what stand the Arbitration Board takes on the broad questions collateral to its specific decision in respect to the wages of the engineers. It is to be hoped that the decision will be helpful in educating the public mind to a better understanding of the real position of the railroads.

The statement of the country's foreign trade for the month of July commands attention. Both exports and imports rose to record figures for the month, but the greater expansion was in the latter, with the result that last year's July excess of exports of $9,500,000 was converted this July into an excess of imports of $1,300,000. Prior to 1909 for many years there was a practically unbroken record of monthly credit trade balances, but in three out of the last four years, counting the present, the July statement has shown an excess of exports. In 1909 there were three months, June, July, and August, in which imports exceeded exports, and in 1910 imports exceeded exports in five out of the first eight months of the year. In those eight months imports exceeded exports by a small figure, but this year a vastly different showing is being made. Our imports have grown to record figures, but so, too, have our exports, notwithstanding the smallness in recent months of our agricultural exports, and our balance of exports at the end of July was larger for this period than in seven out of the last ten years. If imports are to continue in present volume, it is clear that we need the surplus which this year's crops promise in order to maintain our present large credit trade balance. Incidentally this foreign trade statement throws some interesting light on the strength some time back of the foreign exchange market, which, as now appears, had to provide the net payment abroad of some $10,000,000 more on account of July trade this year than last.

MONEY AND EXCHANGE.

Money on call loaned on Stock Exchange collateral at 2¾@3 per cent., with the last loan at 2⅞ per cent. Most of the day's loans were made at 2¾ per cent.

Time money rates, 3½@3¾ per cent. for sixty days, 3¾@4 per cent. for ninety days, 4¼@4½ per cent. for four months, 4½@4¾ per cent. for five and six months.

New York Clearing House statement: Exchanges, $181,221,633; balances, $11,846,385; Sub-Treasury credit balance, $926,431.

The local banks have lost $791,000 on their Sub-Treasury transactions since Friday.

Commercial paper was quoted at 4¾@5 per cent. for three to four months, and 5@5½ per cent. for five to seven months.

FOREIGN RATES.

Discount rates abroad yesterday were: London, 3 per cent. for short bills and 3⅛ per cent. for three months' bills; Paris, 2⅝ per cent., and Berlin, 4 per cent. Money rates were 1¾@2 per cent. in London and 4 per cent. in Berlin.

The Paris check rate on London was 25 francs 27 centimes, and the Berlin check rate on London 20 marks 47 pfennigs.

Foreign exchange rates at the points noted were quoted as follows at the close of business yesterday:

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Blue Monday.

All things considered, yesterday should have seen a lively bull market, if traditions count for anything. The investing public stayed out for the most part last week, presumably to wait until the crops were past danger. With all day Sunday in which to ruminate on the greatness of the Northwest, the indications of big harvest yields where only partial crops have been gathered in recent years, the impending shortage of freight cars with which to move business, the increasing tonnage of the steel companies, and many other matters of importance from a stock market standpoint, it was to be expected that the brokers would find crowds clamoring at their doors yesterday morning. Such buyers as put in an appearance showed as little life as the weather. The opening was dull and the market continued to grow more apathetic as the day advanced. The day's sales were little more than half of what they were a year ago, and the commissions thinly distributed. It seemed as though every man who did not have to be at his office by previous arrangement stayed in the country.

No Alton Meeting Yesterday.

When the Chicago & Alton board decided several weeks ago to put out a new issue of $20,000,000 of 6 per cent. bonds it arranged with the Union Pacific to buy a large block to supply funds for immediate use, sent notices to the stockholders, and complied with the other formalities incident to the occasion. Yesterday the Secretary was scheduled to read the minutes of the previous meeting of the stockholders to himself and one or two other officers of the company, who felt obligated to sit through the meeting, after which the motion to authorize the new issue of securities was to have been read and passed. That is the way of the ordinary stockholders' meeting. The programme for yesterday's meeting, which was to have been held in Chicago, was upset by the carelessness of one of the small town newspapers selected to share in the advertising necessary to prepare the way for a legal meeting. This paper omitted the advertisement, or ran it on the wrong day, or with a wrong date. No one would have read the notice if it had been printed correctly, or if he had read it would have paid any attention to it, but the strict formalities of the law must be observed, and the Secretary cast his proxies in favor of an adjournment.

General Chemical Moves Back.

A sale of 100 shares of General Chemical was made at 200 yesterday, a loss of 12 points from the previous quotation. Last week this issue sold at 225, on the report of a plan for the distribution of a big extra dividend. Sudden gains such as General Chemical made are often held but for a few days. After the people with "good" information have picked up their stock in anticipation of a favorable development outsiders with a speculative bent, but with no knowledge on which to act, are convinced by the rise in an issue that something important is going to happen. They order their brokers to buy them some stock at the market, which means a further jump in the price. After these traders have waited a few days with nothing happening they grow impatient and sell their shares at a loss.

Republic Steel Dividend.

There were no sales of Republic Iron and Steel preferred yesterday. The common stock sold at 28 at the close, a loss of half a point for the day. It was said that the Directors would not give any consideration to the preferred dividend until October, and might decide then that conditions did not justify its resumption. The showing made by the annual report was generally considered an excellent one in the light of the depressed prices which prevailed through most of the year. That the Republic was able to earn a surplus equivalent to 5 per cent. on its preferred in 1911-12 was considered good evidence that earnings in normal years would show a good balance over the preferred dividend requirements.

Big Kodak Dividends.

If the pioneers in Standard Oil had realized the possibilities in the manufacture and sale of sensetized film they might have shifted their investment a few years ago to Eastman Kodak shares and increased their profits. So far this year the Eastman Company has declared dividends amounting to 35 per cent. on the common stock, and the board will have several more meetings this year. The company earned 58 per cent. on its common stock last year, but the cautious Directors paid out only 40 per cent. in dividends. At the present rate the stockholders will receive 50 per cent. in the current year.

Ontario & Western Minority Shares.

If the New York, New Haven & Hartford cannot sell its controlling interest in the New York, Ontario & Western to the New York Central, it wants to get the rest of the Ontario's outstanding stock, and to this end has applied to the up-State Public Service Commission for permission to buy the minority shares. The commission refused to allow the proposed transfer to the Central on the ground that it would not be fair to impose upon that road the burden of the purchase price of approximately $26,000,000. Now the New Haven would acquire the balance of the Ontario's stock in order to make the smaller line a part of the New Haven system. In the application to purchase the minority interest the New Haven gives the market value of Ontario common stock as $33 a share. President Mellen originally acquired the Ontario to get a line into the anthracite fields, and to keep the New Haven from being bottled up in New England. For several years the Central held an option on the New Haven's holdings at $45 per share, and the market price ruled close to this figure on the theory that the option might some day be exercised. When the smaller road passed its dividend the stock depreciated, and it is not unlikely that interests friendly to the New Haven acquired a considerable amount of the stock with a view to turning it over to President Mellen's company eventually. The Ontario's New York office has been moved to the Grand Central terminal, and the absorption of the coal road would make further economies possible.

OUTSIDE SECURITIES

Curb Market Has Another Day of Inactivity, with a Narrow List of Transactions.

The dullness which prevailed on the New York Stock Exchange yesterday found its reflection in the extreme quiet of the open air market. Manhattan Transit was active, 6,000 shares selling within a range of a quarter point, while 1,700 shares of the new Emerson-Brantingham common stock sold at 77½ and 77¾. The mining list was narrow.

⁂

STOCKS OUT OF TOWN.

Chicago Utilities May Secure $2,000,000 to Extend Its Telephone System.

Yesterday's markets in other cities were dull and featureless. Reports to THE NEW YORK TIMES showed few price variations.

On the Baltimore Exchange Merchants and Miners' Transportation again recorded a new high record due to increased earnings and growing belief of the probability of the company paying a larger dividend. A. C. L. convertible debenture fours yielded nearly a point, but demand continued good.

Boston stocks did little. Superior and Boston Mining had a range of ⅝. Otherwise "quiet and dull" sufficiently express the meaning of the day in this market. The closing was generally firm.

Extreme dullness also characterized trading on the Chicago Stock Exchange. People's Gas advanced a fraction to 118¼, and Sears Roebuck advanced to 204½, a point and a half over Saturday's close. Swifts was a trifle easier at 107, while Booth Fisheries preferred sold down to 89, a loss of ½ point. There was a sale of ten shares of Hart Schaffner preferred at 99½, up ¼ from previous sale.

According to a report in La Salle Street yesterday negotiations are under way whereby the Chicago Utilities Company will sell real estate formerly owned by the Chicago Subway Company, thereby realizing about $2,000,000 for the purpose of extending the automatic telephone system. The deal is said to involve the sale of the company's dock properties along the Chicago River.

With $2,000,000 put into the telephone system without increasing the company's funded indebtedness, the step is expected to be an advantageous one.

Stagnation reigned on the Philadelphia Exchange with only the narrowest of variations in price quotations. Tonopah Belmont was in fair demand at a small fractional gain on the announcement of the net earnings for the month of July, which were $114,000. Slight reactions occurred in Tonopah Mining and Electric Storage Battery, but otherwise there was nothing to record concerning the list outside of the arbitrage group, which followed the trend in Wall Street.

BOURSES OF EUROPE

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Tuesday, Aug. 20.—The Times says in its City article to-day:

"Quotations were rather lower yesterday for day-to-day advances and short loans. Discount rates were also easier for all maturities, a shade lower in the case of three and four months' paper. The Bank of England will probably secure the bulk of this week's consignment of gold from South Africa.

"In the stock market a fair amount of business of an investment character was passing, especially in gilt-edged securities, which resumed their upward movement.

"Canadian Pacific shares were still the liveliest security in the house, and there were some wide fluctuations in price. Otherwise business in the speculative markets was very quiet owing to the thin attendance of members, although on the whole the tone was not unsatisfactory.

"Diamond shares again showed great strength, the buying being very largely on French account.

"In the late dealings Wall Street was a buyer in a small way of American railroad securities, but not enough to lift prices much above the lower parity level at which they opened.

"Recent favorites in the foreign railway market, such as Brazil common, Cordoba Central, and Buenos Aires Extension fives, again attracted a fair amount of attention, and elsewhere iron and steel and a few oil shares were bought, while Marconi shares were again in demand."

PARIS, Aug. 19.—Prices were firm on the Bourse to-day.

BERLIN, Aug. 19.—Prices opened steady and closed firm on the Boerse to-day.

Attractive Opportunities

A constantly increasing number of investors are realizing the attractive opportunities for an increased income presented by the preferred stocks of prosperous and regular dividend paying Manufacturing Corporations.

Many, entirely dependent upon their investments, have been forced by the high cost of living to seek larger returns wherever they can do it without jeopardizing their principal. We can show how this can be done. Write us.

A Significant Comparison

Sixteen years ago we sold the 5 per cent Consolidated Bonds of the Choctaw, Oklahoma and Gulf R. R. at 69. To-day the price is 107. These bonds constituted a second mortgage on 220 miles of road, earning $2,500 per mile.

We now recommend bonds secured by a first mortgage on 900 miles of road, in similar territory, earning $5,500 per mile. At their present price they yield 5.35 per cent.

At your request we will gladly carry this comparison further.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

Considerable trading uncertainty was reflected by the price movements on the Consolidated Stock Exchange. Following early advances, the market receded rather sharply, with Reading and Lehigh Valley particularly weak, the downward movement in those two stocks being accompanied by reports that "insiders" had taken advantage of the recent market improvement to realize on some large lines that they had been carrying. Trading was active on the decline, with heavy covering of short contracts put out last Saturday a feature. The attendance of brokers at the 9:30 o'clock opening call was limited, and this was reflected in the volume of business transacted on the floor. Sales totaled 37,910 shares, distributed among fifty-two different stocks.

NEW YORK & WILKES-BARRE COAL COMPANY

The undersigned as Trustee under an agreement dated August 15, 1893, executed by New York & Wilkes-Barre Coal Company to Continental Trust Company of the City of New York (now The New York Trust Company), pursuant to the provisions of said agreement, will sell at public auction at the Exchange Salesroom, Nos. 14-16 Vesey Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on August 20, 1912, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, by Adrian H. Muller & Son, Auctioneers, all of the right, title and interest of the undersigned as Trustee under said agreement, in and to the following securities held by it thereunder.

(1) A bond and mortgage dated March 23, 1896, executed by Langcliffe Coal Company, Limited, (a limited partnership association of the State of Pennsylvania,) to The New York Trust Company (under its then name, Continental Trust Company of the City of New York), and delivered in substitution of a bond and mortgage dated April 20, 1892, executed by Reese G. Brooks and John A. Mears to the Wilkes-Barre & Hudson River Improvement Company (a corporation of the State of New Jersey) to secure the payment of the sum of $325,000, and which last-mentioned bond and mortgage were assigned by said Wilkes-Barre & Hudson River Improvement Company to said The New York Trust Company;

(2) An agreement dated September 25, 1893, made between Langcliffe Coal Company (a corporation of the State of Pennsylvania), as party of the first part, said Wilkes-Barre & Hudson River Improvement Company, as party of the second part, and Reese G. Brooks and John A. Mears, as parties of the third part, and which agreement was assigned to said The New York Trust Company (under its then name, Continental Trust Company of the City of New York), by instrument of assignment dated September 28, 1893;

(3) An agreement dated September 25, 1893, made between Reese G. Brooks and John A. Mears, of the first part, and said Wilkes-Barre & Hudson River Improvement Company, of the second part, and which agreement was assigned to said The New York Trust Company (under its then name, Continental Trust Company of the City of New York), by instrument of assignment dated September 28, 1893;

(4) Three thousand shares of the par value of $100 each of the capital stock of said Langcliffe Coal Company, the right to the delivery and possession of which shares is claimed by the Hudson Coal Company, (a corporation of the State of Pennsylvania).

(5) The right, title and interest of said The New York Trust Company in, to and under any and all other bonds, mortgages or agreements incidental or supplemental to the bonds, mortgages or agreements hereinbefore mentioned.

Twenty Per Cent. (20%) of the purchase money will be required to be paid at the time and place of sale, for which receipt will be given, and the balance, at the office of the undersigned, No. 26 Broad Street, New York City, on or before 3 o'clock in the afternoon of August 22, 1912, when the securities sold, together with assignments thereof, will be ready for delivery to the purchaser.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

West Side Apartment Deals the Feature of the Market—Steel Company Buys in Greenwich Section—Over $500,000 Loaned on New Buildings in Bronx Borough.

Upper west side apartment deals formed the feature of the realty market yesterday. In the Morningside Heights district the twelve-story Luxor apartment on the southwest corner of Broadway and 115th Street was sold by the Paterno brothers to an investor, the holding price of the property being $650,000. Another deal which involved an interchange of properties valued at about $100,000 was made in the Washington Heights section in the sale by the Rene Construction Company (D. Krulewits, President) of the new five-story apartment at 458 and 460 West 143d Street, between Columbus and Amsterdam Avenues, to John J. Long. The apartment covers a plot 45 by 100, and is equipped with an elevator and all other conveniences of a high-class house. It has been held at $75,000. In part payment Mr. Long gave the four-story residence 31 East 130th Street, on plot 17.6 by 100, valued at $17,000.

The Luxor, which is one of the fine west side apartments opened last October, covers a plot 100.11 by 75, and adjoins on the 114th Street corner of Broadway the new edifice being erected by the old Fourth Avenue Presbyterian Church. It is well rented, and the Paterno brothers have just improved in similar manner the block front to the north between 115th and 116th Streets, with two twelve-story structures. The Luxor sale was made through Slawson & Hobbs and the S. H. Masten Realty Company.

Greenwich Village Sale.

Another industrial improvement is about to be made in the old Greenwich village section as the result of the purchase by a Boston steel company of the plot 741 to 745 Washington Street, between Bank and Bethune Streets. The plot, 60 by 87 and irregular, was sold by George R. Read & Co. for Samuel Kilpatrick. The old buildings will be torn down and the buyers will erect a large warehouse for their use.

Tenement Deals.

The five-story tenement at 410 East Eighty-third Street has been sold by the F. Dornberger Realty Company for E. Partle to W. Stopel. The seller bought it through the same brokers a week ago. The lot is 25 by 100.

The sale is reported of the five-story flat at 302 West 106th Street, on plot 20 by 100.11, by the 54 Barclay Street Company.

$502,500 in Bronx Building Loans.

Building loans aggregating $502,500 were made on new apartments and other buildings in the Bronx, indicative of the building activity in that borough. The largest individual loan was $160,000, made by the City Mortgage Company to the Kellwood Realty Company on the apartments to be erected on the north side of 163d Street, 110.1 feet east of Simpson Street, a plot 86.7 by 138.1, in the Hunt's Point district. In the same section the same company loaned $120,000 to the Fox Square Building Company on the apartments on the west side of Hoe Avenue, 150 feet south of 165th Street, a plot 180 by 125, and the same company also loaned $100,000 to the Podgur Realty Company for the improvement on the northeast corner of Aldus Street and Southern Boulevard, a plot 194 by 100. The Home-Fox Company obtained a loan of $65,000 on the southwest corner of Home and Fox Streets, a plot 94 by 109.1.

In Manhattan the Wesley Realty Company obtained from the City Mortgage Company a loan of $110,000 on the apartment to be erected on the north side of Eighty-third Street, 175 feet east of Amsterdam Avenue, a plot 50.9 by 102.2.

Suburban.

The Somerville Realty Company has sold at Somerville Park, Arverne: Eighteen lots on the south side of Elizabeth Avenue between Wavecrest and Remington Avenues to I. Zaret; four lots on the east side of Gaston Avenue, south of Morris Avenue, to W. J. Marion, and ten lots on the west side of Meredith Avenue, south of Amstel Boulevard, to H. Lorett.

S. Tanora has sold for H. W. Little his farm of eighty acres at Bound Brook, N. J.

Leases.

Henry D. Winans & May have rented the following private dwellings: 774 Madison Avenue for the Pentalpha Realty Corporation to Dr. William Tod Helmuth; 776 Madison Avenue for the same owners to Drs. Stafford McLean and Mills G. Sturtevant, 39 West 131st Street for Ernest A. Thomson of Pittsfield, Mass., to Mrs. Laura Basden; 7 East Sixty-second Street for Mrs. Mary E. Blodgett to Charles H. Keep of the Columbia-Knickerbocker Trust Company; 31 West Fifty-second Street for Mrs. Eleanor R. McCormick to Henry B. Stokes, President of the Manhattan Life Insurance Company; 259 West Eighty-fifth Street for Dr. William Dean Howells to Louis P. Bayard; 38 East Seventy-third Street for the same owner to Mrs. Rachel Ranger; 138 East Fifty-fourth Street for Mrs. Cecilia F. Barrows to Mrs. Ellen Lahey, and 122 West Ninety-third Street for the estate of Mary C. Tompkins to Mrs. Anna Cowen.

Daniel Birdsall & Co. have rented for the Interstate Land Holding Co. 12,000 square feet in the building 524 to 528 Broadway; also for E. C. Bridgman space at 86 Warren Street, and for Gans & Co. to the Broadway Electrical Novelty Co. the store and basement at 427 Broadway.

S. B. Goodale & Perry have leased offices in the St. James Building to Paul Davies, Brooklyn Shield and Rubber Co., William Jackson & Frank B. Newell, Crescent Broad Silk Co. of Paterson, N. J., and Orkin Brothers Co. of Omaha.

Frank A. Seaver has leased for ten years for R. P. Parker the three-story brick store and dwelling on the southwest corner of Third Avenue and Sixty-eighth Street, Brooklyn.

N. Brigham Hall and William D. Bloodgood have rented for Ida Grossmayer the four-story dwelling at 151 East Sixtieth Street to Bertha R. Heilbrun, and for G. Frederick Norton a studio suite at 4 West Fortieth Street to Mrs. Margaret Livingston.

New Ophthalmic Hospital.

Plans are being drawn by the architects, Crow, Lewis & Wickenhoefer, for the new eight-story building for the New York Ophthalmic and Aural Institute on the southwest corner of Tenth Avenue and Fifty-seventh Street, a plot 45 by 75, acquired a short time ago. The institute has been for many years at 44 and 46 East Twelfth Street. The new building will cost about $200,000.

Notes.

Dr. George W. Warren is the buyer of the four-story American basement residence at 117 East Sixty-second Street, sold recently for Mrs. William H. Davidge by the Douglas Robinson-Charles S. Brown Company.

The F. R. Wood-W. H. Dolson Company have opened a Fifth Avenue branch in the Alwin Building at 373 Fifth Avenue, corner Thirty-fifth Street. The office will be in charge of Frank M. Edwards.

J. Edgar Leaycraft & Co. were the brokers in the sale of the southwest corner of Madison Avenue and Fifty-third Street for the Lyman Building Company to Udo M. Fleischmann.

George W. Bard, the Mount Vernon auctioneer, held a very satisfactory sale at Bay Shore, L. I., last Saturday. Of 135 lots offered 97 were sold. The property is situated about half a mile north of the South Shore Road.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—High temperatures continued during Monday in the Southern States, Middle Atlantic States, Ohio, and Middle Mississippi Valleys, and the Middle Plains States. Temperatures continue below the seasonal average along the northern border from New England to the Dakotas and generally west of the Rocky Mountains.

There were local rains in the last twenty-four hours in the Northern States east of the Rocky Mountains and in the Ohio Valley and at scattered points in the South Atlantic States.

No disturbance of any consequence appears within the area covered by observation.

Indications are that there will be showers Tuesday in the region of the Great Lakes, the Ohio Valley, and the Atlantic States, and Wednesday in the last-named region.

In all other parts of the country the weather will remain fair Tuesday and Wednesday.

The temperature will be somewhat cooler Tuesday in the Middle Mississippi Valley, and it will change little elsewhere throughout the country during the next forty-eight hours. Winds along the New England Coast will be light variable; Middle Atlantic Coast, light to moderate, variable, mostly south and southwest, and South Atlantic Coast, light variable.

Steamships departing Tuesday for European ports will have moderate variable winds and overcast weather, probably showers to the Grand Banks.

FORECASTS FOR TO-DAY AND WEDNESDAY.

Eastern New York, New Jersey, and Eastern Pennsylvania—Unsettled with probably showers Tuesday and Wednesday; light variable winds.

Southern New England—Unsettled with probably showers Tuesday. Wednesday, fair; light variable winds.

Western New York—Unsettled weather with probably showers Tuesday. Wednesday, cloudy light variable winds.

Northern New England—Unsettled. Tuesday. Wednesday, probably fair; light variable winds.

	1911.	1912.		1911.	1912.
3 A. M.	61	71	4 P. M.	75	69
9 A. M.	67	78	9 P. M.	68	70
12 M.	71	81	12 P. M.	63	70

This thermometer is 414 feet above the street level. The average temperature yesterday was 75; for the corresponding date last year it was 68; average on the corresponding date for the last thirty-three years, 72.

The temperature at 8 A. M. yesterday was 75; at 8 P. M. it was 69. Maximum temperature, 82 degrees at 11 A. M.; minimum, 68 degrees at 8:10 P. M. Humidity, 72 per cent. at 8 A. M.; 95 per cent. at 8 P. M.

THE CIVIL SERVICE.

City.

The Municipal Civil Service Commission has approved the following:

Report of Mr. Murray, dated Aug. 6, on the request of Walter A. Herkewiath, an assistant engineer in the office of the President of the Borough of the Bronx at $2,250 a year, that he be "admitted to the privileges of Grade E." Mr. Murray reports that in his opinion the commission is without power to waive the provisions of the rules requiring an examination before this request may be granted.

Communication from the Assistant Chief Examiner in charge of promotions, dated Aug. 10, recommending that the eligible list for rodman, Grade C, (Chief Engineer's office,) be certified to the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity as an appropriate list from which to make four appointments at a salary of $900 a year, (Grade B,) there being no list for the latter grade.

United States.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces the following examinations at the New York Custom House:

Aug. 21—Unskilled labor for all departments except the Post Office.

Aug. 26—Assistant in Botanical Laboratory, assistant physical geologist, assistant in grain standard division.

Sept. 18—To obtain eligibles from which to make certification to fill a vacancy in the position of advanced apprentice engraver, at $700 a year in the Hydrographic Office of the Bureau of Navigation, Navy Department, and vacancies requiring similar qualifications as they may occur in any branch of the service, unless it is found to be in the interest of the service to fill the vacancy by reinstatement, transfer, or promotion.

Men only will be admitted to this examination, which will consist of the following subjects, weighted as indicated: Spelling, 15; arithmetic, 15; letter writing, 15; penmanship, 10; copying from plain copy, 10; training, experience, and fitness, 35. Time allowed, three hours. Applicants must have reached their eighteenth but not their twenty-first birthday on the date of examination, but a person who is serving his apprenticeship or is undergoing training as a map engraver will be permitted to file an application for advanced apprentice engraver without regard to age limit, and if he becomes eligible his name will remain on the register for certification until he has completed his four years apprenticeship or training, unless he is reached for certification and selection during that period.

RAIN AND LIGHTNING YIELD A FOUNDLING

Lace-Dressed Baby on Cushion Picked Up from Doorstep at Storm's Height.

MANHOLE COVERS BLOWN OFF

Bolt Shatters Apartment House Cornice in Upper Broadway—Flashes Seemed Continuous.

An electric storm of unusual intensity played over the city last night. For more than half an hour there were brilliant flashes of lightning, following each other at intervals so close that they seemed continuous. From the tower of the Times Building Broadway seemed revealed not as the Great White Way of night, but as a street seen in a shaky, spooky dawn.

But although the lightning played in sheets and the thunder rumbled like the vengeful artillery of cloud battalions, little damage was done. In only one place, so far as the police could learn, was anything struck. Telephone and electric lighting wires were not affected.

The Weather Bureau reported the storm as a local thundershower. The rainfall for the entire day was an inch and seventeen-hundredths. It was the storm the weather prophets had expected for to-day, but its appearance last night is no guarantee that it will not play a return appearance to-day.

The only reported damage from the storm was at the Georgia Court, a six-story apartment house at 3,830 Broadway, at the southeast corner of 160th Street. There the lightning struck a cornice which is six feet high and made of masonry. The flash tore off a piece of cornice six feet long and three feet high and scattered the fragments over Broadway, even to the west curb. Some of the pieces of stone narrowly missed passing motor cars scurrying to cover.

The concussion shook the whole house and drove several tenants to the hallways. It was found on an inspection that outside of the damage to the cornice the house was uninjured. Electric light and telephone service was not suspended.

The rain came down so heavily for a time that sewers in various parts of the city were flooded to capacity, and in some localities manholes were blown off at depressed points. In such neighborhoods the flooding of cellars was reported to the police. One of the places so affected was at Thompson and Broome Streets.

An interesting feature of the downpour was the discovery of a foundling. At the height of the storm while Patrolman Charles Cleveland of the Macdougal Street Station was trying doors of mercantile establishments in Greene Street, in the woolen district, he heard the cry of an infant. A door or two further on, at 67 Greene Street, he found a child, a month old, lying on a cushion. He took off his rubber raincoat and wrapped the child in it. On the way to the police house he was drenched, but the child was kept dry.

Lieut. Michael J. Shea of the station said the child was the best-dressed foundling he had ever seen. It was also a very healthy child. The child wore a white coat trimmed with lace, a white frock trimmed with lace, and lace-trimmed linen underwear of excellent quality. It had on a lace cap and white boots.

Lieut. Shea sent out Policeman Delane to buy a bottle of milk. The child would not drink from a cup, and Lieut. Shea had a nursing bottle purchased at a nearby drug store. After the infant had been quieted with a bottle Policeman Delane took the little one over to Bellevue Hospital in the patrol wagon. There was no note with the child or mark on its clothing to indicate its parentage.

The storm struck Coney Island in the afternoon and drove resort frequenters to their homes. Luna and all the other large places of amusement were closed last night, and those which kept open catered to but small groups.

BRIDEGROOM NOT ON HAND.

Wedding Guests and Bride Ready, but His Ship Was Late.

The home of Mrs. A. E. Hargreaves at 522 Hancock Street, Brooklyn, was filled with wedding guests last evening, the wedding supper was spread, and the bride, Lena Shields of Miami, Fla., was waiting in her gown of white, when telegrams began to come from Boston to the effect that Lee F. McCready, the bridegroom, had missed first one train and then another, and finally came the dismaying news that he would not be able to come at all.

The last message contained instructions for Miss Shields to take the night train for Boston and have the ceremony there. Miss Shields gazed in despair upon her gown and all the preparations, and then gave it up. She will go to Boston on the first train this morning.

McCready, a nephew of Mgr. McCready of the Holy Cross Church in West Forty-second Street, who was to have performed the ceremony, is steward of the steamship Halifax, and last night's disappointment was all because the ship was unprecedentedly late in reaching her pier in Boston.

Miss Marks and her mother were sailing on the steamship Perry from Boston to Halifax two months ago, when McCready was steward of that ship. They met then and became engaged.

It happens that twenty-three years ago Mrs. Marks, who was a Miss Minnie Gormley, was journeying from Boston to Halifax on the Olivette when she met the chief steward, whose name was Marks. They, too, became engaged on their first voyage together, and their wedding, too, was postponed twenty-four hours because the bridegroom missed the train.

SEVEN HURT IN CAR COLLISION

Slippery Rails Cause a Bumper Crash at Coney Island.

A West End B. R. T. train was just coming to a stop in the Coney Island terminal late yesterday afternoon, when the tracks proved too slippery for the motorman and the train smashed into the bumper, tossing the passengers about and throwing to the ground those who had gathered on the platform of the forward car.

In the confusion that followed there were found to be a half dozen people with bad enough cuts and bruises to require the attention of Dr. Gates, from the Coney Island Hospital, but only one man was hurt seriously enough to require his removal to the hospital. This was August Reid, whose home is in the Bowery, Coney Island. It was thought that he had been injured internally, and his face was badly cut. The front of the forward car was splintered by the collision.

CLAIM FIANCEES AT PIER.

Banker's Daughter, Secretly Engaged—Cable Frees Austrian Girl.

When the North German Lloyd liner Prinz Friedrich Wilhelm arrived yesterday morning at her pier in Hoboken, N. J., W. J. McMullin, a retired banker of Philadelphia, was surprised to see his daughter Mabel, who was traveling with him, rush down the gangway and embrace Eugene Colton Stevenson, a young man they had met abroad some time previous. When he asked his daughter for an explanation she said that Mr. Stevenson had sent her a code cable message asking if she would marry him, and her reply was "Yes."

When Mr. McMullin heard what the young man had to say he made no opposition to the arrangements planned by the couple and they all left the pier together to have luncheon in New York before starting for Philadelphia.

Mr. Stevenson had met Miss McMullin in Antwerp, when he was visiting his sisters, who were attending school there.

While this was happening on the pier the immigration inspector on board was trying to explain to Miss Fanny Schutzman, an attractive-looking Austrian girl from Vienna, that she could not go ashore because her father had cabled to the Commissioner at Ellis Island for her to be held until further instructions were received from him.

The conversation was suddenly interrupted by a young man, who rushed up and handed the Inspector a cable dispatch which was addressed to Harry Leibel, Washington, D. C., and read: "It is too late for interference. My blessings. Schutzman," and the second happy couple left the pier in an autmoble to get a license and wed before going on to Washington, where Leibel has a dry goods business.

ROBBED BEFORE BY SAME MAN

After 15 Years He Identifies One Who Tries to Pick His Pocket.

"Your Honor, that man robbed me fifteen years ago. He tried to rob me again to-day," said George Aranow, a manufacturer, of 25 Broad Street, pointing a long finger at a hard-faced man who winced but made no reply. Magistrate Freschi shifted in his chair, and several lean-looking lawyers around the Tombs Court pushed toward the rail.

Mr. Arnow told how he had been trying on a new suit of clothes in a store in Fulton Street, when he saw the prisoner, Harry Hastings, stick his hand in his coat pocket and withdraw his purse. He told of the chase that followed, ending in the capture by a policeman. And then he narrated how he had been robbed by the same man some fifteen years ago, when he had come into his store and asked for change for $10, and had finally borrowed 50 cents and departed.

The prisoner said that he had seen Mr. Aranow's purse fall to the floor and had politely attempted to return it, when set upon as a thief. The police say that Hastings has been convicted several times. He was held for trial.

FIREMEN MEET TO-DAY

To Take Up Railroad Committee Chairman's Suggestion for Arbitration

The General Adjustment Committee of the firemen belonging to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen on the fifty-two Eastern railroads affected by the demands of the firemen, will meet at the Broadway Central Hotel this morning to take up the two suggestions made by J. C. Stuart, Chairman of the managers' committee of the railroads.

These suggestions, put forward as a possible means of reaching a settlement without a strike, are that the Arbitration Committee to pass on the engineers' demands should be employed in the case of the firemen's demands, or, should this not be agreeable, that a new arbitration board be appointed to consider the demands of the firemen. It is probable that an answer to the suggestions will be sent to Mr. Stuart to-morrow.

MRS. BLATCH OFF FOR OHIO.

Many Local Suffragists Going to Columbus for Suffrage Parade.

Miss Caroline Lexow, Executive Secretary of the Women's Political Union, announced yesterday that a large number of woman suffragists would go from New York to Columbus, Ohio, soon to take part in a big suffragist parade which is to held there on Aug. 30. The parade is expected to eclipse the one held in New York on May 4, when 10,000 women were in line. The New York suffragists will lend their Ohio sisters all the banners, emblems, insignia, and other devices used in the New York parade.

The parade is to be held because of the fact that the people of Ohio are to vote on Sept. 2 on the amendment to the State Constitution, permitting woman suffrage, and it is deemed advisable that the suffrage organizations do all they can to make a big showing. Mrs. H. Stanton Blatch, President of the Women's Political Union, has already gone to Columbus to organize the parade.

TAFT WOMAN'S BUREAU OPEN.

Headquarters in Times Building with Miss Boswell in Charge.

The headquarters of the woman's department of the Republican National Committee was opened in the Times Building yesterday, with Miss Helen Varick Boswell, Chairman of the department, and a corps of aids in charge.

"The usual practical methods of vote getting will be employed," explained Miss Boswell, "and committees of women are being organized in the counties of all the States where women have the ballot. These committees will work in harmony with the respective County Chairmen, and will devote their attention first to getting out the full registration. They then will show the women voters of the country why they must vote for President Taft in the interest of their homes, State, and Union.

"I find," continued Miss Boswell, "that in spite of the reports in many of the newspapers there is no tumbling over by women to attach themselves to the third party. The woman is the custodian of the home and will take a sober second thought before creating an upheaval of the prosperity which has come her way. The women of this country are thorough students of politics, and, being well informed, they cannot fail to cast their ballots for the candidate who embodies all their interests. They will find such a man in President Taft."

Miss Alice Carpenter, in charge of the Woman's Bureau of the Bull Moose Party, also put out this argument for the women to fall in behind Col. Roosevelt:

"Our party has already drawn into its ranks as leaders men and women who represent to the public disinterested service, whereby we may know that the pledges they have laid down will be fulfilled. The Progressive Party, as a party, pledges itself to these principles which only individuals in the other parties can do."

DESERTED IN EUROPE IN 1891, SUES HERE

Wife Comes to New York and Finds Husband Has Gone Back to Germany.

HAD HOUSE AND BUSINESS

These, She Says, He Deeded to Partner Who Married Daughter by Another Woman.

Supreme Court Justice Dugro signed an order yesterday authorizing Mrs. Fredericka Wacker to serve notice of her separation suit by publication upon her husband, Johann Wacker, who, it is supposed, escaped to Germany last month when his wife followed him from there to New York. Mrs. Wacker, who is a German, told the court a pathetic tale of hardship and desertion.

In 1886, she said, she married Wacker, who was a prosperous jeweler, and for five years they lived together in Pforzheim, Germany. They had five children, of whom four are still living. In 1891 Wacker, on the pretext of building up a jewelry business in Budapest, left his wife and never came back. He wrote her many optimistic notes until one day several years after his desertion he wrote her from New York telling her that he had decided never to return to her and that he would do nothing to help her financially unless she consented to his divorcing her.

"If you will do this, I will give you 10,000 marks," he wrote, "but in case you will not accept this arrangement everything will go on just the same, you will receive nothing and you will have yourself to blame if you find yourself starving and hard up in your old age."

According to Mrs. Wacker, she ignored this letter totally. She had been supporting herself and her family, as well as her mother, ever since her husband's desertion. Then she sent her eldest son, Emil Wacker, to New York to learn the true state of affairs.

When Emil arrived at Ellis Island last May, his father refused absolutely to aid him in gaining entrance to America. He disclaimed all relationship with the boy, but at length, after nearly a week of detention, a Miss Johanna Hausser of 129 East Tenth Street brought about his admittance. Emil Wacker's signed affidavit testifies to the fact that his father lived at 459 East Eighty-fourth Street, had an office at 21 John Street, where he had an established business as a tool maker and stamper, and that he had been living for many years with a woman, known as Mathilda Hummel in the Wackers' native town of Pforzheim, but as Mrs. Wacker in New York. To this couple, according to the son's affidavit, had been born a daughter, who married William Leidel, his alleged father-in-law's associate in business.

As soon as Mrs. Wacker learned all this she took her three daughters, borrowed enough money, and came to New York. But when she attempted to find her husband she learned that he had deeded both his house on East Eighty-fourth Street and his business on John Street to Leidel and had disappeared.

There is no doubt in the minds of Emil Wacker and his mother that Wacker has gone to Germany because of what the man said to his son when he eventually acknowledged him.

"I am afraid your mother is coming to America," he is said to have told him, "and if she does, I'll have to disappear from this country at once."

It is now surmised that when Wacker left his home in 1891 he immediately took Mathilda Hummel with him. Justice Dugro allowed Mrs. Wacker $10 temporary weekly alimony and $500 counsel fees.

FINDS STRONG BOX EMPTY.

Woman Who Feared Burglars Loses Her Family Jewels.

Mrs. Elizabeth M. Lewin of Belleville, N. J., who lives alone with her daughter, has had such dread of burglars that last Summer she put all her family heirlooms and jewelry, worth more than $1,000, in a strong box, hid the box in a pile of blankets in a closet, fortified the closet with an iron door, and had iron gratings placed on all the windows and the doors of the first floor.

During the whole year she did not once open the closet to look at the jewels, and all this time the door remained apparently locked. Last week she went to show the heirlooms to a visiting relative, and they were gone. The box was intact and the door showed no signs of forcible entry.

After endeavoring to solve the mystery herself, she called in the police yesterday. They are of the opinion that some friend, being admitted to the house, obtained the keys and then rifled the box. So far, however, no suspicion rests upon any particular visitor.

SUE HAFFEN FOR $22,000.

Say Former Borough President Sold Them Material City Didn't Own.

Theodore Friedeberg, a dealer in machinery, of 217 Centre Street, and Harry Paltrowitz, a dealer in pipe, of Long Island City, brought suit yesterday in the Supreme Court against Louis F. Haffen former Borough President of the Bronx, to recover $22,000. The complaint states that on Feb. 15, 1908, Friedeberg, the Marine Metal and Supply Company and Stephen J. McArdle, an iron and steel merchant of 560 West Twenty-sixth Street, signed a contract to buy some material which Haffen assured them belonged to the city and which he said he had authority to sell.

The plaintiffs assert that they relied on Haffen's representations and entered into a contract for the material. Shortly after the Metal and Supply Company assigned its interest in the material by the purchase agreement to others who joined Friedeberg in paying over to Haffen, ostensibly for the City of New York, the full amount of the purchase price, $4,667. The material was not delivered and suit was brought against the city, but it was learned that the city had no title to it and that Haffen had no power to bind the city to a contract of sale. The $22,000 asked consists of expenses in the other suit and their business loss from the lack of material.

ASK MORE COURT HOUSE CASH

Bergen Co. Holds Up $10,000 Request—Another Inquiry Monday.

Special to The New York Times.

HACKENSACK, N. J., Aug. 19.—The Bergen County Board of Freeholders received a bit of a shock to-day when the Court House Commission asked for another bond issue of $110,000 with which to clear up all work on the new Court House and jail. This jumps the cost of the two buildings up to $1,500,000. It was argued, when the question of a new Court House was first suggested, that the cost would not exceed $800,000. The request to-day was laid on the table, Freeholder Mattocks saying that it would be better to have a statement from the Court House Commission, showing that this will be the last demand and setting forth for what the extra amount is needed.

The Bergen County Grand Jury on Monday will start an investigation of the new Court House, one of the contentions being that the contract was not awarded to the lowest bidder. The commission gave the contract to the John T. Brady Company of Park Place, New York.

DRIVES AWAY WITH SON.

E. C. Hazard, Sued for Separation, Gets Boy from Mother.

Elmer C. Hazard of 532 Fourth Street, Brooklyn, who was sued for separation a month ago by Pearl White Hazard, journeyed down to Long Branch yesterday to the home of Mrs. W. S. True at 90 Washington Street. Mrs. True is Mrs. Hazard's aunt, and she has been staying there with her eight-year-old son, Edward.

Mr. Hazard was seen in the hallway in earnest conversation with Mrs. True, and then neighbors noticed the little chap, who was dressed only in his pajamas, standing down near the carriage in which his father had driven up to the house. A few moments later the father joined him, lifted him to a seat and drove away. Mrs. True, it is said, supposed that this was merely a short drive, but she became alarmed after an hour when the carriage did not return, and her alarms were confirmed when she heard that the carriage had been dismissed and father and son had gone on their way together.

DOG'S BODY LIES IN STATE.

Pet of the Late John W. Gates to Have Fine Funeral.

The pet dog of John W. Gates, the financier, who died last year, died last Sunday at the Plaza Hotel, and is now lying in state at the garage of its late owner at 105 East Seventy-fourth Street. A coffin covered with white plush and richly trimmed is the resting place of Blondy, and it is planned to give him a funeral with all human honors. Even flowers surround the coffin, and the dog's head rests on a pillow of orchids.

It was planned to delay the burial of the dog until the son of its late owner should return from the West, but now it has been decided to bury Blondy at the estate of a friend of the Gates family at Scarsdale, and then remove the body later to Port Arthur, Texas, to the Gates estate there.

DIVORCED WIFE SUES FAMILY OF HUSBAND

Mrs. Katherine White of Milwaukee and New York Asks $100,000 Damages.

SHE CHARGES A CONSPIRACY

Declares Wisconsin Decree Was Obtained by Fraud While She Was Absent in the East.

Special to The New York Times.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 19.—In a suit asking $100,000 damages filed today, Mrs. Katherine N. White of Milwaukee and New York charges Mrs. Catherine Scammon, her husband's mother; Mrs. Helen Tuttle, his aunt; Charles H. Gilman, a brother-in-law, and her former husband, Arthur G. White, with conspiracy to alienate the affections of her husband.

Mrs. White alleges that her husband fraudulently obtained a decree of divorce while she was visiting friends in New York on May 20, 1910. The case had been reported settled out of court but Judge Halsey on Monday issued an order citing the plaintiff to show cause on Aug. 24 why certain parts of her complaint should not be stricken out as being irrelevant and scandalous.

Mrs. Scammon and Mrs. Tuttle, who live part of the year in Milwaukee and spend much time in New York and Asbury Park, N. J., are said to own the controlling interest in a corporation which conducts a string of tea and coffee stores from ocean to ocean. They own the Westmoreland and Hollywood Apartments, and the Irvington Court Apartments, three of the most valuable realty holdings in Milwaukee. Their combined wealth is said to be nearly $30,000,000.

Mrs. White alleges that all the members of her husband's family opposed her marriage, explaining that this opposition was "because she was possessed of only slender means and was not of the same exalted position that the defendants arrogated to themselves." She further alleges that after she became the wife of White his family exaggerated defects in his character for the purpose of disgusting her and obtaining her permission to a divorce. She also alleges in this connection that they first attempted to coerce her.

The allegation in the complaint which the defendants seek to have stricken out contains certain bits of family history which the plaintiff alleges were told her in an effort to turn her against her husband. She declares that although her husband persisted in living a life of profligate ease in keeping with the stories told her, she continued to love him. When all these efforts had proved of no avail she alleges that a trip to New York was arranged for her and in her absence the divorce was obtained.

According to the records, such a divorce was granted White on statutory grounds. The Sheriff made a return that he was unable to find the defendant, and the divorce was granted by Judge Warren D. Tarrant, now dead, in May, 1910.
